PHILIPPINE TAX WILL BE LOWER.

TO RETAIN COAST TRADE.

[BY RAYMOND.]
WASHINGTON BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
Washington, D. C., March 9.

Senator Allison's amendment postponing until July 1, 1905, the date on which the coastwise shipping laws of the United States are to go into effect between the mainland and the Philippine islands, made it possible for the senate to pass today what is known as the Frye Philippine shipping bill. The Allison amendment was adopted under an implied pledge that before the date set a material reduction would be made in the tariff on all Philippine products entering the United States, if, in fact, the tariff is not removed altogether. There is a distinct understanding that this reduction in the Philippine tariff will be made at the short session of the present congress. It could not be made now without precipitating a general tariff debate, which would be an unfortunate thing on the eve of a presidential election. Therefore Mr. Allison insists upon extending the time mentioned in the original Frye bill from July 1, 1904, an entire year, so as to give congress an opportunity to reduce the tariff.

In its amended form the Philippine shipping bill has the approval of Secretary Taft, who understands that it is passed on a distinct pledge that it shall not be permitted to add a burden to the people of the Philippines.

Under the navigation laws of the United States the coastwise trade is reserved exclusively to vessels sailing under the American flag. Foreign vessels cannot engage in this trade in any way. The result has been that the coastwise and interior trade commerce of the United States has been built up to enormous proportions, and the number of vessels engaged in this trade under the flag is constantly increasing, although at the same time the flag of the United States in foreign waters has become more or less of a curiosity. It is proposed by the bill passed by the senate today merely to extend the coastwise navigation laws to trade between the United States and the Philippines. After July 1, 1905, no merchandise of any kind, except supplies for the army or navy, can be carried by sea between the United States and the Philippines in any other than by a vessel of the United States. No foreign vessel can transport passengers between the United States and the Philippines, and the law provides that merchandise shall be forfeited and a fine of $200 be imposed for each passenger when freight or passengers are carried on a foreign ship.

This act does not apply to traffic between the different islands of the archipelago. Until July 1, 1905, foreign ships can carry freight and passengers as they do at the present time. It is believed the passage of this extension of the navigation law would result in a large increase in tonnage for American ships, because from year to year trade with the Philippines, both by San Francisco and by way of the Suez canal, must steadily increase. Making the Philippines a coastwise part of the United States before extending the navigation laws to them, is understood to be the beginning of a policy to draw the islands and mainland closer and closer together, and if it is followed immediately by a reduction or abolition of the duties on imports into the United States from the islands, there will be no burden upon the Philippines.

Secretary Taft was opposed to the Philippine shipping bill in its original shape, because he knew that if it were passed and coastwise laws extended to the Philippines at once, the inevitable result would be a large increase in freight rates, because the United States now has no ocean going mercantile marine which could be adapted under existing circumstances to Philippine trade. Extending the time another year will give the shipyards a chance to turn out some vessels expressly built for the Philippine trade, so this will reduce the danger monopoly to a minimum. A reduction of tariff duties at the same time will more than compensate for the slight increase in freight rates.

For a long time to come traffic between the different islands of the archipelago will have to be taken care of by ships sailing under foreign flags. This island traffic in the aggregate is unimportant, so there is little or no incentive for American ships to establish regular lines of communication between the islands. It is provided in the new bill, however, that the Philippine commission may adopt local regulations to govern the transportation of merchandise and passengers between ports in the archipelago until such time as congress shall have authorized the registry as United States vessels of boats now owned in the Philippines but technically under foreign flags.

As the shipping bill passed the senate today a new section was added which provides the same tonnage tax shall be levied upon all foreign vessels coming into the United States from the Philippines as is required by law to be levied upon vessels coming into the United States from foreign countries.

There is an understanding that the house will accept this Allison amendment sooner or later, with a general understanding there shall be no tariff legislation at the present session, and a further understanding that the shipping laws shall not be extended to the Philippines even on the date fixed, unless the tariff is materially reduced or abandoned in the meantime. If an agreement cannot be secured at the next session to reduce the tariff rates, another extension of time fixed in the shipping bill will be made, as the leaders in congress are in entire harmony with Secretary Taft in taking ground that no legislation shall be passed by congress to benefit American industries and commerce at the expense in any way of the people of the Philippines.

*Sitting alderman.

Interest in the democratic aldermanic primaries yesterday was so slight that in certain primary districts no votes were cast. In the Second district of the Thirty-fifth ward even the judges and clerks failed to vote.

This failure so aroused the curiosity of Chief Clerk Powell that for the benefit of the election board he sought to ascertain the reason. The answer to his inquiry was: "We didn't have any ballots."

It was estimated last night that less than 10 per cent of the regular party vote was cast.

The conventions in all the wards will be held at 10 o'clock this morning.

Rioting in the Sixteenth.

In most of the wards the lack of political interest was accompanied by a similar lack of violence and disturbance, but the Sixteenth ward was an exception in both ways. Rioting marked the primaries in that bailiwick of Stanley Kunz, alderman and state senator. Kunz won easily, his opponent carrying only one primary district in the ward.

The attempt to overthrow Kunz and elect delegates who would nominate K. B. Czarnecki, a lawyer with offices at 79 Dearborn street, was bitterly opposed by the alderman. According to the Czarnecki managers, voters were terrorized by Kunz "heelers" with a warning to stay away from the polls or have their heads "smashed." Seven Czarnecki workers were injured and two arrests were made.

The Injured.

Blaik, Anthony, 152 Cleaver street, captain of Czarnecki forces in Sixth primary district; assaulted by four men; neck cut and bruised about shoulders.

Brochocki, Max, 671 Dickson street, Czarnecki worker; terribly beaten and kicked about head and face by gang of twenty "sluggers"; helped to drug store, where wounds were bandaged; taken home; confined to his bed in serious condition.

Bukowski, Anthony, 731 Dickson street, Czarnecki worker; beaten and kicked about head and face; head and neck heavily bandaged, but able to sit up.

Holtz, Joseph, 643 Dickson street, Czarnecki worker; chin cut and head bruised.

Kroll, John, 23 Luce street, candidate on Czarnecki delegate ticket; struck in face by Frank Mikulski while Ald. Kunz was standing nearby; Kroll and Mikulski both arrested.

Invaded by Twenty "Sluggers."

The worst rioting was in the home primary district of Czarnecki, the Eighth, which was invaded late in the afternoon by a gang of twenty "sluggers." They attempted to tear the badges off the Czarnecki workers and met resistance. Brochocki and Bukowski were badly beaten. A riot call was turned in, but before the patrol wagon arrived with a load of policemen the "sluggers" had made their escape and no arrests were made. The trouble occurred near the polling place at 574 North Ashland avenue.

Ald. T. J. Jozwiakowski, who defeated the Kunz candidate at the last election, was one of the managers of the Czarnecki forces. Ald. Jozwiakowski said that the city hall was aiding Kunz with many of its employes. Preston Harrison, brother of the mayor, who recently went to live at 192 West Division street, and is said to have taken up residence there to become candidate for congress from the Eighth district, did not appear at the primaries, though this was his first opportunity to register or cast a vote in the district.

Trouble in the Tenth.

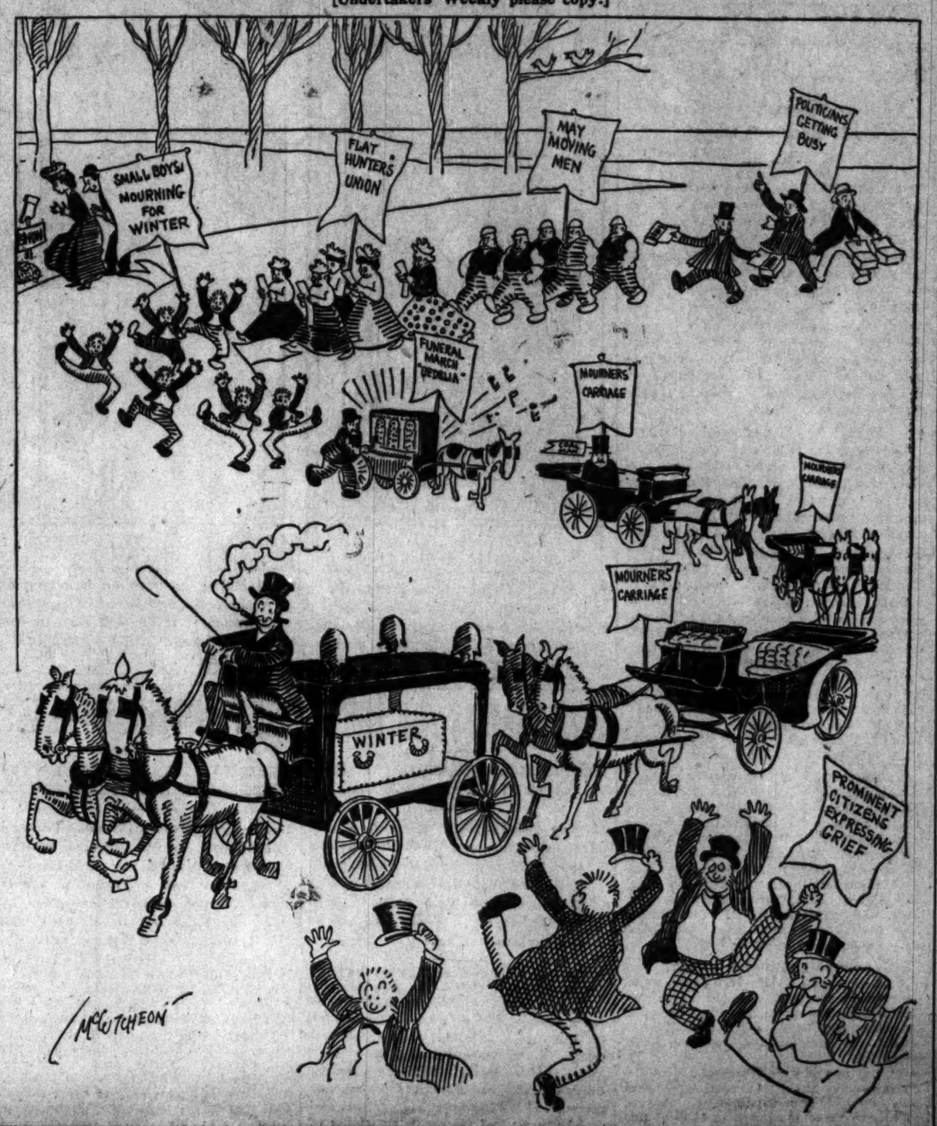

In the Tenth ward there was trouble. Ald. Jacob Sindelar was assaulted at the polling place of the Fifth district, 629 Center avenue, just before the polls closed. The alderman suffered a broken nose as the result of a blow with a closed knife in the hand of Jacob Sejba. Sindelar was working in the interest of Frank J. Vavricek, who had the indorsement of the Municipal Voters' league, and Sejba was a champion of former Ald. Rudolph Hurt. Sindelar claims to have been instructing a Vavricek voter when struck. The police refused to make any arrests, saying they had not witnessed the assault. Ald. Sindelar will probably get a warrant. Lieut. Ptacek of Canalport avenue station supports Policemen Arthur Maylard and Joseph Vana in their refusal to act.

In spite of the opposition of the league and

TRAIN CRASH IN CITY

TEN PERSONS ARE INJURED.

Midnight Accident Occurs at Forty-fourth Street Crossing.

An inbound Rock Island suburban train shortly before midnight crashed into a Chicago and Eastern Illinois freight which was crossing its tracks at Forty-fourth street. Both engines were demolished, the baggage car of the passenger train was telescoped, and persons in the second coach were thrown violently in every direction. Ten persons were injured, and of these, three, members of the train crew, were reported to be in a critical condition.

The Injured.

DUNNE, J. W., 119 La Salle avenue, bruised.
GRIMENTHAL, MRS. S. J., severely bruised; thrown over several seats; taken home.
LARSON, GEORGE, fireman Chicago and Eastern Illinois freight train; in engine when Rock Island locomotive struck it; buried under débris; leg and arm broken and internal injuries; taken to Wesley hospital; condition critical.
LUZION, ROBERT, fireman Rock Island train; buried under débris; legs broken and severe internal injuries; taken to Wesley hospital; may die.
PETIT, DR. GILMAN W., 780 Jackson boulevard; bruised.
SHEWIN, CHARLES W., 4046 Clayton court.

Train Making Up Time.

The Rock Island train was due in Chicago at 11:55 p. m. and at Englewood at 11:40. Several minutes late in leaving Englewood, its crew was trying to make up the lost time. Engineer Pearson had reached Forty-fifth street when he saw the freight preparing to cross the track on rails running diagonally in the path of the passenger train. With a shout of warning to his fireman, he reversed the throttle and applied sand to the tracks.

The rails were wet and the train could not be checked. It dashed on and struck the freight between the engine and the first car.

Aid Arrives Quickly.

The crash was heard for half a mile, and aid quickly arrived. Rescuers with axes and sledges found passengers in the second coach of the suburban train imprisoned between seats. Doors were blocked by débris, and the car, almost on its side, would not allow of escape. With the axes the railroad men cut away the wreckage and released the passengers. Hardly one had escaped injury. On the floor were found two unconscious, their heads having struck the tops of seats when they were thrown over them. Some were cut by flying glass.

Find the Three Trainmen.

While some were rescuing the passengers others were chopping at the mass of débris covering the two engines. In the cabs, under bent and twisted iron, they rescued the three of the train crew, unconscious. Pearson was found pinned beneath the roof of the first freight car, under which the Rock Island engine had crashed. Beside him was his fireman, Luzion, and with the broken tender overturned within a foot of his head lay Larson, fireman of the freight train.

Ambulances carried the three trainmen to the Wesley hospital and the others more seriously injured were taken to their residences. Traffic was delayed for an hour.

WINE SPLITS CHURCH

Many Members of Congregation May Give Up Their Pews.

New York, March 9.—[Special.]—Rather than countenance in church membership any person engaged in the liquor business, the Rev. Edwin M. Martin, assistant pastor of the Lewis Avenue Congregational church, Brooklyn, has resigned.

Rather than refuse membership to George K. Dewey, a wealthy wine merchant, who furnished the case in point, the official body of the church has accepted the resignation.

May Break Up Church.

Prominent members of the church are now talking of leaving with Mr. Martin, and two deacons, it is thought, will resign office.

Pastor Martin insists that he has the indorsement of leading ministers and seminary professors in his action, and he declares it is high time the Christian church made a requirement of membership that men engaged in the liquor trade must forsake the business.

Mr. Dewey, who is in business in Manhattan, and lives in Brooklyn, has attended Lewis Avenue Congregational church for thirteen years. His wife and children recently been members for years, and member also he they urged him to become pastor, the Rev. went immediately to the well pleased was Dr. Robert J. Kent, finally presented Mr. Dr. Kent that he was standing committee Dewey's name of the church.

Does Like His Business.

Mr. Martin vigorously opposed the application, declaring that while Mr. Dewey personally is an estimable man in every way, "he is engaged in a business that is damning men's souls."

"I am informed Mr. Dewey not only makes wine, but sells it both at wholesale and retail," said Mr. Martin, "and I contend that such a man is not fit for membership in the church so long as he continues in his present business."

There are twelve deacons in the committee, and some of them joined warmly in the argument that followed.

When Mr. Dewey heard of the trouble, he said he would prefer to withdraw his name than cause a disagreement.

Says Bishops Buy His Wine.

"I have never found anything inconsistent in being a churchman and a wine merchant at the same time," he said. "Some of the most eminent bishops and ministers in this city buy my wine regularly for their tables."

Finally a vote was taken at the meeting and Mr. Dewey's application was accepted by thirteen votes to three. Six members who were understood to oppose the application did not vote.

When on Sunday last Mr. Dewey was formally made a member Mr. Martin promptly wrote his resignation. He is a young married man and came to Brooklyn from Richland Center, Wis.

MIMIC FIGHT AT SEA.

Submarines "Sink" Four Battleships of British Navy.

TEST SURPRISE TO OFFICERS

[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

LONDON, March 9.—In default of news of the real war, a feature is made in this morning's London papers of a mimic three battlegagement, in the course of which to the battleships and one cruiser were sunk by the importom by submarines. Co years has been attance which for several European powers to subtached by certain that only recently has marines, and third any attention to these Great Britain their success in operations craft, report with have created a great sensaoff Portsmouth tion. general idea of the maneuvers is to gain data as to the value of submarines for the defense of ports, and as to the best means of employing this new type for that purpose. The assailants of the home fleet, under Admiral Wilson, consisted of battleships, with five cruisers, which received orders on Tuesday to force an entrance into Portsmouth harbor.

Submarines Open Fire.

The submarine flotilla was aware that an attack would be made at night, and when the battleships were within range of the forts defending the harbor they opened fire. To the roar of the guns afloat the lighter artillery ashore at once responded, and for several minutes a furious battle raged. Under cover of this cannonade four destroyers stealthily put to sea and steamed towards the assailants, using every precaution to escape detection.

Along the side of each destroyer, and close under its port beam, was a submarine, thus cleverly screened from the battleships. The long, low hulls of the destroyers moved cautiously through the water to within striking distance of the great battleships amids the fearful turmoil of blank ammunition from the forts and ships. Then when the appointed distance had been reached four destroyers wheeled about and fell back. At the same instant the submarines made their dive and all four vanished below the surface. The destroyers drew the attention of the battleships, and on them all possible guns were concentrated, when suddenly four black hulls rose like porpoises above the water, one alongside each of the four battleships of the home fleet and claimed the battleships as their prey.

Surprise on Battleships.

The surprise on board the battleships was complete, showing that the screen of the destroyers had done its work admirably, and, though the success of the submarines was disputed by some of the officers on board the battle squadron, had the action been a real one there would have been no opportunity for disputing that the battleships would have been blown out of the water without their crews having the faintest idea as to where the torpedoes had come from or having the smallest chance of successfully coping with this insidious attack.

Crews Display Skill.

The crews of the submarines displayed great skill and endurance in their difficult and exhausting work. They state that they could without question have torpedoed all four battleships without seriously endangering their own craft. The best and latest of the submarines broke down and unfortunately could not be employed.

TIENTSIN, March 9.—The Japanese forces have advanced from the Yalu river. They have captured Fenghuancheng and have driven the Russians in that vicinity to Takungling, the eastern pass. The Japanese are in force seventy miles to the east of Newchwang.

The Russians, with 35,000 men, are strongly intrenched at Liaoyang and Haicheng, where a battle is imminent. Some small engagements already have been fought, the Russians falling back with loss.

All women and children are leaving Newchwang. The Japanese are using the same tactics and advancing on the same route they employed during their war with China.

Collision Near Chemulpo.

A dispatch from Weihaiwei, dated March 8, says: "It is reported on good authority that a collision between Japanese and Russian troops has occurred near Haiju, Corea (fifty-four miles northwest of Chemulpo), which resulted in the defeat of the Russians."

Japanese Still Advancing.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
YINKOW, March 9.—Convincing reports have reached here that the Japanese are advancing westward from the Yalu river and are now about fifty miles northwest of Antung.

According to native accounts, there has been fighting. The Russians at Newchwang and that neighborhood are acting as if they expected attack.

Russian Families Leaving.

Siege and field guns are being mounted on the Chinese fort on the east bank of the Liauho river.

Gen. Kondratovich is to arrive today. He will establish the headquarters of his five regiments at Newchwang.

Foreign Ships Leaving Newchwang.

The British consul strongly and officially urges the foreign women and children to leave Newchwang before the river opens.

The British station gunboat Espiegle will leave as soon as possible, and will not be replaced. The family of the United States consul, Mr. Miller, will leave tomorrow.

It is understood that the neutral powers will not embarrass Japan by the presence of warships in the river here, and therefore neutral interests at Newchwang will be officially abandoned.

The tension among Russians also continues. There are circumstantial native reports of fighting east of the railroad, and there is strong evidence of a Japanese advance.

Guns Reaching Newchwang.

It is reported that the action of the Russians in ordering Newchwang to be fortified was due to the withdrawal of the foreign warships, thus removing the last possibility of the neutralization of this port. The Russians received by train today two five inch siege guns and two six pounder howitzers. They were unloaded at the Newchwang railroad station.

Fight Near Tumén River.

SEOUL, March 9.—It is reported that a fight has occurred between Coreans and Russians on the Corean side of the Tumen river.

Move Praised by Expert.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

LONDON, March 10, 3 a. m.—"In opening their land campaign the Japanese have battered the expectations of their greatest friends," writes the military correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, who is a British officer of high rank and reputation. He goes on to comment as follows on the reported advance on Newchwang:

"According to information which appears to be authentic, the whole of the much boasted Russian defenses on the Yalu have completely collapsed without serious fighting before the Japanese advance. Whether the Russian defensive positions at Antung and Wiju were or were not purely mythical we do not as yet know. It may be that they were turned higher up the river by a force crossing the river on the ice, and that when the Russians found that there was already an army threatening their rear they abandoned them. In any case, Fenhuancheng, which the Japanese have captured, is on the direct Pekin road which passes through Anjung, and is fifty miles in the rear of it.

Situation a Puzzling One.

"The whole situation is puzzling and uncertain in many respects. We do not know in what strength the Japanese have advanced, nor whether the column that has passed the Yalu came from Seoul and Anju, or whether a part of it came by that road and part of it from the side of Broughton bay and Port Lazareff. Even when not bridged by ice, as, in all events in its upper course, the Yalu probably still is, no river has ever yet stopped an active enemy from crossing it in the face of a defending force less active and watchful.

"The question naturally arises whether the available numbers of the Russian army for the defense of Manchuria in the field have not been vastly exaggerated, and whether the necessary defense of the railway line has not absorbed so many as to leave only an insignificant army actually to face the Japanese.

Russian Position Untenable.

"The positions said to be taken up by 35,000 men attributed to the Russian army at Haicheng and Liaoyang must be designed to defend the connection by railway between Mukden and Port Arthur and Newchwang. In the face of an immensely superior army such as the Japanese will be able to oppose to it it looks like a hopeless misconception of the situation.

"The two places are fifty miles apart. A force of 35,000 men could not possibly hold both of them and preserve the connection between them, and as we do not know whether the strong entrenchments of the Russians at the two places may not prove as mythical or as ineffective as those on the Yalu, it is impossible to judge as yet whether the Japanese will simply hold them in front while they break the connection between them and turn them on both flanks, or whether they will simply mask the small Russian force there for a time with one of their army corps while they strike for Admiral Alexieff's headquarters at Mukden with another.

Newchwang Sure to Fall.

"In any case, it is clear that the Russian force in those two places will not be able to prevent the Japanese from seizing the port of Newchwang from the land side and so throwing it open to their fleet, while with the Japanese in force seventy miles to the east of Newchwang, as it is said to be, the whole of the Liaotung peninsula lies open to them and the railway to Port Arthur will shortly be in their hands.

Hold All Except Port Arthur.

"The broad effect of the campaign so far is manifestly that the whole of the seaboard from Newchwang right round the coast of the Liaotung peninsula—with the exception of Port Arthur—the Liaotung gulf, Corean bay, and Corea round to and beyond Broughton bay are in the hands of the Japanese as completely as the sea was at the first stroke of the navy. It is a strange and marvelous collapse of the Russian power on land and offers facilities for future operations on land such as the greatest admirers of Japan could not have imagined would be by this time in their hands.

"That 35,000 men at Liaoyang and Hacheng will be able either to prevent the Japanese from seizing the railway to Mukden or capturing Mukden is inconceivable. They will be fortunate if they escape from being cut off and forced to capitulate.

Japanese Will Not Stop.

"That the Japanese will be content to rest on their success I do not for a moment believe. They will now easily secure first the essential coast line, but the second stage will be pushing up along the railway, which must fall into their hands with it, and with Newchwang as the nearest available port the facilities for supplying and feeding their army will be great. Obviously they will take advantage of what they have gained to gain more. The whole administration of Manchuria will fall into their hands, with no small advantage to their future military success.

"The more one considers the silence, secrecy, and suddenness of the stroke in these days of telegraphs and of correspondents eagerly watching for news, the calm, steady preparation, and then the almost incredibly rapid development the more it seems as if we were in the presence of an event with which there has been nothing to compare since Napoleon staggered Europe by appearing in the plains of Italy descending from the Alps as from the clouds, and shattering the whole framework of the Austrian power in Italy."

Russians Appear Outflanked.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—The government here has received advices by cable from Chefoo, opposite Port Arthur, to the effect that Japanese land forces have appeared at Fungwangchang and at Taahan. No details are furnished.

The first named place is about forty-five miles south of Antung, in Manchuria, and the latter about seventy miles inland from the mouth of the Yalu river, according to the calculations of the naval officers here.

They believe that this movement has placed the Japanese on the Russian flank, and perhaps in the rear, and on their line of communication. It is believed that yesterday's attack upon Port Arthur and Talienwan was a diversion perhaps to cover this expeditious land movement of the Japanese forces, who were probably landed from transports at some point west of the Yalu river.

Tokio Awaits News of Victory.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

TOKIO, March 8.—[Delayed.]—It is believed that a decisive engagement has taken place in the vicinity of Vladivostok. The Japanese squadron went to Vladivostok in order to locate and attack the Russian fleet there. It is believed the Japanese have not withdrawn their entire squadron from before that port unless the enemy's location has been discovered. There is a strong probability that the Japanese found the Russians in the vicinity of Possiet bay and gave them battle.

May Report from Gensan.

The navy department expects to receive dispatches tomorrow from Gensan, where it was planned that the fleet would call after the operation involving an attack upon the Russian squadron had been concluded.

It is said that the newly purchased cruisers Nisshin and Kasuga are taking part in the present movement off Vladivostok. The Japanese are quite confident in the ability of their squadron to signally defeat the Russian ships, and laughingly say that the big Russian cruisers, which stand unusually high out of the water, make excellent targets.

Variag Can Be Made Over.

Japanese naval engineers have arrived at Chemulpo, and immediately will commence the work of raising the Variag. Experts state the vessel can be raised and repaired at a cost inside of $250,000 in a few months.

Japanese military engineers, with 8,000 pioneer corps, commenced yesterday the active construction of the Seoul-Wiju railway. Materials are now en route from Japan. A large number of Corean laborers will be employed in rushing ahead the completion of this important work. The completion this year of the Seoul-Fusan railway has been ordered by the Japanese government.

Russia Ignorant of Battle.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 9, 5:50 p. m.—It is asserted on the highest authority that up to 5 o'clock this afternoon no word of a naval battle between the Reitzenstein and Uriu squadrons had been received. It is evident, however, that news of a sea fight off Vladivostok would not surprise the authorities here. They naturally decline to say whether Capt. Reitzenstein's squadron was outside Vladivostok when the Japanese appeared, but it is now firmly believed here that it was outside.

RUSSIA ATTACKS HAY'S DIPLOMACY

SAYS POWERS FEAR HIM.

Statesmen in Washington Amazed at Statement Contrary to All Previous Ones.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 9.—The undefined misgivings existing in high quarters here regarding the ultimate aims and purposes of the foreign policy of the United States were voiced today in the following remarkable statement:

"Were it not for a single unknown quantity the European situation at present would be as perfect as possible. For the avoidance of one thing every chancellor in Europe has been straining ever nerve—namely: to prevent the entanglement of an outside power in this war. That unknown quantity is your state department.

Hay's Note Almost a Disaster.

"The situation following the outbreak of hostilities was exceedingly delicate and surcharged with dangerous possibilities to the peace of the world, and the level headed statesmen of Europe instantly coöperated to make a general catastrophe impossible, when, almost at the inception, Secretary Hay's circular note for the neutralization of China almost ditched them. But, happily, he did not press it to a point where differences were sure to have arisen, and, as it turned out, owing to the length to which the powers gave adhesion to its principle, it really contributed to the trend which all desired.

"The note might have proved disastrous did not the present moment find all of Europe practically in accord as to what should be done. The only place where uncertainty exists is Washington. We are at sea as to what to expect from Mr. Hay.

American Diplomacy Too Sudden.

"American diplomacy in these later days is so aggressive, so startlingly sudden in the way it poses propositions to the remainder of the world that we have not time to prepare for the shock. It is a veritable nightmare to Europe. The present situation is like an algebraic problem—every quantity of the equation is known except one, and that one is Mr. Hay. He represents 'X.' If we knew what he stood for or what he intended to do the solution would be easy."

Amazed at Russian Attack.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—[Special.]—There was general amazement at the extraordinary interview or statement given out in St. Petersburg by an anonymous Russian official, who, however, is said to be one in high authority.

Officials in the state department were disposed to laugh at the statement, except that by reading between the lines they were led to believe there is something back of this declaration.

The czar's government never did meet the United States half way as regards Manchuria. It held back in assenting to the Hay proposal after the outbreak of hostilities until forced to agree to it by pressure of public opinion throughout the world. It is understood here that Russia naturally feels sore at Secretary Hay because he has been so successful in his "shirt sleeve" diplomacy.

Runs Counter to Cassini's Words.

Only a week or two ago Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, gave out a whole series of interviews expressing officially the high regard of the Russian government for the people of the United States and regretting that anything had come between them to break up the traditional friendship of the two countries. The statement just given out is not to be considered official, of course, because it comes from an anonymous authority, but it is considered none the less remarkable because it follows so closely upon the reports sent out from St. Petersburg and Washington on behalf of the Russian government that the action of the United States was in every way satisfactory and Mr. Hay had been notoriously successful in maintaining absolute neutrality.

Many people in the capital seem to believe Russia, having failed to stem the tide of popular sympathy for the Japanese in this country, has now abandoned the attempt to unite together and proposes to appeal to the attempt to unite against the audacious appeal to Europe in asserting the existence of the Yankees interest in the oriental question. American

Seek to Cover Up Defects.

There is still another belief here, viz., that the Russian war party is disintegrating and the czar's ministers have found it necessary to create a diversion by attacking the United States, so as to cover up the repeated Japanese successes on the sea and what seems to be the outmaneuvering of the Russians by Japanese generals on land.

FRANCE LOOKS TO HER FORTS.

Great Activity Along the Coast, Where Artillery Is Being Set Up and Put in Shape.

PARIS, March 9.—In pursuance of orders issued by Minister of War André, active work has been begun with the view of placing the coast defenses in a state of readiness. A hundred coast artillerymen have arrived at Marseilles, and are occupied in perfecting the harbor batteries. A force of naval mechanicians is working on the island approaches, and the trials of various kinds of heavy ordnance are progressing actively at Marseilles and elsewhere. These measures are not considered significant except as an indication of the determination of the officials to have the coast defenses in a state of preparedness.

JAPANESE INFORMER CAUGHT.

Report from Tientsin That Man Who Sold Information to Russia Has Committed Suicide.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 10, 3 a. m.—The Standard's Tientsin correspondent says the Japanese authorities for some time suspected information of their movements and plans was being supplied to Russia. The traitor seems to have been discovered in a well known Japanese forwarding agent at Tientsin, who was arrested last Monday. He committed suicide in the military prison today. Several other Japanese are suspected.

JAPANESE APPEAR CERTAIN.

Said to Be Buying Coal in England to Be Shipped to Port Arthur or Vladivostok.

LONDON, March 10.—The Times this morning publishes what it terms a remarkable instance of Japanese confidence. The Japanese have arranged for the dispatch of coal from England to Port Arthur or Vladivostok, and the steamers taking it are to call at Singapore for definite orders. The coal is explicitly warranted to be Japanese property.

CZAR PRAISES THE PRESS.

RECEIVES DELEGATION OF EDITORS IN ST. PETERSBURG.

Shakes Hands with Each One and Thanks Them All for Their Work in Behalf of Battleship Fund—Alexieff Puts End to Plans of Attaches and Correspondents Who Want to Go to the Front—Honors for Captain of the Sunken Variag.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 9.—The emperor received this afternoon officers of the Russian press, headed by Souvorin, proprietor of the Novoe Vreyma. They came to present his majesty an address concerning the war. The sovereign was particularly gracious, shook hands with every one, and said he recognized the great importance of the press, which had well represented the public sentiment, for which he was grateful. "You in the future are to write the truth and nothing but the truth," he said, and, addressing Souvorin, he said: "I am grateful to you for having started the patriotic fund for warships. It is an excellent idea." It may be mentioned the fund now reaches $15,000,000.

A telegram received today from Viceroy Alexieff, which is the cause of consternation among the military attachés and war correspondents, is to the effect he did not propose allowing any more of them to come into Manchuria until the disposition of the troops was fully made, that is to say about the end of March, Russian date, or early in April, according to our calendar.

Capt. Rudineff, commander of the sunken Variag, as reward of his courage has been appointed aid de camp of the emperor, and all the officers and men will receive the cross of St. George.

Gen. Kouropatkin takes the 8 o'clock train on Saturday night instead of the later express, wishing to gain time to Moscow, which city will give him a grand reception.

It is affirmed that the Grand Duchess Olga Alexandrovna, sister of the czar, is going out to Manchuria to act as superintendent of the Red Cross work.

POINTS LESSON FOR GERMANY.

Official Organ of German Naval League Urges Need for Many Battleships.

BERLIN, March 9.—Die Flotte (the fleet), the official publication of the German Naval League, in a two page leader entitled "What We Learn from the Russo-Japanese east," says that the happenings in the far east, with flaming fingers to the urgent necessity of hastening the building of the German fleet. Die Flotte's program.

Its circulation, designed for popular reading, 100,000, is the largest in Germany.

"The two principal deducible from the conflict," Die Flotte adds, "are that Russia, against her will, because entangled in war, a misfortune that might happen to Germany, and that battleships decide sea fights, while topedo boats only each results under specially favorable circumstances.

"The German duty before it is too late is to hurry the construction already authorized, and to add to the scheme for naval defense adopted in 1900, because since then Great Britain, Russia, and the United States have increased their navies at a more rapid rate."

CZAR NOT SEEKING MEDIATION.

Berlin Post Claims to Have Outline of His Letter to King Edward on War Policies.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

BERLIN, March 9.—The semi-official Post states tonight that it is in a position to give from an absolutely sure source the substance of the letter which Count Benckendorff brought with him from the czar to King Edward. In this letter no appeal whatever is made for mediation of the neutral powers nor is there any reference to a possible appeal to The Hague tribunal. There can be no question of peace until Russia has given proof of her superiority in the field of war.

CZAR'S MILLIONS FOR NAVY.

Emperor of Russia Said to Have Given One Hundred Million Dollars for Building of Warships.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 9.—It is stated the czar personally has subscribed 200,000,000 rubles ($100,000,000) to the navy fund. The Society of Old Believers, a religious sect that refused to acquiesce in certain liturgical changes in the Russian church two centuries ago, is said to have subscribed 100,000,000 rubles ($50,000,000) to the same fund.

MUST BOTTLE UP FLEET.

JAPANESE NAVY SAID TO HAVE ORDERS TO BLOCK PORT ARTHUR.

Desire Is to Put Ships Beyond Power of Interference with Transports—Variety of Conflicting Statements as to Conditions of Russian Vessels Still in the Harbor There—Retvizan Declared Afloat and Also Still Aground, as of Water Battery.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, March 9.—The Petit Parisien has a dispatch from Tokio stating there is a rumor in high circles there that the Japanese fleet is preparing to attack Port Arthur again. It is understood orders have been issued that the harbor must be blocked at all costs by sinking gunboats or coast defense vessels if necessary to effect that object. The government is apprehensive of Russian ships intercepting Japanese transports.

Dispatches received here from Port Arthur confirm the previous reports that the Russian battleship Retvizan has been refloated and entered the interior harbor. It is now said to be alongside the Czarevitch, and, the damage to its keel having been largely repaired, it is expected that it will be ready to resume active service in a few hours.

Declares Retvizan Refloated.

PORT ARTHUR, March 9.—The hole in the hull of the Russian battleship Retvizan, which was made during the first attack by the Japanese, has been repaired and the battleship has been refloated. It is now anchored in the inner roadstead alongside the Czarevitch. The other necessary repairs to the ship will be completed shortly.

More Details of First Attack.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 9.—Some interesting facts in connection with the first Japanese attack on Port Arthur are beginning to arrive. In the main it appears that the Japanese shells were defective, and many of them, still unexploded, were found lying about the streets. The coal supply at Port Arthur is said to be sufficient to last the warships for two years, but the docking facilities are inadequate.

Japanese Version of Affair.

TOKIO, March 9.—It is reliably asserted that when the Japanese attempted to block Port Arthur, Feb. 24, a Russian torpedo boat destroyer, while trying to reënter the harbor, struck a mine and sank.

Of the thirteen Russian warships inside the harbor of Port Arthur, it is added, all are disabled except five.

Finally it is asserted that Whoangkishan fort, at Port Arthur, was half destroyed by the Japanese shells, and that only three batteries are available.

About 800 Chinese and Russian workmen have been rushing the repairs on the warships.

Russian Correspondent's Report.

SHANHAIKWAN, March 9.—[From a Russian correspondent.]—All the ships of the Port Arthur squadron are again in fighting trim, except the Retvizan, which is lying at the neck of the entrance to the harbor and serves the purpose of a strong battery. The garrison at Port Arthur is 40,000 strong and there are provisions enough to last two years.

Trains on the Manchurian line are running regularly in triple sections at twenty minute intervals. There is a notable revulsion of feeling here among foreigners against Japan, based on the fear that she is trying to drag the Chinese into the war.

NORWEGIAN STEAMER FREED.

Disposal of Coal Cargo, However, Must Await Further Action of Japanese Officials.

NAGASAKI, March 9.—The Norwegian steamer Hermes has been released by the Sasebo naval court, and ordered to proceed to this port to await orders regarding the disposal of its cargo.

The hospital steamer Kasai Maru has arrived here, bringing twenty-two wounded Russian sailors belonging to the gunboat Korietz, which was destroyed by the Japanese fleet at Chemulpo.

They will be removed for the time being to Matsuyama hospital, on the inland sea.

STEAMER LOST: FIFTY DROWNED

French Ship Cambodge Reported Sunk Off Coast of Cochin-China.

LONDON, March 9.—A special dispatch from Paris announces that the French steamer Cambodge (of 2,355 tons, which left Rangoon on Feb. 17 for Cochin-China and European ports) has been wrecked in a storm off the coast of Cochin-China. The Cambodge carried 100 passengers, mostly Annamese. About fifty of them were drowned.

BRITISH CABINET NEAR TO DEFEAT

HAS MAJORITY OF ONLY 46

Ex-Colonial Secretary's Followers Give House of Commons a Surprise.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 10, 3 a. m.—The Balfour ministry was so near defeat by Chamberlain's followers in the house of commons last night that, after its majority had been reduced to forty-six votes, it was compelled to withdraw a question it had put before the house.

The strength of the Chamberlain party astounded his opponents. One hundred members of the house arrayed themselves against the premier.

Pirie Precipitates Issue.

The debate which so nearly wrecked the ministry was precipitated by Duncan V. Pirie [liberal], who, after calling attention to the public utterances of Chancellor of the Exchequer Austen Chamberlain and other members of the government on the fiscal question, moved "that this house, noting the continued agitation in favor of protective or preferential tariffs, which is encouraged by the language used by certain of his majesty's ministers, deem it necessary to express its condemnation of any such policy."

Mr. Pirie's motion was debated for three hours. Herbert H. Asquith, the principal opposition speaker, drew from Premier Balfour the admission that he had withdrawn the memorandum presented to the cabinet, advocating preferential tariffs and a tax on food.

Premier Balfour spoke after Mr. Asquith, and repeated his statement that a general election must precede any fundamental change in the fiscal policy. He said he did not believe the country would accept any fiscal arrangement with the colonies involving the taxation of food.

Mr. Pirie's motion was finally rejected by 289 votes to 243, and loud opposition cheers greeted the reduction in the government's majority to 46. A number of free food unionists supported Mr. Pirie, and some protectionists abstained from voting.

Amendment Is Withdrawn.

As an offset to the Pirie motion, Premier Balfour put up a conservative member of the house, John Lloyd Wharton, to move an amendment "approving the ministerial declarations of the fiscal policy, as including neither a general system of protection nor preference based on the taxation of food."

Chamberlainites to the number of 100 held a hurried and informal meeting this evening, and as a result they intimated to the government that unless the Wharton amendment be withdrawn they would abstain from voting on the Pirie motion.

As this would certainly have led to the defeat of the government, Mr. Wharton's amendment was withdrawn.

City Becomes Quiet and No Further Outbreak Is Expected—Special Grand Jury Expected to Indict Leaders.

Springfield, O., March 9.—[Special.]—Gov. Herrick has ordered eleven additional companies of militia to this city as a result of the threatening situation due to the race feeling, and tomorrow there will be seventeen companies here. Only soldiers were on the streets tonight, the members of the mob having dispersed. No further trouble is expected. The local authorities say some of the military can be sent home tomorrow.

A special grand jury will sit on Monday to investigate the work of the mob which killed Dixon and burned the levee. Numerous indictments are expected.

Neighboring cities are complaining of the influx of negro refugees who have been driven out of Springfield. There is a normal negro population of 15,000 persons here, but none is seen on the streets. The colored people here are afraid to be seen getting telegrams or mail. When the west end of the levee was cleaned out today no white man would work with moving vans, and no white man would accept the goods in storage. The work had to be done by colored men under guard of the militia, and most of the goods from the dismantled saloons are piled up in the open yards of the colored people.

The funeral of Charles Collis, the murdered policeman, will be held tomorrrow morning, and every precaution has been taken to prevent an outbreak.

FLOOD LOSS IS OVER $1,000,000.

Conditions in Some Parts of Wyoming Valley More Serious—Mines and Other Industries Paralyzed.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 9.—Over $1,000,000 worth of property has been destroyed and 2,000 families rendered homeless by flood and ice in the Wyoming valley. Though the river is falling here, towns in the vicinity of Bloomsburg are experiencing the worst flood in their history. Industries all along the Susquehanna, from Pittston to Nanticoke, are closed down on account of the water, and in many places water is flowing into the mines. Eight thousand miners are idle.

Three spans of the great steel bridge erected by the state at Catawissa were swept from their piers today and carried 400 yards by the ice and this evening the two remaining spans collapsed. The Pennsylvania railroad bridge over Catawissa creek went out, taking with it four steel cars. The second street wagon bridge was also swept away. This was the last bridge remaining on Catawissa creek.

Burgess Whistler of Middletown has asked aid. Half a mile of the town is covered with ice and silt, from two feet to fifty deep. Between 700 and 800 houses are surrounded and can only be reached by entering the second story windows. In Harrisburg conditions are improving rapidly. Nearly all the people forced to leave their homes have returned, and all industrial plants were running.

Mississippi Bridge in Danger.

Muscatine, Ia., March 9.—[Special.]—Ice in front of the city is five feet thick, and fear is felt as to the high bridge across the Mississippi. There is talk of dynamiting the ice to save the structure.

TILLMAN TO GO UNDER KNIFE.

South Carolina Senator Suffers from Abscess in Throat, but Is Not Dangerously Ill.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—Senator Tillman of South Carolina is ill with a serious throat trouble, an abscess having formed on the left tonsil. An operation will be performed tomorrow morning. After that several days of complete rest will be necessary, by which time the physicians hope the throat again will be in its normal condition. At the senator's house tonight it was said his condition is not dangerous, and that he has only a light fever.

VARICOCELE HYDROCELE

CURED IN FIVE DAYS.

H. J. TILLOTSON, M. D.,

[COPYRIGHTED.]

Male Pelvic Diseases

To get back to health; to regain the great power of physical and mental perfection; to once more be successful in the business, financial, and social world—this is the one unceasing desire of every man whose health has been ruined by the ravages of Pelvic Disease.

If you are thus ailing I want you to honestly investigate my original treatment for cases of this character. I invite in particular all men who have been treated elsewhere without success; all whose cases have been abandoned by family physicians or so-called experts; all whose troubles have been aggravated and made worse by inferior treatment. I will explain to you why such treatment has not cured you, and will demonstrate to your entire satisfaction why I can cure you safely, quickly, and permanently.

Of the legions of men who have recently taken my treatment, not a single failure nor an unpleasant result has been reported. What I have done for others I can do for you.

When I publicly make this statement of facts, and propose to prove it by the best citizens of Chicago and vicinity, among them many of my cured patients, have you the right to disbelieve it without first investigating its truth? Are not your health and future happiness worthy your time and trouble to look into a system of treatment that has cured to stay cured thousands of cases which had resisted so many other doctors and other remedies? When I offer you free of charge a careful personal examination, together with an honest and scientific opinion of your case, will you ignore the opportunity and thus continue to suffer?

Varicocele

Surgery seldom cures it, but always weakens.

I daily demonstrate that Varicocele can be positively cured without cutting, burning, tying, or any other form of operation.

Instead of vital parts being maimed and injured, they are preserved and strengthened, pain ceases entirely and almost instantly, swelling subsides, healthy circulation is rapidly re-established, and every part of the organism affected is thoroughly restored.

Hydrocele

My treatment of Hydrocele and its associate conditions is original with me and obtainable exclusively only at my hands. You are no doubt familiar with some of the tedious, painful, and surgical methods of old-time treatment. I have investigated all of them. To do my important work I have spent thousands of dollars with a special view of knowing all that is to be known about Hydrocele.

I cure Hydrocele and its complications within five days WITHOUT PAIN, WITHOUT KNIFE, WITHOUT DETENTION FROM BUSINESS; CURING TO STAY CURED under bank guarantee.

Rupture

Disregard of existing rupture has cost many human lives. Strangulation of the bowels and old-time methods of operating with the knife have contributed to this fatality. My methods obviate this and cure with absolute certainty and safety, and entail no suffering. The smallest hernias are the most dangerous to life, because of the increased liability to strangulation.

Blood Poison

Prompt and heroic treatment is the only kind that should ever be used in combating this disease.

Only temporary relief can come from hot spring baths, specifics, mercury, potash, or other minerals, mixtures and poisons.

I have originated and perfected a cure for Blood Poison that is absolutely safe, rapid, and permanent, and leaves no injurious effects.

Every external symptom soon disappears, while the blood, the tissues, the nerve fibers, the bones and the whole system are cleansed, strengthened, and restored to perfect health and purity.

Nervo-Vital Debility

CEREBRAL—When the mental forces are impaired.

SPINAL—When the spinal centers are involved and motor power is diminished.

VITAL—When the Great Sympathetic Nervous System is affected and the forces that govern the organs of life are reduced by the baneful reflex effects of disease incident to the organs of the pelvis.

No one afflicted with Nervo-Vital Debility in any of its forms should despair after failure to obtain satisfactory results from inferior treatment. My methods rid you of the main malady which underlies nervous disease and disturbance, and I am able to restore you to enviable health and strength. Every case is a personal study with me, and I invariably modify my treatment to answer the requirements in individual cases.

I cure all weakness induced by specific nervous complaints and put you on the right track to complete health or restore the conditions essential to your future life and happiness.

Associate Diseases

In curing a disease of any kind I never fail to remove all reflex complications. In the case of Varicocele or Hydrocele the weakness caused by it disappears. If it has developed into Prostatic, Bladder, or Kidney affections the injured parts are all restored to a perfect, healthful condition. If it is Blood Poison, all Skin, Blood, and Bone diseases arising from the taint are entirely and permanently eliminated from the system. If it is Nervous Debility, the many distressing symptoms following in its train, and indicating a decline of physical and mental power, are totally removed and rapidly replaced by the energy of robust manhood. Hence, all resulting ills and reflex complications, which may be properly termed associate diseases, and which, in fact, are often more serious than the original ailment that gives rise to them—all, I say, disappear completely and forever with the cure of the main malady.

New Books

My latest medical publication, embracing a scientific yet simple discussion of Male Pelvic Diseases and the best methods of curing them, will be sent free upon application.

Correspondence

If you cannot visit me personally, write symptoms that trouble you most.

A vast majority of cases can be cured by my system of home treatment, which is the most successful system ever devised.

I make no charge for private counsel and give to each patient a legal contract in writing, backed by abundant capital, to hold for my promise.

My Reception Rooms

are open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m., but my hours of consultation are daily from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Sundays from 8:30 to 1 only.

CERTAINTY OF CURE is what you want. I give a legal guarantee to cure or refund your money. What I have done for others I can do for you.

MY CHARGES for a perfect cure are reasonable, and no more than you are willing to pay for successful treatment of your case.

LEONIDAS DIBBS HAS 'TUB OF SUDS.'

GIVES OUT THE FIGURES.

"Voting Strength" Is New Name Applied to Lodging House Gentlemen.

The First ward campaign—municipal, county, state, national—has begun. This became a fact last evening when Leonidas Dibbs arrived in Chicago and established himself in suite A, parlor floor, at the Alaska.

Perhaps you don't know who Leonidas Dibbs is, and perhaps you wouldn't know where to find the Alaska if you wanted to make the acquaintance of the gentleman. Also, perchance, you are wondering why Leonidas Dibbs' arrival should have any decisive bearing on the political activities of the First ward. All of these things, however, are understood on the levee, where the appearance of Mr. Dibbs supplied the only sensation of a sleepy primary day.

Organizer of Voters' Colonies.

Leonidas Dibbs is the greatest organizer of voters' colonies which the genius of American politics ever has given to the world. His methods, as perfected from year to year, have been introduced with success in the lodging house wards of New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, and Milwaukee. If you have an ambition for political power and preferment in a lodging house ward, you can, for a consideration, take advantage of Mr. Dibbs' genius for the organization of your "voting strength."

Mr. Dibbs declares the insinuation of the Municipal Voters' league that voters are being colonized in the First ward for the benefit of the machine is a "vile, base slander." The First ward machine, he says, has a certain voting strength, but "colonization" is a coarse, vulgar term to employ, and is obsolete.

Gives Voting Strength Figures.

Mr. Dibbs gives the following table as representing the centers of present voting population in the ward:

	No. lodgers.
The Mayflower, 305 South Clark street	386
The State Street house, 449 State street	573
The Vestibule, 97 Van Buren street	643
The Illinois, 511 South State street	205
The Calumet, 172 East Madison street	200
The Hudson, 201 South Clark street	295

It will be seen that the State street house and the Vestibule are crowded with nearly twice the number of voters which the law allots to a voting precinct. When his attention was called to this point, Mr. Dibbs observed that it might be found advisable to amend the law in such wise as to "preserve the voting strength intact an' nachril." The Alaska, where Mr. Dibbs makes his headquarters and where he is familiarly known as "Lonny," accommodates nearly 300 proletariats. It is the adjunt to Ald. Kenna's Workingmen's exchange in Clark street, and is for the accommodation of a fraction of the ward's "voting strength."

Presence Causes a Commotion.

"Dat's him—dat's de bloke w'at we all take off our hats to."

The entrance of the personage to whom this observation applied had created a flurry among the 300 idlers who crowded the main floor of the Workingman's exchange. Talk ceased in the scattered groups, while all eyes followed the person who pushed his way through the press at the long bar and ordered a "tub of suds." The man buried a red plebeian beak in the foam while his eyes swept the room.

"You my name is Dibbs—Leonidas Dibbs," said the personage in response to an inquiry. "Some calls me Leonidas S. Dibbs, but I prefer the simple cognomen without further adornment. That S always was a mystery an' a bit o' trouble, anyway—father claimed it stood for Sparticus, an' mother said it was for Enders, which was her name, an' once nade hit mother in a ruction over the matter, an' she carried the scar——"

Gives Details of Family History.

Mr. Dibbs was dusting a shabby fedora with a red handkerchief which he had removed from about his neck and he was proceeding to an extended account of his family history when another inquiry brought him back to present affairs.

"Yes, I am now in Chicago," continued Mr. Dibbs, as if his reply settled some doubt on the point. "But if I am here there is no reason to suppose my visit has any political significance whatever, sir. I am just passing through the city on my way to New York from St. Louis."

Says Coughlin Has a "Cinch."

Here Mr. Dibbs removed from his elbow a straw which somehow left the impression that he had traveled from St. Louis in a private car of the Street line.

"Mr. Coughlin has got a 'cinch' on the election—I'm satisfied he's got the requisite voting strength. Colonization? Why, my dear sir, well informed persons never use that term any more. There's no such thing as colonization today. All these voters in these great hotels," sweeping his hand comprehensively, "represent legitimate voting strength. These men are regular residents of Chicago. Their mode of life perhaps is slightly at variance with the existence of yer hoodwardites. Yer rich man stays in the city an' works in the winter time an' goes to the country to rest in the summer. The resident of one of these modest hotels goes to the country to work in the summer an' returns to the city in the winter for his vacation. Ain't that legitimate? Ye'll find the same residents here every winter."

TWO ARE KILLED BY TRAINS.

James J. Bamerick and an Unidentified Man Are One Day's Grade Crossing Victims.

Two men yesterday were killed by trains, and Edward Hanson, 12 years old, 3726 Sixty-first street, struck by a Grand Trunk engine last Tuesday, died in the Englewood Union hospital. The day's list of accidents follows:

BAMERICK, JAMES J., switchman, 22 years old; killed by Rock Island switch engine while walking on tracks at Forty-fourth street.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN, struck by Monon engine at Fifty-first street and killed; identification almost impossible.

Bergmier, Adolph, 70 North Hoyne avenue, treasurer of Johnson Chair company; horse ran away and near Desplaines and Madison streets struck carriage; Bergmier thrown to street and badly bruised.

Wilson, Samuel, driver for Police Inspector Wheeler and occupant of other carriage; dragged for a block while clinging to lines; bruised.

While running over the roof of the Division street station of the Northwestern Elevated railroad, John Sweenie, 11 years old, fell to the pavement. He was instantly killed. Boys were playing on the roof of the platform, and Sweenie tripped over an electric light wire.

VACCINATION ENDS IN DEATH.

Coroner's Jury Decides Lockjaw from Wound on Arm Was Fatal to a Youth.

Lockjaw following vaccination caused the death of John R. Hammerstad yesterday morning, according to a decision of the coroner's jury in the morning. Hammerstad was 18 years old, and shortly after being vaccinated, it is said, he left his parents house at 702 Summerdale avenue, without wearing the coat. He caught cold, and tetanus quickly developed.

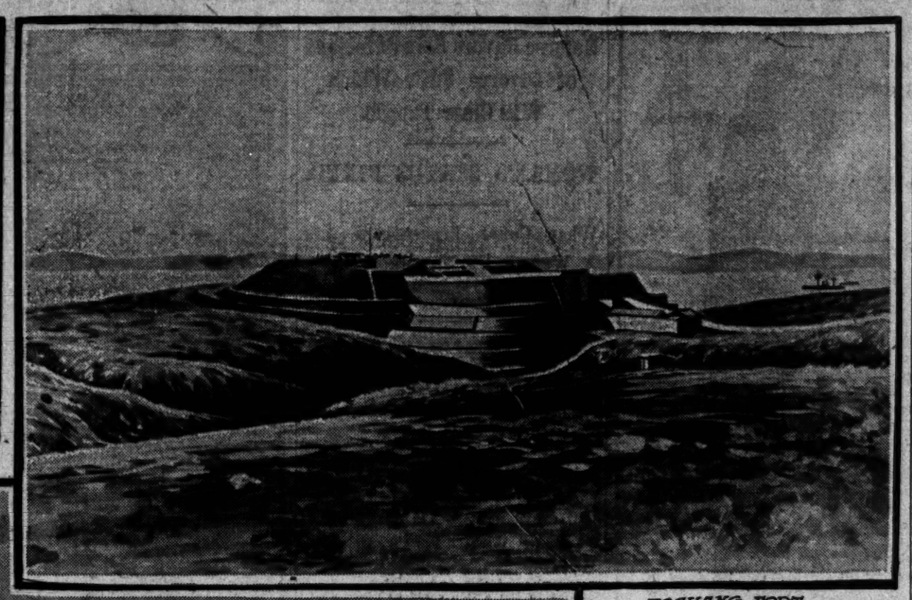

Chief Medical Inspector Spalding when informed of the case sent an inspector to make an investigation.

"I shall have a report tomorrow," Dr. Spalding said. "I am not sure now that there was any vaccination about it. Of course, any scratch of the skin may open the way for the introduction of any kind of germ, such as that of tetanus. Vaccine has nothing to do with tetanus germs."

LIGHT VOTE AND RIOTING.

LESS THAN TEN PER CENT OF DEMOCRATS AT POLLS.

Violence Used in Sixteenth Ward, Where Kunz Wins Easily—In Some Precincts No Ballots Were Provided or Cast—Conventions to Be Held at 10 O'Clock This Morning and in a Few the Result Is Not Known in Advance.

Hard Contest in Fifth.

In the Fifth ward, which has 5,000 democratic majority, and where the fight between James Dotiy and James J. McCormick was bitter, only 1,920 ballots were cast. With the backing of Charles Martin and the city hall crowd, McCormick carried every district, and will be nominated by acclamation.

The Third ward has no candidate and the convention will wait until after the republicans act before making a nomination. Uninstructed delegates were chosen.

There was a spirited contest in the Fourth ward between John Richert and Joseph Mammoser. With the regular organization behind his candidacy, and the indorsement of the Municipal Voters' league in his favor, Richert secured the thirty-four delegates to the convention, and will be nominated.

Fight on Herrmann Fails.

A reflection of the council graft committee's crusade against saloon law violations was seen in the fight made upon Ald. Herrmann, chairman of the committee, in the Twenty-third ward. The saloon forces put up W. A. Dudley against the alderman, and concentrated the fight in the Seventh district polling place at 491 Larrabee street, but the alderman won there by a vote of 90 to 57. In other precincts the Herrmann vote trebled that of Dudley. Herrmann's campaign was handled by Drainage Trustee Thomas B. Webb and Assessor James J. Gray. The alderman drove in a carriage to his polling place. He was suffering from rheumatism. He polled 576 votes, against 434 for Dudley.

Trouble Over Condemned Hall.

Thirtieth ward democrats were in a quandary for hours over the selection of a place for the convention on Saturday. The New Central hall, Forty-sixth street and Wentworth avenue, which had been rented, was found to have been condemned by the building department. Finally an order from the building commissioner was secured permitting the use of the hall for one hour on Saturday. John J. Bradley, the aldermanic candidate, was unable to vote at the primaries, having recently removed from one precinct to another. Bradley secured 38 delegates to 4 for Dennis Riorden. C. J. Boyd, a former alderman, made a contest, but secured no delegates.

Dies in Keeping Promise.

One pathetic incident occurred in the Thirtieth ward contest. Fred Baum, 5209 Emerald avenue, disregarded his physician's advice and went to the polling place of the Eleventh district of the Thirtieth ward, to keep a promise that he would vote for Riordan. He had to be helped from his carriage, and when he had cast his ballot he remarked:

"I said I would come and vote, and I have kept my word."

As he turned to leave he collapsed and fell to the sidewalk. An ambulance was summoned, and he died while on the way to a hospital.

Results in Detail.

FIRST WARD—Delegates elected favoring Ald. J. J. Coughlin. No opposition.
SECOND WARD—Uninstructed delegates said to favor James McCune. District 2,000 republican.
SIXTH WARD—Uninstructed delegates were chosen.
SEVENTH WARD—Delegates are uninstructed.
EIGHTH WARD—James Kirby, organization candidate, a labor leader, defeated Martin T. Riley in every district.

TWELFTH WARD—Delegates elected favoring Ald. V. E. Cerveny. No opposition.
FOURTEENTH WARD—Delegates chosen will renominate Ald. W. T. Maypole. No opposition.
FIFTEENTH WARD—Jacob C. Le Bosky, organization candidate, will be nominated. No opposition.
SEVENTEENTH WARD—Delegates instructed for Ald. W. E. Dever. No opposition.

TWENTIETH WARD—Delegates elected favor Ald. N. R. Finn.
TWENTY-FIRST WARD—Delegates pledged to George H. Sheahan (city hall) were elected. F. M. McCarten (Burke faction) withdrew one hour after the polls opened.
TWENTY-SECOND WARD—Delegates pledged to renominate Ald. Michael D. Dougherty were elected without contest.
TWENTY-FOURTH WARD—Uninstructed delegates were elected. Jacob Ewald, John E. Connors, and Charles Tindill are candidates.
TWENTY-FIFTH WARD—Delegates are uninstructed. Peter Phillips probably will be nominated. Anson Larson also is a candidate.
TWENTY-SIXTH WARD—No contest. Delegates were uninstructed. Nicholas Drush, regular organization, probably will be nominated.
TWENTY-SEVENTH WARD—Delegates instructed, and, it is said, will be guided by advice of Ald. Leachman in making choice. Frank Wilson probably will nominated. S. H. Schwan also mentioned.
TWENTY-EIGHTH WARD—Uninstructed delegates were chosen. Ex-Ald. Frank Connery will be renominated if he will accept. Others mentioned are Louis Burns and Charles Twigg.
TWENTY-NINTH WARD—Delegates elected favor Ald. Thomas Carey. No opposition.
THIRTY-FIRST WARD—Delegates instructed to renominate Ald. P. J. O'Connell.
THIRTY-SECOND WARD—Delegates uninstructed. Ward leaders will decide between Dr. C. E. Powell, a dentist, and J. J. Kelly.
THIRTY-THIRD WARD—Uninstructed delegates were chosen. Leaders will name a candidate this morning.
THIRTY-FOURTH WARD—Uninstructed delegates chosen. Candidate yet to be named.
THIRTY-FIFTH WARD—Delegates are uninstructed. W. E. Golden may be nominated.

REVOLT AT LORIMER WAYS

SENATOR FARNUM AND FOLLOWERS QUIT THE MACHINE.

Exposure by George E. Nye of Basis of Suit Against State's Attorney Followed by Break—Blount's Lieutenants Object to Dictation Regarding Candidate for Alderman and Decide to Join Deneen Ranks and Support a "Live One" Hereafter.

Exposure by George E. Nye of the "political conspiracy" against Charles S. Deneen created a sensation among west side republicans and has caused another break in the Lorimer machine.

A number of Fred M. Blount's lieutenants, headed by Senator Frank C. Farnum, left the Lorimer-Blount combination in the Thirteenth ward and are out in support of Mr. Deneen for governor. Senator Farnum appeared at the Deneen headquarters yesterday and assured Roy O. West that from now on he and his friends will do all they can in behalf of the state's attorney.

It developed that the Blount crowd had engaged in a bitter fight over the question of Nye's becoming a candidate for alderman. A faction of the ward organization wanted him put forward, and he was willing to make the race. He was the senator's choice, and, having worked for the machine in season and out, his friends felt that he was entitled to recognition. But it seems that he was not satisfactory, and therefore he was forced to give up his candidacy in the interest of some person acceptable to Lorimer and Blount.

Precipitates a Rebellion.

This precipitated a rebellion.

"We have been taking orders from Blount and Lorimer long enough," said one of the workers. "For ten years we have been fighting their battles and doing everything they told us to, but now we propose to assert our independence and fight for the party. Many of the organization men have been waiting a chance to break away from the old combination and line up with the new order of things. This affair furnishes them the opportunity, and they show where their sentiments are by getting into the Deneen camp. We will probably be with Senator Campbell hereafter for anything he wants. I expect to see our ward join the six northwest side wards that are in a 'stand together' agreement to get one or two good places on the county ticket."

Tired of Backing "Dead Ones."

Senator Farnum declared that he was through doing the kind of politics that the old combination wanted done.

"I've been supporting 'dead ones' long enough," he continued. "The republicans of my district favor the candidacy for governor of Charles S. Deneen. I have controlled the Sixth district of the Thirteenth ward for ten years, and always delivered its delegates, regardless of whether the people were in accord with our actions. This time my people want Deneen, and I propose to be with them."

Being a factor in the Lorimer camp, Senator Farnum has been counted as a Lowden supporter. He has been a frequent visitor to Lowden's headquarters, but always said that the Deneen sentiment in his ward was strong. He is deputy clerk of the Probate court, and by coming out for Deneen follows the lead of his chief, Patrick Cahill.

BABY ABANDONED ON DOORSTEP.

Found in Basket at Residence of Richard Dooley, 348 South Marshfield Avenue.

Hearing the cries of an infant shortly after 11 o'clock last night, Mrs. Louisa Moffett, 346 South Marshfield avenue, found that a basket had been placed on the doorstep of Richard Dooley's home, 348 South Marshfield avenue, and that the cries were caused by a 1 month old girl baby in the basket. The baby was wrapped in warm clothing, but there were no marks by which its mother might be found. The baby was taken to the St. Vincent's Infant asylum.

BOUND TO SAVE HER TRESSES.

South Chicago Woman Prefers Suffering from Scalp Wound to Having Hair Cut.

Rather than submit to the loss of her long and glossy black hair a South Chicago woman went to her dwelling last night with a severe scalp wound which she refused to have treated by a surgeon.

Mrs. Fannie Brown, 9630 Commercial avenue, while walking in Commercial avenue, was struck by a Lake Shore train and hurled several feet. A physician found a four inch scalp wound and bruises.

Mrs. Brown regained consciousness as the surgeon reached for scissors.

WANTS NEW MOVING DAY.

REAL ESTATE MAN WOULD CHANGE DATE TO JULY 1.

R. N. Lloyd Argues That Weather May Be Bad May 1, That School Arrangements Are Interfered With, and Transactions Are Hampered—Other Agents See Merit in Reasoning, but Favor Having Expiration of Leases in the Fall.

A real estate dealer yesterday suggested that the date of the annual spring migration period, when van men are annoyingly independent and the air is filled with carpet dust and swear words, be changed from May 1 to July 1.

It is a problem of importance to every woman who has indulged in wall papering, window washing, carpet beating, scrubbing, mending, and perspiring, and every man who has wrestled with furniture and eaten his meals off the sideboard in the kitchen.

R. N. Lloyd, 1242 East Ravenswood Park, was the iconoclastic real estate agent, and his reasons for the change in the date of the leasing period—barring the fact that he does not seem to have consulted any feminine experts—appear practical in spots to other real estate men.

Gives Reasons for Change.

Mr. Lloyd makes the following argument:

It appears to me that it is a great mistake to have the majority of leases of residences, flats, stores, and offices expire on the 30th day of April. It often disturbs the school arrangements for the children. The severe weather frequently is prolonged into April or later, and we find prospective purchasers are diffident about venturing out of doors to look at property in rough weather.

The mild, open weather does not come until the landlord has demanded an answer about the coming year, and the prospective purchaser fears he may lose the chance to renew his lease where he is and decides to rent another year, feeling that he has not time to look up property to purchase.

Those who wish to build in the spring are delayed until it is too late to complete their building in time to secure the spring renting market.

I believe there would be more real estate transactions and more buildings with more sure results in renting them if the moving day could be changed to the first day of July. If the majority of agents and as many landlords as possible would agree to make a fourteen months' lease next year it appears to me there would be a grand reform.

Women Must Be Considered.

"It would never do," was the consensus of opinion of the real estate men of Chicago. "Mr. Lloyd has not taken into consideration the women. With them there would be no leases and no real estate agents." All agreed that it would be better to have part of the leases expire May 1 and part of them in the fall, but July 1 was not considered practical.

"The women never would consent to July 1," said William A. Bond. "Most of them have come to regard moving time as synonymous with housecleaning time. They would not clean house twice, and they would not be willing to defer the pleasant task until July 1."

"The women would oppose it," said C. S. Ennis of George W. Cobb & Co. "May 1 has become the moving day by custom, and I don't see how it can be changed. That it prevents tenants from inspecting property is an argument in favor of the landlord."

"I don't consider July 1 practical," said H. S. Dietrich, "unless for houses."

"May 1 is a good time to get away from in leasing property," admitted E. A. Cummings, "but I shouldn't consider July 1 an improvement. Many of our leases expire in the fall."

"Building would be interfered with as much in July as in May," was the comment of W. D. Kerfoot. "If leases were made in July when would we get our vacations?"

ROBS IN ASTOR STREET.

PORCH CLIMBER ENTERS RESIDENCE OF G. P. FISHER JR.

Frightened Away by Boy, Thief Takes Jewelry Valued at More than $2,000 and Including a Valuable Pearl Necklace—Mrs. R. S. Strong Tells Police She Was Drugged and Then Some One Took Leather Pouch Containing Nearly $850 in Jewels.

A porch climber last evening entered the residence of George P. Fisher Jr., 144 Astor street, and fled with jewelry and diamonds valued at more than $2,000. In his haste to escape after he had been seen by George Fisher, the 16 year old son of Mr. Fisher Jr., the burglar overlooked many other valuables. Some of the stolen articles are:

Gold watch with diamond setting.
Gold watch chain.
Three solitaire diamond rings.
Diamond scarf pin.
Pearl necklace with diamond clasp.
Sleeve buttons with diamond settings.

Pearl Necklace Is Valuable.

Although Mrs. Fisher was unable to estimate the exact value of the stolen jewelry, she said the pearl necklace alone was worth several hundred dollars.

"All of the jewelry," she explained, "was given to me, and I do not know the value of any one article. The man ransacked the apartment, and if he had not been frightened he might have taken many more things."

At the time that the burglar was discovered by George Fisher the other members of the family were at dinner. In his mother's bedroom on the second floor the boy saw a light burning. With his suspicions aroused he opened the door.

"What are you doing in here?" he called to the thief as the latter fled through the open window.

Says She Was Drugged and Robbed.

While under the influence of an opiate, Mrs. R. S. Strong, 1454 Addison street declares, she was robbed of a leather pouch containing jewels valued at $850. According to the story told by the woman, she became ill after eating some fruit sent her yesterday morning. It was in a basket containing the card of a friend of Mrs. Strong. When she recovered from a stupor in the afternoon the woman found that the pouch had been taken from her room. Mrs. Strong said she telephoned the friend whose card was found in the basket, and found that the fruit had not been sent by her.

A former rpomer in the house, who still retained keys to the place, was suspected by the victim. The reports made by the police do not confirm the story told by Mrs. Strong, and the police have refused to make arrests unless warrants are taken out by the woman.

The dog catchers, armed with snares and nooses, yesterday morning started work looking for canines the owners of which have neglected to comply with the "all the year" muzzle ordinance. Formerly the crusade began May 1.

FIGHT IN A COURTROOM.

JUSTICE SAID TO HAVE USED FISTS IN CONTEMPT CASE.

J. R. McDonnell Twice Imposes Fines on Arthur Hirsch, President of the Independent Steel and Wire Company, and Then Figures That Stronger Methods Are Necessary—Lively While the Trouble Lasts, and Each Side Claims the Victory.

Having twice fined Arthur Hirsch, president of the Independent Steel and Wire company, for contempt of court, and finding that Chicagoan still obstreperous, John R. McDonnell, the "fighting justice," is said to have descended from his bench in the village hall of Lyons, thrown judicial dignity to the winds, and prepared for personal combat.

As to the outcome the stories of witnesses differ. Some say that with the assistance of two former policemen who accompanied Hirsch the justice was overpowered and pommeled and that servitors of the justice were sent sprawling. Hirsch said:

"We gave him a dose of his own medicine."

After telling the story Mr. Hirsch added:

McDonnell a "Gentleman Boxer."

Justice McDonnell denies there was a combat. He once was a "gentleman boxer," and is known to fame for having fought a four round draw with John L. Sullivan. Occasionally he boxes with friends. He keeps a set of boxing gloves in his office.

Hirsch noticed the gloves when he called on the justice two weeks ago to protest because Henry Hirsch, his brother, had been sued by a Chicago physician.

"The bill has been paid," he told the justice.

McDonnell expressed his regret that the case had been set for hearing and suggested that they "box a round or two just to change the subject." Hirsch was ready, and the two men feinted and sparred until they were tired.

The case in which Hirsch was interested came up for hearing before McDonnell at Lyons a few days afterward. Hirsch anticipated trouble, because, to use his own words, he had "landed on the justice more than was pleasant" in their bout in the latter's office.

As a precaution against such odds as suburban constables friendly to McDonnell Hirsch took with him to Lyons the two former policemen. They stood unobserved in the rear of the room until they were needed.

Fined Twice for Contempt.

Meanwhile Hirsch indulged in personalities with McDonnell.

"I defy you to nonsuit this case," said Hirsch. "I have my witnesses here and I insist on a hearing."

"Five dollars for contempt," said McDonnell.

"You will have a lovely time collecting it," retorted Hirsch.

"And five dollars more," replied the justice.

Thereupon the Chicagoan's remarks are said to have become intense, and McDonnell is reported to have descended from the bench.

"You may be pretty good with the gloves on, but I think I can handle you," is the statement attributed to the justice.

Boxers' Work Is Speedy.

The fight is declared to have raged in the village hall of Lyons an instant later. The air was filled with body blows, uppercuts, and leads for the solar plexus. In these maneuvers McDonnell is reported to have been ably assisted by various officials of his court. Hirsch was supported by the former policemen.

The fight is said to have continued for a quarter of an hour without interruption. Then Hirsch retired from the courtroom with his allies, leaving Justice McDonnell and his assistants to rearrange the furniture.

No arrests were made. The lone policeman of Lyons, "Chief" Fred Zimmerman, said last night he had heard of a "mixup," but had not been called on to exercise his authority.

MAN AND $600 ARE MISSING.

Relatives Ask Police to Find J. E. Wiatt, Who, It Is Feared, Is Murdered.

The police are trying to find J. E. Wiatt, postmaster of Paris, N. D., who is believed to have been robbed of the proceeds of the sale of a herd of cattle which he is said to have sold a few weeks ago.

Wiatt left Paris last December, saying that he was going to St. Paul. There he sold cattle and he told his friends that he was going to visit his father in Westville, Pa. He is said to have left St. Paul, and after arriving in Chicago he wrote to his relatives.

Nothing has been seen or heard from Wiatt and his relatives, who figure that he had at least $600, believe he was murdered for the money.

CANDIDATES DINE AT SAME BANQUET

WATCHING EACH OTHER.

Lowden's Choice for President of Swedish League Defeats Deneen Follower.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Moline, Ill., March 9.—[Special.]—The republican candidates for governor got together in peace and amity tonight, but it was a "one night stand" only. They broke bread in good fellowship with the Swedish Americans at their Ericsson banquet in Moline. As soon as the feed was over they scattered in all directions, getting hatchets out of grips as they went.

It was a touching sight to see L. Y. Sherman discussing the weather with Gov. Yates, both endeavoring to hide their emotions in bowls of consommé printanière à la royal. Equally touching was the sight of Charles S. Deneen talking of crops with Col. Lowden, while Congressman Warner tried to sink all his animosity in a fillet of beef with mushroom sauce.

Gov. Yates kept a wary eye on Mr. Sherman to be sure he would not throw a bowl of consommé printanière in an unguarded moment. The governor had just heard that Congressman Warner had said cruel things of him in Piatt county, but he tried to forget it.

Banquet Not a "Cannibal Feast."

The candidates sat bunched, their first public appearance together since the Springfield "cannibal feast." They even were allowed to talk. It was a frightful risk, and some looked for the fire escapes when Sherman rose. No damage was done to the peace of the event. A real love feast of the republican party was this banquet in honor of John Ericsson in Moline. The earlier one in Springfield should be forgotten.

Mr. Sherman started several things in his speech which made the other four candidates hold their breath for a moment. "I don't want to hurt the feelings of any of you who may be friendly to a certain power," he began in one sentence. Gov. Yates held his breath and stared at a carnation. The other three looked uncomfortable and the audience waited. Mr. Sherman, however, went on to denounce Russia, and the Swedes raised the roof with yells. They did this when the next speaker hoped "the Muscovite never would be able to push back the boundary of the Scandinavian peninsula."

Hamlin was the only one of the candidates missing. The other five spoke, verging on politics at first and then veering off on less dangerous topics.

"You have us here on exhibition," said Congressman Warner. "You can pay your money and take your choice. If you elect me I can tell you you will make a ten strike you will never regret."

Mr. Sherman rejoined that he had heard of candidates paying their money without getting a choice and then Col. Lowden heard Gov. Yates in looking at the same carnation.

Before the season of peace and good will to men on earth began at the banquet, the league had a session of orthodox, old fashioned politics at its business session during the day. From all appearances it would seem that Col. Lowden captured the league from Charles S. Deneen, and his friends are claiming it. Mr. Deneen's friends assert no political significance can be attached to the action on the part of the club.

Lowden and Deneen Test Strength.

No indorsements of candidates except M. O. Williamson for secretary of state were given. The Lowden and Deneen test came on the selection of delegates and the election of officers. President Carl Chindblom of Chicago appointed Senator Carl Lundberg, a Deneen supporter, on the credentials committee.

This action raised a protest which started the interest. Lundberg's ward delegation of the Thirty-first originally consisted of ten men, and some of them were his friends. The secretary of the ward club had appointed three other men and had left the Deneen men off.

When the question of seating this delegation arose there were protests against Lundberg's serving on the credentials committee, raised principally by E. A. Olson of Chicago, prospective candidate for Cook county state's attorney and a supporter of Lowden. He insisted that Lundberg withdraw, and for some time the fight was warm. There was a compromise by the seating of all the delegates.

The object of the Lowden eagerness to secure delegates was manifest when the election of officers was reached. M. A. Olson of De Kalb was the Lowden candidate, Julius Johnson of Henry the Deneen candidate, Charles A. Olson of Kane a third candidate. The last had given assurances he would not run against Olson. He did, however, and when he withdrew finally Kane's strength was thrown to the Lowden candidate, resulting in his defeating Johnson, 201 to 183. The Cook county vote was 59 to 47 in favor of the Lowden candidate.

Resolutions Express No Preference.

In the resolutions adopted the league declared: "We believe it to be unwise and inexpedient for this league to express any preference for any candidate for governor, but we pledge ourselves unequivocally to give a loyal and hearty support to the whole republican ticket, both state and national, when the nominations have been made by the regular republican conventions."

Judge Axel Chytraus, chairman of the committee on resolutions, and Col. William Nelson, Rockford, one of the governor's staff, was a member. It was he who secured the favorable mention for Yates. Several revisions were given the resolutions by the committee.

In these various drafts the following words with reference to Yates disappeared: "In the performance of all his duties he merits, and should have, our cordial support. We commend him for his fearlessness and zeal in the performance of his duties."

Col. Nelson was not able to make this go with the committee. Part by part it was stricken out. Mr. Williamson was "cordially indorsed" for treasurer. It shows the depth of the amity at the meeting that Mr. Williamson had as his guest at the banquet his rival, Maj. Hogan.

The officers elected by the league are: President, M. A. Olson, De Kalb; vice president, A. G. Erickson, Bloomington; secretary, Alfred Holmes, Chicago; treasurer, C. C. Carlson, Moline; sergeants at arms, Gus Preston and A. W. Ring, Chicago.

CITE EPIDEMIC AGAINST VETERAN

Nineteenth Ward People Object to Charles L. Clarke's Promotion.

BLAME HIM FOR FEVER.

Offer Merit Board Evidence of Man's Unfitness for Sanitary Inspector.

Residents of the Nineteenth ward have commenced through Hull house a contest against the certification of Charles L. Clarke to the position of chief sanitary inspector. As a civil waf veteran Clarke claims the place, although he stood fourth from the bottom of a list of applicants in a recent competitive test. The veteran's right to the appointment was questioned before the civil service commission yesterday by a delegation from Hull house, who arranged for a hearing of their charges against the applicant, to be held at 10 a. m. on Saturday.

Hull house and the Nineteenth ward residents object to Clarke, because they know him too well. He was the inspector of the district for a number of years, and was held by them to be responsible for many of the conditions which caused the epidemic of typhoid fever in the ward two years ago.

In the investigation that was conducted by Hull house, and resulted in a shakeup of the sanitary bureau last year, Clarke was one of the two inspectors involved in the charges of negligence and incompetence which the investigators found to be sustained.

Offer a Mass of Evidence.

The Hull house representatives told the civil service commissioners yesterday that they have a mass of evidence against Clarke collected during that investigation, which will prove him not to 'possess the business capacity necessary for the fulfillment of the duties of the office," which the law requires old soldiers to have in order to take advantage of their especial privileges of advancement over other competitors. Out of this matter four specific cases have been selected to be submitted to the commission Saturday morning.

The committee, which met the commission by special appointment in the afternoon, consisted of Miss Grace Howe, who directed the Hull house investigation; Mrs. Emmons Blaine, Dr. Emma Hackett, Miss Jane Addams, Frederick W. Burlingham, and Raymond Robbins, head of the Northwestern university settlement. Mr. Burlingham referred briefly to the investigation conducted last year by Hull house, and of the conditions disclosed by it.

"These conditions were deplorable, and were directly traceable to the neglect of Inspector Clarke," said he. "We have many specific cases where Clarke was derelict in his duty."

Two Methods of Procedure.

"There are two methods of procedure," said President Powell. "You may proceed under the statute which requires of a veteran that he possess the requisite business ability for the place, or under the rule of this board, which disqualifies a man because of moral turpitude, or the fact that he has once been dismissed from the service for cause. But you must elect which one you will proceed under."

Raymond Robbins elected the line of business incapacity, and declared that it was within the province of the commission to determine that issue.

Mrs. Blaine asked whether, after a contest on Clarke on this issue had been waged, should the decision be against them, they might still file charges to have him discharged from the service, and was told that the board would have to hear such charges as any time.

Compared with Theater Fire.

"Because 575 persons were killed in the Iroquois theater, public officials were indicted because of negligence in connection with the conditions there," said Dr. Hackett. "Over 600 persons died in the Nineteenth ward during the typhoid fever epidemic there, and now one of the public officials responsible for the insanitary conditions in the ward is slated for promotion. The deaths in our neighborhood were harder to bear, because they were attended by no public sympathy."

SENDS NEW POLICE TO LEVEE.

Chief Takes from Fiftieth Street Men Who Can See, and Sullivan Will Train Others.

Nine patrolmen were transferred from the Twenty-second street police station to the Fiftieth street station, and nine others were called from Fiftieth street to take their places.

"I'm just sending some of the boys out to take a course at Prof. Sullivan's institution for the higher education of the police in traveling beat," said Chief O'Neill in explanation of the order. "Lieut. Sullivan is a fine oculist, you know. His specialty is curing the disease which prevents patrolmen from seeing after midnight. The patients I have sent him need the treatment."

Alvin Miller,	Thomas Crean,
P. J. Garrity,	Andrew Johnson,
James J. Dordn,	Thomas Stitt,
Fred Bush,	John Shaw.
John Honan.

Michael Murphy,	John Landers,
Thomas Daly,	Charles McNally,
James McCarthy,	Patrick Joyce,
James Cleary,	Edward Speigel.
William Leen,

Among the saloonkeepers for whom the detectives secured warrants for keeping open after midnight were:

W. P. Gaffney, 222 Twenty-second street.
Thomas Brett, 1304 Wabash avenue.

Al Toney, Eldredge place and Wabash avenue.

HUSBANDS FOR, WIVES AGAINST.

Ordinance for Switch Track Across Marshfield Avenue Divides Families —Sent Back to Subcommittee.

Women are opposing their husbands in the fight being made on the ordinance to allow a switch track across Marshfield avenue at Fifty-eighth street, to the coalyard of Henry D. Fulton.

Mrs. C. W. Harder, Mrs. John Bentz, and Mrs. Annie Goelitz appeared yesterday before the committee on streets and alleys to fight the ordinance. The husbands of Mrs. Harder and Mrs. Bentz have signed petitions in favor of the track.

"We do not want a coalyard built right up in our faces," Mrs. Harder told the aldermen. "Ours is a fine residence neighborhood, and we simply will not tolerate a coalyard there."

Ald. Foreman moved that the right of the women to petition against what their husbands have petitioned for be conceded, and the ordinance was sent back to the subcommittee.

The committee recommended for passage an ordinance for the construction by the Illinois Central company of an incline and elevated sidewalk along the north side of the Randolph street viaduct from Michigan avenue to the terminal station to be erected by the company.

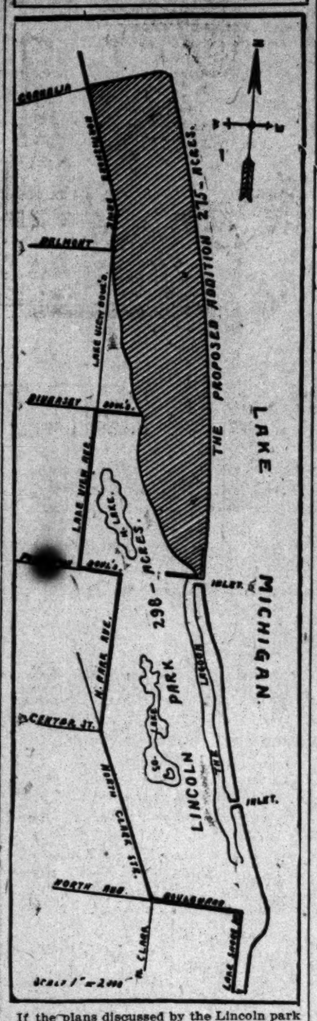

Meet to Examine Voting Machine.

The state voting machine commissioners will meet in Chicago today to examine a Bloomington voting device and decide on the results of the tests made three weeks ago. It is hoped by the election board members that experiments can be made in the coming aldermanic election in April.

HOPE TO ENLARGE PARK WITHOUT LITIGATION.

If the plans discussed by the Lincoln park commissioners at their meeting yesterday go into effect the north side park will be doubled in size without litigation of any kind. The basis of the settlement proposed was not given out, but the assurance is that an amicable understanding will be reached with property owners.

To effect this agreement it will be necessary to give to certain land owners portions of the shore property which will be made by the filling of the lake for the park, besides the resurveying and replatting of the district affected at the expense of the city. The part of the shore line to be included in the agreement extends from Diversey boulevard to Belmont avenue, and includes property of Alexander H. Revell, John G. Shortall, and others.

The extension, when completed, will cover an area of about 275 acres. Under an act passed by the legislature last year the responsibility for the changing of the shore line falls upon the Circuit court, but President Tracy said he was sure consent could be obtained.

POISONED CANDY CASE ENDS: MRS. SHERMAN DYE RELEASED.

Woman Given Liberty on Writ of Habeas Corpus and Sheriff Returns to South Dakota.

Boone, Ia., March 9—Habeas corpus proceedings for the release of Mrs. Sherman Dye were heard before Judge Whitaker this morning and the writ was granted, there being no opposition.

Sheriff Laughlin left directly for South Dakota last night after hearing the decision of Gov. Cummins that he would not grant extradition. County Attorney Canoe says the state cannot prosecute here, and the case will be dropped unless taken up by the federal authorities.

A message from Pierre states that Mrs. Dye probably will be arrested by the federal authorities for sending poisoned candy through the mail and taken to Pierre, where she could be arrested on the original charge. The county attorney denies this, as the federal suit would have to be tried in Iowa.

Poison Found in Stomach.

Pierre, S. D., March 9.—Prof. Whitehead of the state agricultural college testified before the coroner's jury, investigating the death of Rena Nelson by poison, today, and stated that he had found poison in the exhibit presented to him for analysis. But one more witness is to be called before the jury tomorrow, after which a report is expected.

BANKERS PLAN UNIFICATION OF SOUTHERN PACIFIC DEBT.

Refunding Mortgage Probably Will Be Attempted instead of Creating New Corporation.

New York, March 9.—[Special.]—Bankers who have assumed financial guardianship of the Harriman railroad system have taken up for serious consideration the work of unifying the funded debt of the Southern Pacific. The money involved may be anywhere between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000. It is not expected that the plan will be completed for several months.

So intricate are the finances of the Southern Pacific, owing to the diversity of its holdings, that it has been seriously questioned whether any comprehensive plan for unifying the debts of the various companies of the system could be devised without creating an entirely new corporation, but this is not believed now to be necessary.

The frame upon which the great plan will hang, according to present determination, will be a general refunding mortgage. The amount of this mortgage will depend wholly upon how much of the debt of the system, which aggregates $368,513,419, can be included in any refunding mortgage, however broad its scope.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y.—A. M. Beaver, a stock speculator of Hyde Park, N. Y., is under arrest, charged with raising a check on the Irving National bank of New York from $2.70 to $5,200. He made a full confession and handed over the entire sum, less 35 cents.

DODGE-MORSE CASE FINALLY SOLVED.

Referee Favors Reinstatement of Divorce Suit, Which Will Clear Tangle.

WOMAN'S STATUS FIXED.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, March 9.

The famous Dodge divorce case will be reinstated if the report of Referee William G. Davis, filed today, is finally approved by the court, which is more than probable. This will be followed by an application to vacate the decree annulling the marriage between Mr. Morse and Mrs. Dodge and their relations as husband and wife will thus be fully reëstablished.

Dodge-Morse Complication to Be Cleared Up.

The question of whether a person who is not a party to a suit has any standing in court to make such application as Mr. Morse has now made is a novel one. It had been supposed until this decision that only the parties to the action could be heard. Mr. Morse, however, intervened on the ground that, although not a party to the suit, his marital relations were seriously affected by what was transpiring and that he was therefore entitled to an opportunity to be heard.

On the hearing before the referee a mass of testimony was taken to show that the old Dodge divorce was collusive. Samuel Untermyer, attorney for Mr. Morse, has admitted that the Dodge divorce was collusive from the beginning and at every step in the proceedings. He throughout has claimed, and his claim has now been sustained by the courts, that after one of the parties to a divorce has remarried the court will not set aside the divorce, even for fraud or collusion, where it would affect innocent third parties.

As Mr. Morse knew nothing about the collusiveness of the Dodge divorce and was not a party to it, his rights will not be affected.

William Barclay Parsons, chief engineer to the rapid transit commission, was today sworn in as a member of the Panama canal commission.

Mayor McClellan granted today to Arthur Welling, a Mormon elder who describes himself as president of the Brooklyn conference governing body of the Mormons in the eastern states, a permit to preach on the streets. Col. McClellan said he had no option because an ordinance adopted some time ago by the aldermen provides that such permits shall be given street preachers whose applications are made or indorsed by a regularly ordained minister or some religious organization.

Mormon Granted Permit to Preach on Street.

The application was indorsed by Henry Muhlhauser, secretary of the Sabbath school of the Temple of Bethel. Mr. Muhlhauser wrote to the mayor as follows:

"Their moral teachings are good and their methods of proselytizing are honorable, and I would recommend that a street preachers' permit be granted to Welling."

The block of bonds and stock of the United States Shipbuilding company which was advertised for sale at public auction a week ago, then withdrawn, was sold today at the real estate salesroom by Adrian H. Muller & Son and a new record price for the stock established. The common stock brought 2 cents a share and the preferred stock 10 cents a share. There were offered $188,000 of first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, 500 shares of preferred stock, and 500 shares of common stock. These securities, it is believed, were those owned by Gov. Odell.

Odell Ship Bonds Sold at Auction.

The bonds were purchased by W. S. Fanshawe & Co., the price paid being $26, making the proceeds from the sale of the bonds $48,880. The stock sold in a block bid, the preferred being at $50 and for the common $10. It is understood Mr. Odell got the bonds at 90.

The Vanderbilt interests were blamed by District Attorney Jerome today for amending the anti-gambling bill so it does not become effective until Sept. 1, 1904. "The bills introduced hereafter," he said, "should have an enacting clause like this: Instead of 'the people of the state of New York, represented in the senate and assembly, do enact as follows,' the bills should read, 'the Vanderbilt interests, Richard A. Canfield, and others, represented in the senate and assembly, do enact.'

Jerome Scores Vanderbilt Interests.

"It is a nice sight to see the legislature of the state of New York standing back for a man who is a convicted criminal. If it were possible for me to call Reginald Vanderbilt to the witness stand Canfield would plead guilty. He would throw up his hands rather than permit what happened in his place on a certain occasion to become known."

Martin L. Cohn of the firm of A. S. Rosenthal & Co., who with Charles T. Browne recently was convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government in the importation of Japanese silks, was granted a new trial today. A motion for a new trial for Browne, who was a customs inspector accused of passing fraudulent invoices, was denied, and he was sentenced to two years in Sing Sing prison.

New Trial Granted in Silk Fraud Case.

United States Commissioner Shields received today a certified check for $30,000 in payment of the bond of A. S. Rosenthal, head of the firm, which was forfeited on account of his absence in Europe.

Charged with the larceny of $20,000 worth of optical goods from the establishment of Emil B. Meyrowitz, William J. Cooper was arrested tonight. Cooper had placed the goods in a building for a public exhibition and auction, having rented the place under the name of A. L. Black and hired E. Ferlinghetti to auction them off. Fifteen cases containing goods valued at $19,400 were taken by the police. The owner of the goods walked in to inspect them with a view of bidding.

The new board of directors of the American Ice company organized today and elected these officers: Wesley M. Oler, president; G. B. Johnson, first vice president and treasurer; and John P. Bonnett, temporary secretary. The board proposes to begin a new audit of all properties and accounts of the company so as to arrive at an exact understanding of its assets and liabilities.

William Butler Yeats, the Irish poet, sailed today on the Oceanic for Liverpool. Other passengers on the steamer were Lady Herbert, widow of the former British ambassador to the United States; Sir Thomas J. Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific railroad, and Capt. W. V. Judson, United States military attaché at St. Petersburg. Capt. Judson will accompany the Russian army in the field. Mr. Yeats said before sailing that his visit to this country had been a pleasant one, and that it had been a revelation to him.

ACTOR ROBERT TABER DIES AT SARANAC LAKE.

ROBERT TABER

Robert Taber's fame in this country rested almost entirely on his association during the early '90s with Julia Marlowe. Since he took up his residence and professional activity in London in 1897, American playgoers have not had an opportunity to see him.

Born in 1865 at Staten Island, N. Y., Mr. Taber made his first appearance as an actor in 1886 in New York, playing the small rôle of Amiens in "As You Like It," the Rosalind of the cast being Mme. Modjeska. His ability was such that he rapidly rose in his profession, finally becoming a member of the organization in which the then srightly dawning dramatic star, Julia Marlowe, was the central figure.

In Philadelphia, on May 14, 1895, Mr. Taber and Miss Marlowe were married, and the public was happy in talking of a romance in real life, as interesting and as attractive as were those the players presented so admirably on the stage. Mr. Taber as Romeo to Miss Marlowe's Juliet, as Orlando to her Rosalind, and as opposite to her in all the love comedies and tragedies she presented was recognised as her artistic complement, and by many persons as her histrionic equal.

The financial prosperity of the company suffered, however, when Miss Marlowe ceased to exist professionally and became Mrs. Robert Taber. Managerial advice urged the dropping of the head line, "Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taber," which had adorned the company's bills for over two years, and Miss Marlowe, without consulting her husband, it is said, signed a contract which should mean her return before the public as Miss Julia Marlowe, and made no provision for Mr. Taber as a member of her company. Their divorce followed. Mr. Taber made his first pronounced success in England as Macduff in the elaborate revival of "Macbeth," made by Forbes Robertson. He won favor in "Quo Vadis," but in September, 1900, joined Mr. Tree at Her Majesty's and played Cassius in the revival of "Julius Cæsar."

Wichita, Kas., March 9.—[Special.]—Eward W. Hoch of Marion was nominated for governor by acclamation tonight by the republican state convention.

The nomination of Mr. Hoch was a foregone conclusion ever since the withdrawal of Gov. W. J. Bailey two months ago, as a result of the biggest upheaval in republican politics in Kansas for many years.

Under ordinary conditions Gov. Bailey would have been renominated, but the fight against the so-called machine grew to such proportions that he withdrew from the race.

The fight of the "reformers" was directed only against the governor and his advisers, and the rest of the state officers were renominated, although State Treasurer Kelly had a narrow escape.

Resolutions indorsing President Roosevelt were adopted without a dissenting vote and his action in the Panama canal question was commended. The six delegates at large to Chicago were instructed for him.

ARTIST PALMER IS DEAD.

NOTED DESIGNER OF STATUES SUCCUMBS AT 87.

Was Pioneer Citizen of Albany, N. Y., and First Became Famous as Cameo Portrait Cutter—Statues of Chancellor Livingston Among His Works—Calverley and James Kidd Worked with Him and Received His Influence.

Albany, N. Y., March 9.—[Special.]—Erastus Dow Palmer, famous as an American pioneer sculptor, died here at 6 o'clock this evening in his eighty-seventh year. He had been in declining health all winter, and this morning relapsed into a state of coma from which he never awoke.

Noted Works Designed by Him.

Mr. Palmer was the designer of many notable works of sculpture, including the statues of Chancellor Robert R. Livingston, in the capitol at Washington and the Court of Appeals at Albany; the "Angel at the Sepulcher," in the rural cemetery at Albany, and a number of other works now in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, and in private collections.

He is survived by his wife, one son, Walter Launt Palmer, the landscape artist, and four daughters—Mrs. W. H. Fassett of London, England, Mrs. Gavit of this city, and Mrs. Frank Burton and Mrs. Olive T. Jaffray of Minneapolis—and twelve grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Famous, but Staid in Albany.

The notable fact in connection with Mr. Palmer, so far as Albany is concerned, is that he is the special exception to the unwritten rule that men of mark may make their start in Albany but they must sooner or later leave it. He began his work as a sculptor in Albany, and was never tempted to leave this home of his choice. In Albany have been done most of his works of art; with the life of the city he has identified his own; here were most of his children born, and here to the home fireside they return from London, where his eldest daughter has lived for many years, and from Minneapolis, where two more daughters make their home.

It was in Utica that his artistic impulses first took definite form in the production of an exquisite cameo portrait of Mrs. Palmer. This attracted a degree of attention which amazed the artist, and he found himself compelled to abandon his trade of patternmaker, in which he was a past master, to fill the orders for cameos, which fairly inundated him. Summoned to Albany upon this business, he eventually left more than 100 portrait cameos, and achieved a reputation in this line which no other American has ever equaled.

The first of the larger works were portrait busts, and in this form much of his best work has been done. Wider attention has, of course, been attracted by the more imposing statues, in heroic size, of Robert R. Livingston and "The Angel at the Sepulcher."

Never Had an Instructor.

Emphasis should be laid on three crowning facts about this Albany sculptor. The first of them is the fact that he never studied art under any instructor. Inherent genius and an instinctive love of the beautiful in human form were his preceptors from the beginning. The second fact is that he never competed for prizes or honors of any kind, and to a degree that is simply absolute has scorned those methods of self-advancement, to say nothing of self-advertising, which have often lowered the tone of art, even while they enhanced the reputation of those who resorted to them.

Calverley was with Mr. Palmer for fifteen years, and, while there can be no doubt that his talent would have found due expression in any case, it cannot be doubted that the influence and teaching of Palmer have played a large part in his success.

Dr. Hartman is Receiving Hundreds of Letters of Congratulation and Commendation Daily.

All Classes Write These Letters, From the Highest to the Lowest.

ANY man who wishes perfect health must be entirely free from catarrh. Catarrh is well-nigh universal; almost omnipresent. Peruna is the only absolute safeguard known. A cold is the beginning of catarrh. To prevent colds, to cure colds, is to cheat catarrh out of its victims. Peruna not only cures catarrh but prevents it.

Catarrh affections may be acute or chronic, mild or severe, ephemeral or stubborn, lasting or fleeting, painful or trivial, but they all have one origin, one nature—catarrh. They all have one cure—Peruna.

Amos E. Lewis, Private Secretary to Senator Mallory, of Florida, in a letter from Washington, D. C., says:

"Your Peruna having been recommended to me as a remedy for catarrhal diseases, and having been greatly benefited by its use, I cheerfully testify to its efficacy, and give it a most emphatic endorsement for accomplishing all that is claimed for the preparation."—Amos E. Lewis.

A Commodore in Our Navy Endorses Pe-ru-na:

Commodore Nicholson, 1837 R street, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"Your Peruna has been and is now used by so many of my friends and acquaintances as a cure for catarrh that I am convinced of its curative qualities and I unhesitatingly recommend it to all persons suffering from that complaint"—Commodore Nicholson.

The day was when men of prominence hesitated to give their testimonial to proprietary medicines for publication. This remains true today of most proprietary medicines.

But Peruna has become so justly famous, its merits are known to so many people of high and low standing that no one hesitates to see his name in print recommending Peruna.

Over fifty members of Congress have written their endorsement of the world-famous catarrh remedy, Peruna.

This is an age when theories have little or no weight on the average mind, but actual demonstration is demanded. The busy people of today have neither time nor inclination to speculate, and turn with distrust from everything that does not plainly bear the stamp of fact.

The reason Peruna has gained such universal hold of the confidence of the people as a catarrh cure is because all statements concerning it are accompanied by facts.

A book containing specimens selected at random from a cloud of witnesses who have been cured of chronic catarrh by Peruna sent free by the Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

BRISTOW REPORT CAUSES STORM.

Grosvenor, in House, Says It Was "Conceived in Iniquity and Born in Sin."

OTHER PROTESTS MADE.

Hill of Connecticut Styles Author "Liar" and "Scoundrel;" Inquiry Promised.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—"The Bristow report was conceived in iniquity, born in sin, and has traveled its course until it has struck the public as a great attack on a body of men as free from wrongdoing, corruption, and crime as any equal number of men on the face of the earth," said Representative Grosvenor of Ohio today in paying his respects to the report on the postoffice investigation.

"That document is the production of a liar and scoundrel," shouted Representative Hill of Connecticut in referring to that part of the report concerning leases.

Indignant members of the house made a vigorous attack today on the fourth assistant postmaster general, the sentiment indicating an investigation of the postoffice department by a committee of the house.

"There is nothing in any of it to impugn any improper motive or conduct upon any member of the house," said Chairman Overstreet of the committee, who combated the idea of an investigation.

Mr. Williams, the democratic leader, urged a complete investigation of the whole postoffice department, and received the hearty applause of both sides of the house and the galleries. The debate will be continued tomorrow.

Overstreet Plan Resisted.

The debate began when Mr. Overstreet [Ind.], chairman of the committee on postoffices and postroads, after saying that he had consulted with members on both sides of the house who desired more time than three hours to discuss the Hay resolution bearing on the Bristow charges in connection with postal affairs. He suggested a postponement of the consideration of the resolution until Monday next.

Mr. Hay [Va.], author of the resolution, promptly objected, saying he saw no reason for postponement, and demanded the regular order.

After some further debate Mr. Overstreet withdrew his motion to postpone and the house proceeded to discuss the resolution.

Mr. Moon [Tenn.] insisted that there should be an investigation covering the postoffice department and everybody connected with it, adding: "And whoever is guilty, whether in this house or in the department should be exposed. I take it that no sensible man will deny that there is anything else but crime running all over that department."

Denies Honest Motives.

W. W. Kitchin [N. C.] charged Gen. Bristow with having deliberately suppressed important and material facts which could not be overlooked, and which were suppressed for the purpose of giving a false impression to the country and misleading the public. Bristow's action, he said, "was neither courageous nor honest, but for partisan purposes. He undertook to blackmail congress, to silence congress, and to silence the country. It is a species of intimidation."

Grosvenor to Rescue.

Amid a storm of applause Gen. Grosvenor, who was named in the report, arose. He consoled the house by reading an editorial which referred to Speaker Cannon and Representative Payne and Hill as having been taken "redhanded," but speaking seriously he said it was in accord with the views of 95 per cent of the newspapers of the country. The report was a malicious libel on 191 members of the house and senate. "I submit," said he, "that the investigation which the gentleman from Indiana has been apologizing for is an outrage and a violation of every principle of justice. I will resign my seat tomorrow," he said, pounding his desk, "if there is anything irregular or improper in what I did. I condemn the man that sent that into this house. Can any self-respecting congressman ever enter the office of the man who will produce such a document as that?

"If the postoffice department had some official whose judgment was so dwarfed by the opinion of a congressman the official had better be turned out," he declared.

Demands Canceled Lease.

Mr. Lilley (Conn.), who was charged in the report with being a technical violator of the law in leasing his building at Winsted, Conn., to the government for postoffice purposes, explained that within twenty-four hours after his attention had been called to the statute in question he had made personal application at the postoffice department to have the lease canceled.

Mr. Butler (Pa.), another accused member, said he never before understood the duties of representatives, but he now conceived them to be of "singular and conspicuous inactivity." He differed, he said, from Gen. Grosvenor, and he would defy any one to close the doors of the department to him. "What my constituents are entitled to," he remarked, "they shall have," and sneeringly added, "Bristow or no Bristow." Whoever had assailed him, he said, was a coward.

Malice or Ignorance?

Mr. Hill [Conn.], likewise mentioned in the Bristow report, denied that he had done anything improper.

"Was it malice or was it ignorance, or what was it?" he inquired. He had, he said, submitted certain questions to Gen. Bristow, answers to which had been refused. "I am going to vote for a resolution to investigate myself and to investigate the fourth assistant postmaster general." Holding up a copy of the report, he declared: "That document is the production of a liar and a scoundrel."

Mr. Robinson [Ark.] demanded an investigation of the entire postoffice department, "it having confessedly been unable to conduct its affairs with a fair degree of seeming propriety."

Mr. Cooper [Wis.] said he had been informed that Gen. Bristow, "trembling from illness," told that member that he [Bristow] had never seen the report as it was now printed. "Therefore," said Mr. Cooper, "I think the abuse of him ought to stop."

OBJECTS TO GERMANY'S GIFT.

Senator Bacon Protests Against Acceptance of the Statue of Frederick the Great.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—During consideration of the army appropriation bill in the senate today Mr. Bacon protested against the acceptance of the statue of Frederick the Great of Germany tendered by Emperor William, on the ground that the former German king was not in sympathy with American institutions.

Mr. Bacon protested against the idea of making this country the "dumping ground for statues of men who while heroes in their own countries, stand for ideals totally different from our own."

Mr. Stewart defended Frederick against what he characterized as Mr. Bacon's gross misrepresentations. The army appropriation bill was passed.

The senate also passed the Philippine shipping bill, after speeches in opposition by Messrs. Culberson and Patterson.

[From a photograph taken for THE TRIBUNE.]

FEEDING THE PRIZE DOGS.

The fourth annual bench show of the Chicago Kennel club will begin this morning at 10 o'clock in the First regiment armory with the largest exhibition of blooded canines ever seen in Chicago. The entry list is nearly double the total for 1903. It is exceeded only by the dog show held recently in New York. It is thought that 1,400 animals will be shown at the First regiment armory, and this list will include the finest kennels in the country.

Most of the kennel shows around the country have limited their entries to members of the various recognized kennel associations. The Chicago club has departed from this policy, and has opened the entry lists to all owners of standard dogs, whether such owners are affiliated with kennel clubs or not. The result has been a marked increase in the entries, and a swelling of the premiums.

The judges will be: Dr. R. L. James, Blue Island, Ill., bull terriers; A. D. Lewis, Hempstead, L. I., collies and old English sheep dogs; M. C. Byers, Grand Rapids, Mich., pointers and setters; J. Steel MacKenzie, Riverside, O., Scottish terriers; E. M. Oldham, Newark, N. J., toy spaniels and terriers, Pomeranians, Yorkshire terriers, and Japanese spaniels; J. Willoughby Mitchell, Brooklyn, N. Y., terriers and miscellaneous classes; James Mortimer, New York, St. Bernards, mastiffs, great Danes, and various other classes.

This country has considerable business with the kingdom of Abyssinia, and last year sold it about $1,000,000 worth of cotton goods. This treaty was negotiated by Consul Skinner, who was sent on a special mission for the purpose. He was carried to the African coast on American warships, and a marine guard escorted him to the capital of the Ethiopian king. As an expression of good will and admiration for the president, this powerful warrior sent two lions to President Roosevelt. CHIEF O'NEILL IS ANGERED BY RELEASE OF A. J. TOOLEN.

President of the Burke County Democracy, Arrested for Spitting, Ordered Again Taken Into Custody.

Because the case against Andrew J. Toolen, president of the Burke faction of the county democracy, charged with violating the anti-spitting ordinance, was nonsuited, he probably will be rearrested today. Lieut. Sullivan asked that a warrant be secured, after Chief O'Neill had ordered charges filed against any policeman remiss in pushing the prosecution of Toolen or Dr. William Whitaker. The latter also was released after being arrested.

Nearly twenty less fortunate persons were fined for violating the ordinance. When Toolen's case was first called he obtained a continuance to attend a funeral, and when the case was called Tuesday morning he did not appear. Justice Quinn nonsuited it.

Wishing to see all that was going on, James Beckett, a laborer, pushed his way to the front of a crowd which gathered around policemen at West Madison and Sangamon streets, arresting a violator of the anti-expectoration ordinance. While he was laughing at the plight of the prisoner, Beckett spit on the sidewalk. He was arrested and yesterday assessed the court costs by Justice Dooley.

PLAN TO GOVERN CANAL ZONE.

Gov. Taft Urges Law Giving Panama Commission Powers Similar to Those of Board Governing Philippines.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Taft appeared before the senate committee on interoceanic canals to urge legislation by congress clothing the canal commission with legislative, executive, judicial, and administrative power over the canal strip under direction of the president. He was opposed to any joint control and stated that if there are two boards "you will have trouble on your hands all the time."

Secretary Taft thought the canal commission should have about the same powers now held by the Philippine commission. In urging that extradition be provided for as well as a tariff against the canal zone, the secretary said that there would be a collection of criminals, rascals, thugs, and ne'er do wells from the states on the canal strip, owing to the expenditure of one hundred million dollars.

WOOD'S OATH DEMANDED.

SENATOR HANNA'S BRIEF SAYS DENIAL IS NOT ENOUGH.

Serious Reflection on General's Veracity Charged in Document Submitted to Senate, and Recommendation Made That He Be Required to Disprove Specific Charges Before Being Confirmed as Major General—Witnesses Cannot Be Impeached.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—The contested appointment of Gen. Leonard Wood to be major general of the army was taken up today in executive session of the senate, and after listening to a brief prepared by Senator Hanna, summing up the testimony before the committee on military affairs, and several affidavits obtained since the hearings closed, the senate adjourned.

Charges Unanswered by Wood.

These documents, which were found carefully prepared after Senator Hanna's death, sum up the Wood case in this opening paragraph:

The testimony given before the committee has developed points to which no answer is attempted by Gen. Wood in the various communications submitted by him prior to his departure for the Philippines; nor can those communications be accepted as a refutation of testimony given by witnesses under the solemnity of an oath. To accept them as a controversion of sworn testimony would brand those giving such testimony as unworthy of credence.

Among those who would be thus branded are men in the military and naval service of the United States. It is impossible to accept the mere statement of Gen. Wood, made prior to his departure for the Philippines, and covering only a part of the matters at issue, in preference to this sworn evidence.

Some of the testimony given by these witnesses has cast serious reflections upon the veracity of Gen. Wood, and it would appear that neither he nor the senate, which is asked to confirm his appointment, should rest content until he has been given opportunity to disprove, specifically and under oath, the damaging statements made on oath concerning his conduct. The facts to which attention will be called would seem to make this necessary, and the honor of the army would seem to demand it.

Wood's Veracity Is Impugned.

The chapter of the brief devoted to the subject of Gen. Wood's veracity opens with this statement:

Several witnesses whose sworn statements are not to be lightly impeached have, in their testimony, reflected directly upon the credibility and veracity of Gen. Wood. Statements made by him in various communications are flatly disputed.

In relation to the charge made by Maj. Runcie that Gen. Wood was responsible for the magazine article criticising the administration of Gen. Brooke as governor general of Cuba, which article Runcie said he was to write and turn over to Ray Stannard Baker as his own, the brief says:

As the matter stands, the sworn statement of Maj. Runcie is not controverted by either the unsworn statements of Gen. Wood or by the testimony of the witness Baker.

In regard to Gen. Wood's responsibility for the article, the brief says:

The general denial written by Gen. Wood may be taken as an answer to the charges which he knew would be formulated, but it cannot be accepted as the refutation of the testimony of witnesses subsequently given under the solemnity of an oath.

Foraker Law Spoken by Him.

In the matter of the establishment in Havana of the game known as Jai Alai, the brief says:

An attempt has been made to show that Gen. Wood did nothing more than to give his technical consent to the leasing of a plot of ground for the purpose of erecting thereon the building in which this game was to be played, and that the betting on the games is merely an incident, but the president of the company represented to Gen. Wood that without betting rules the game could not exist. It is impossible to avoid a conclusion that Gen. Wood did grant a concession or franchise, in the nature of a monopoly and in violation of the Foraker law, to the Jai Alai company.

Bellairs Charges Were Suppressed.

As to the Bellairs incident the brief says:

It appears clearly from the evidence of Witness Fisher that upon two different occasions he told Gen. Wood of the charges made against the character of Bellairs, and that then Wood asked him to suppress the publication of the charges.

The brief closes with a review of the testimony in relation to the concession to Castenada, concerning which Secretary Root cabled Gen. Wood as follows:

This permit would appear to be a concession for ninety-nine years and to contravene the policy expressed in the Foraker amendment; and the general order No. 188, adjutant general's office, Dec. 24, 1898, and the letter of the secretary of war to you dated June 21, 1901.

"Perhaps nowhere in the evidence presented in this case," concluded Senator Hanna's brief, "has there been shown more conclusively the habit of insubordination on the part of Gen. Wood than in this instance. It became necessary for the secretary of war to send a third command by cable before his orders were carried out by Gen. Wood."

DECLARES SMOOT ENFORCED LAWS.

Former Mormon Bishop Says He Was Sent to Prison by Man Under Inquiry.

SMITH AGAIN ON STAND.

Senators Ask Many Questions as to Revelations and Various Shades of "Sealing."

Washington, D. C., March 9.—[Special.]—In the Smoot inquiry before the senate committee today Loren Harmer, a former bishop of the Mormon church, testified that Reed Smoot had been responsible for his confinement in the penitentiary for unlawful cohabitation with a woman who was not his wife.

Harmer explained that his punishment, however, was not for having made a plural marriage, as he had two wives, but nothing had been done to punish him for that.

At the conclusion of the regular hearing the committee went into executive session to read the testimony in the Teasdale case, which was of an unprintable character.

President Smith was again on the stand, and it was sought to secure from him some further definition of "sealing for eternity" and "sealing for time," and also as to the fixity or stability of the Mormon bible.

Former Bishop Speaks for Smoot.

Former Bishop Harmer spoke frankly of his case and was the first to give testimony that might be construed as favorable to Smoot.

He testified that he was a bishop for five or six years, but had been sent to the penitentiary in 1899 upon conviction of unchastity, and lost his good standing. He said he has two wives, Ellen and Ida, and had also lived with Ellen Anderson, but never as her husband. He said she had two children by him, one since he had returned from the penitentiary. He now lives in Springville.

He said Ellen Anderson supports herself and that he had contributed nothing for herself for her children. He said she had property of her own.

Mr. Harmer was asked if Senator Smoot had anything to do with his arrest. "I think he caused it," he said. "He was a counselor at that time to the president of the stake, who was then away.

"He called me to Provo and told me the church proposed to take away my bishopric and other offices. I asked him to give me time to prepare my family and then started home."

Lost His Place for His Crime.

"Why was he going to take away your office?"

"Because I had committed a crime."

"Why do you think Mr. Smoot caused your arrest?"

"Because before I reached home the sheriff overtook me and placed me under arrest. I blamed Mr. Smoot for sending the sheriff after me. I thought he might have given me more time, although the crime was a bad one. I don't know that Smoot was responsible for my arrest, but it looked much like it."

Son of President Testifies.

Hyrum M. Smith, 32 years old, a son of President Smith and one of the twelve apostles, read a speech he had made in 1894 in Brigham City, at one of the quarterly conferences, in which he said each one in the matter of obeying laws does as he pleases, but that each must bear the consequences of his acts. He said that was his view. He explained at length the manner of sending out missionaries, and said polygamy was not talked, and that polygamous cohabitation had never been talked at a conference at which Mr. Smoot was present.

Bishop Merrill Has Two Wives.

Thomas H. Merrill, a bishop and a son of Apostle Merrill, said he had two wives, and that he had six children by the first and four by the second wife. The youngest child by the second wife is 3 years old. His second marriage took place in the Logan temple in 1885.

He said he does not know whether marriages performed in the temple are recorded. He has performed two ceremonies himself, and has kept only an individual record. He did not use the same service twice, he believed, and in answer to Senator Hopkins, said: "I have looked for a prescribed formula for marriages, but never found one."

Alma Merrill, first councilor to the Benson stake, said he had two wives, one of whom he married in 1885, and the other in 1886. His wives were sisters, Esmeralda and Rebecca Hendricks. By the first, he said, he has seven children, and by the last eight children, and three others had died.

No Time to Follow Up Rumors.

President Smith when on the stand was asked concerning charges made in newspapers and otherwise concerning plural marriages since the manifesto, and said it was not his business to investigate them. If he investigated all those charges he would have no time for the legitimate affairs of the church.

Reference was made specifically to the charges against George Teasdale, an apostle, and Mr. Smith was asked if he did not feel called upon in that particular case to make some inquiry in justice to the reputation of the church.

"It was not my business to do so," he said.

Seeks Definition of Ceremonies.

Chairman Burrows asked in regard to the marriage ceremonies performed in the church. He spoke of the marriages for time, the marriages for time and eternity, and the marriages for eternity only, and asked if the latter is not called "sealing."

"They are all called sealing," was the response.

"Is this sealing for eternity ever performed for living persons?"

"I believe I have heard of one or two such cases," said the witness.

"Are any polygamists ever sealed for eternity?"

"No, sir.

"No."

"Is the practice ever exercised as a right?"

"Not that I know of."

Chairman Burrows asked the witness to identify the Book of Mormon, and then, turning to the revelation of the prophet Joseph Smith, he asked specifically in regard to the manner it was revealed, and was informed that it was revealed to him by God.

Chairman Burrows asked if polygamy was taught in that book, and Mr. Smith answered that it was emphatically forbidden.

Revelations Are Discussed.

"Senator Dubois asked the witness whether any revelation he had received had been sustained in the general conference through the uplifting of the hands of those present.

The witness answered that he had received no revelation sustained in that matter, and explained again that the individuals, by living a moral life in the sight of the Lord, could receive revelations if they were prayerful. He said the Lord would manifest his will to them for their guidance.

"Have you received any individual revelation?" asked Senator Dubois.

"I can't say that I have," the witness replied.

"Can you say that you have not?"

"No, but if I lived as I should live I am capable of receiving impressions from the Lord, just as a good Methodist might, but I can't say that they are revelations."

Asked "what is the Mormon bible," Mr. Smith said: "King James' translation of the bible. We have no bible except the bible of other Christian people."

Replying to questions relating to his former testimony concerning Apostle Teasdale's plural marriage since 1890, Mr. Smith said it was his understanding from Mr. Teasdale himself that at the time of that marriage Mr. Teasdale was sealed for eternity to an elderly woman who had been his housekeeper. Mr. Teasdale understood, said the witness, that the woman was in no sense his legal wife when he married Marion Scoles.

MANY PERSONS TAKE TEST FOR THIRD GRADE CLERKS.

Candidates for City Positions Declare Questions Hard, and Otto Pfueger Gives Specifications for His Claims.

Many of the 125 persons who yesterday took the civil service examination for third grade city clerks protested at its severity. Only one of the candidates was a woman.

Otto Pfueger, an elevator conductor in the city hall, complained to Chairman Bennett of the finance committee, and offered to lay him odds of 20 to 11 that a majority of the committee could not pass with a percentage of 70. The candidates had to spell twenty-five words, correct a rough draft of a letter, and answer several questions in arithmetic.

"The man that got up those questions had Haskins & Sells beat to death," Pfueger said to the alderman as the latter took the car to go up to the committee rooms. "Say, are there three es in 'possession,' or five? I took a chance on three."

"How do you answer the fifth one?" It says: 'Find the value of 7 4-11, minus 5 1-10, divided by 4 1-13, plus 6 2-5. The man that figured up that question is a dandy. Here's another question, 'If a note for $2,750 on interest at 8 per cent, dated June 10, 1900, be paid Jan. 8, 1903, what amount will be due?' I figured awhile whether I ought to let the loan shark have anything. Then I gave it up and wrote that the man lost the note in the Iroquois fire and nothing was due. Why wasn't I right?

"But I bet I won't be the only one who lost. A whole lot quit on the fifth question on fractions. If I could answer them all I would qualify for controller, or at least deputy. They might as well have handed us the budget. If they would ask what you get when a horse 18 to 5 for place wins, that would be something sensible."

The places pay from $1,000 to $1,200 a year, and sixty city hall employés are seeking them. The list of successful candidates probably will be posted by April 1.

THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1904.

Citizen Nye, Politics, and Deneen. From now on whenever there is an attack on Mr. Deneen by "the citizens and taxpayers of Chicago," the public will examine the machinery of the attack to find the concealed drive wheel and, when found, that drive wheel will be laid bare as the Lorimer-Jamieson organization. Some time ago a "citizen and taxpayer" filed a petition for an injunction restraining the Cook county board from making appropriations for the expenses of Mr. Deneen's office. The argument in behalf of the petition was that those expenses ought to be met not by the county but by the state. Mr. Deneen was said to be a state officer. The motive of the petition was supposed to be a legitimate disinclination on the part of a "citizen and taxpayer" to have himself assessed for the maintenance of an office which had no legal claim on the Cook county treasury. It now appears from Mr. Nye's affidavit that, although he is a "citizen and taxpayer," his connection with the petition for an injunction had nothing to do with either citizenship or taxes. It was simply an act of collusion with Mr. Blount of the Lorimer-Jamieson machine for the confusion, humiliation, and destruction of Mr. Deneen. The injunction was not a measure of county finance. It was a measure of state politics. THE TRIBUNE hopes that its readers will not allow this illustration of machine methods to pass unnoted.

Instruct All the Delegates. In the Sixth ward John F. Holland, who wants the republican nomination for alderman, has been indorsed by the Municipal Voters' league. The republican organization, on the other hand, indorses nobody. It is all for fair play. But notice. In at least four primary districts of the Sixth ward it is playing for "uninstructed delegates." What does the word "uninstructed" mean? It means that the will of the people is not indicated, and that when the convention is held the uninstructed delegates will be used by the organization exactly as it pleases. Why have primaries if having them does not result in getting an expression of opinion from the voters? Delegates who are "uninstructed" are delegates who will be "delivered." THE TRIBUNE has not as yet seen any reason for taking sides in the Sixth ward fight. It sees many reasons, however, for warning the voters of the Sixth ward against the trap which is being prepared for them. The root of our political corruption is that the people elect officials but do not nominate candidates. The nominating is done for them by "uninstructed" delegates. Let the voice of the people be heard before the critical moment instead of after it. Let the candidates be nominated by the people themselves. Let the delegates from each primary district be specifically instructed to vote for the man who is the choice of the people of that district.

Efficiency as Well as Honesty. The republicans of the Twenty-sixth ward in nominating an aldermanic candidate have to choose between Charles H. Wilson and William C. Kuester. Mr. Kuester is now a member of the city council. He has voted correctly and consistently. If honesty were all that is needed in an alderman he would be a good alderman. But the day has gone by when we were thrown into an ecstasy of delight by the spectacle of an alderman who did not sell himself. The happier day is dawning when we shall expect our aldermen to be municipal statesmen as well as incorruptible citizens. For the rôle of municipal statesman Mr. Kuester seems to have few qualifications. In the whole course of his service in the city council he has seldom or never addressed the chair. His official life has been signalized by no act of suggestion or of initiation. His record is a colorless succession of correct votes. Mr. Wilson, on the other hand, gives promise of active and intelligent participation in the important issues which are now before the city for settlement. The only argument which his enemies urge against him is that when he was town collector he accepted a salary of $3,000 voted him by the town board. It is claimed that this salary was in excess of the amount allowed by the state law. Such a construction of the statute in question is doubtful, even if not absolutely unwarranted. Besides, one can hardly blame Mr. Wilson for regarding the town board as an authoritative and responsible body. Mr. Wilson's election would increase the intellectual effectiveness of the city council.

Why Leave High Places Untouched? One cannot say that the graft committee's report touches only the high places. In fact, one has to admit that it displays considerable topographical knowledge and considerable tactical agility in locating all the high places and in circumventing them. Every now and then the reader thinks that it is headed for a high place and that it is about to impinge on the person of some high departmental official. Vain hope! The committee sees the official in time and makes a safe and decent circuit around him, leaving him unstormed and intact. This is the greatest defect in the work of the committee, which was launched with such a favorable breeze of popular approval and which was guided with such skill and courage by its pilot-attorney, Brode B. Davis. If the committee had put into its report everything that the labors of Mr. Davis brought to light this criticism could never have been passed upon it. Shall we have to say now that an investigating committee appointed by the mayor withheld its hand from the chastisement of the members of the mayor's cabinet? Why was there not a stronger and more specific denunciation of those limp, putty departmental heads who can be relied on by the mayor to do no grafting for themselves and who can also be relied on by him to do nothing to check grafting among their subordinates? Until these questions are answered the work of the committee, while valuable, will not be irreproachable.

By the way, who corrected the graft committee's report?

BECAUSE HE WAS A NEGRO.

The negro murderer, Dixon, would not have been lynched at Springfield, O., if the city and county authorities had not been inexcusably remiss. The mayor called on the local militia companies to defend the jail and the prisoner, but he was too slow about it and the jail was broken into and the prisoner shot to death before the militia could reach the spot. The sheriff stood on the jail steps and pleaded with the crowd, but an official who limits his activities to appeals never is able to disperse a mob. A riot gun like the one used by the sheriff of Vermilion county is much more effective than speechifying.

There have been eleven murders in Clark county in the last two years, and not one execution. That is put forward as one reason why the mob took the law into its own hands and made sure that at least one murderer should die. There would have been no such outburst of lawless indignation if the criminal had been a white man. The city, which has a population of 40,000, has a good sized police force, which would have held the jail against any mob which was not hunting for a negro.

Never is crime so abhorrent in this country as when it is committed by a black man. A murder committed by him is infinitely more detestable than one committed by a white man. The offense is so much more heinous that the community will not consent to await the slow processes of the law. It will not give the black murderer the benefit of a trial by jury. That is the white man's constitutional right, but it is not the black man's.

That it is a crime to be black was illustrated the day after the lynching when a mob raised the cry of "Burn the niggers out!" The mob proceeded to destroy by fire that part of the city in which the negroes lived. The colored people whose homes were burnt up were not responsible for Dixon's crime. They had committed no acts of violence because of his lynching. They were the victims of a race prejudice which is now stronger in some parts of the north than in the south.

What are black men and women who have made their homes in northern cities where colorphobia is rampant to do? They are treated as if they were jointly responsible for the crimes committed by one of their number. If ninety-nine out of a hundred are industrious and peaceful but the hundredth man is a criminal the ninety-nine must suffer because of his crimes. The blacks used to flee from the south to the north, which they looked on as the land of freedom and of peace. Have conditions changed so greatly that the inoffensive, industrious black man must go south to get out of the way of mobs?

ANOTHER PACIFIC ROAD.

There is to be another transcontinental railroad which will be, when built, and probably will continue to be, the northernmost of them all. The fears and doubts of the British stockholders of the Grand Trunk have been overcome and they have consented to commit that line to a $125,000,000 extension. That is the sum which it is estimated will be required to build from Quebec to Port Simpson on the Pacific, with the exception of a section between North bay, on Georgian bay, and Winnipeg, which the dominion government will take care of.

Whether the sum mentioned will be sufficient and whether, if it is, the outlay will be profitable are matters which the future must determine. When the Northern Pacific was begun there were many conservative Americans who admitted that the road could be built, but contended that there never would be much business for it to do. They said it was altogether too far north. They would have scoffed at the idea of the construction of a road still farther to the north. But the day came when the Canadian Pacific was built. That road has been able to get along during the winters without much difficulty. The Grand Trunk transcontinental line may encounter perplexing winter problems.

The business of the American lines will be little affected by the new road. That of the Canadian Pacific, no doubt, will be, for which reason it has been fighting the Grand Trunk in the dominion parliament, but without success. Parliament has approved of a plan of construction, and now that the Grand Trunk has accepted it nothing remains but to sell bonds and lay rails.

MURDERING AT LONG RANGE.

Mrs. Dye of Boone, Ia., was under arrest at that place for a few days on the charge of murder. It is alleged that she sent through the mails a box of poisoned candy to Miss Rena Nelson of Pierre, S. D., who ate it and died. Jealousy is assigned as the motive for the crime. It is asserted that Mr. Dye was unduly attentive to Miss Nelson and that his wife knew of it and resented it.

The authorities of South Dakota have asked those of Iowa to surrender Mrs. Dye to them for trial. Gov. Cummins has refused to give her up. The federal statute and the Iowa law concerning extradition contemplate the surrender of fugitives from justice—of a person who has fled from the state in which he committed a crime and has taken refuge in another state. Mrs. Dye never was in South Dakota and cannot have fled from there. In view of the language of the statutes and of decisions of the Supreme courts of the United States and of Iowa Gov. Cummins says regretfully that he cannot comply with the request of the South Dakota authorities.

Unless Mrs. Dye goes voluntarily to South Dakota she will not be tried there, Gov. Cummins says. She cannot be tried in Iowa, because if there was murder it was committed in Pierre when the candy was received and eaten. So if Mrs. Dye is guilty—she says she is not—she never can be punished in any human court. She was released from custody yesterday after Gov. Cummins decided she could not be extradited.

This case recalls a similar one, which made quite a stir about five years ago. Mrs. Cornelia Botkin, a resident of California, was accused of sending a box of poisoned candy through the mails to a woman in Delaware, who ate it and died. The Delaware authorities endeavored to extradite Mrs. Botkin, but failed. She was not a fugitive from justice. But she was indicted and tried in California, and the Supreme court of that state found nothing irregular therein because the penal statutes of California provide for the punishment of crimes committed "wholly or in part" within the state. That part of Mrs. Botkin's crime which consisted in mailing the candy was committed in California, and hence its courts had jurisdiction.

Presumably the criminal code of Iowa does not contain the same provision as that of California. In that event Gov. Cummins is correct in his statement that Mrs. Dye cannot be tried in Iowa. Either the extradition laws of the states should be amended so as to allow of the surrender of persons accused of such acts as those charged against Mrs. Dye and Mrs. Botkin or provision should be made for their trial in the states where they live. An amendment of the extradition laws is preferable, because it will not then be necessary to bring a number of witnesses from the state where the crime was consummated to the one where the first step towards the commission of the crime was taken.

ANOTHER BALKAN ROORBACK!

It was reported yesterday from St. Petersburg that "the czar has assented to the formation of a volunteer corps of 1,000 men, consisting of Bulgarians, Montenegrins, and Servians, to go to the front, on condition that they are thoroughly qualified in every respect for hard service and that they be seconded by their own armies."

If this be true it is the most important event since the declaration of war. The enlistment of Bulgarians, Servians, and Montenegrins is in direct contravention of all principles of neutrality. If the governments of the three Balkan states permit the enrollment of their citizens to fight against Japan they are committing an act of war against Japan. The czar is said to have accepted the services of these Balkan volunteers on condition that "they be seconded by their own armies." What does being "seconded" mean? That is a new phrase. Does it mean that the Bulgarian, Servian, and Montenegrin armies shall take the field against Japan? If so, is Japan attacked by two or more powers? Perhaps, however, the Balkan states are not considered "powers."

The presence of Balkan volunteers at the front would add new horrors to the war. These fighters have never deserved Napoleon's complaint—that "nowadays nations make war with rosewater." Montenegrins and Bulgarians fought with Russia against Turkey in 1877-'78, and they perpetrated on the Turks atrocities comparable only to the atrocities which the Turks perpetrated on them.

But there is another angle to this matter. Bulgaria is nominally the vassal of Turkey. Does Turkey consent to the Bulgarian army "seconding" the Bulgarian volunteers? If so, Japan probably would deem itself attacked by two powers, for, whether or not the Balkans are placed in the same category with Corea as nonpowers, Turkey cannot be dismissed so lightly.

Suppose, then, that this point is got around by Turkey entering a formal protest against Bulgarian action. Japan would then be in an excellent position to enlist a few Manchurian volunteers, if "thoroughly qualified in every respect for hard service." The "red bearded Chunchuses," for instance, of whom Viceroy Alexieff so profoundly disapproves, are qualified already for the hardest kind of service. Their enrollment would supply the greatest Japanese military need—good cavalry. Officered by Japs, they would, in the opinion of so experienced an observer as Bennet Burleigh, surpass the Cossacks.

With the Chunchuses on one side and the Montenegrins, etc., on the other the war would speedily lose even that slight scent of rosewater which hangs round it still. With the Chunchuses on the side of Japan, Russia undoubtedly would allege that China was not observing its pledges of neutrality. Then China would protest that it had no cognizance of any violation of neutrality, and would take steps to see that none occurred in the future. Russia wouldn't be apt, however, to heed such excuses. China might be dragged in. Then the deluge.

The most hopeful aspect of the Balkan enlistment story is the strong possibility that it is not true.

For more than an hour the two French duelists had fought desperately with their rapiers.

Suddenly one of them was seen to wince slightly.

"Hold!" exclaimed the referee—or whatever he is in French—stepping between the combatants. "What is the matter, sir?"

"One of my corns is hurting me," replied the duelist that had winced.

"Sheathe your weapons, gentlemen," said the referee. "Honor is satisfied."

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1904: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

AMONG England's colonial premiers there is now one, unique of his kind, who has worn British prison dress. Eight years ago Dr. Jameson, fidus achates of Cecil Rhodes and leader of the so-called Jameson raid into the Transvaal, was sentenced to death by the Transvaal courts. His life was spared only on the condition of his leaving Africa under English arrest, to be punished by the tribunals in England for the offense of leading a filibustering expedition into a country with which the British government was at peace at the time. Convicted, he was sentenced both to fine and to a term of imprisonment. During the first few weeks of their incarceration "Dr. Jim"—the name by which he is known throughout Africa and Great Britain—was, like his fellow prisoners, Sir John Willoughby, Lord Coventry's son, and others, compelled to wear the garb of the criminal, but subsequently they were permitted to resume their own habiliments and their lot was alleviated. Today Dr. Jameson is prime minister of the Cape colony, occupying the office of his old friend, Cecil Rhodes, and standing as no other man living had for English supremacy in south Africa.

Two other colonial premiers of Great Britain suffered imprisonment, Sir Charles Gavan Duffy, premier of Victoria, who spent some time in jail in Ireland, owing to his connection with the disturbances in the Emerald isle previous to his going out to Australia, while the other was Sir George Dibbs, premier of New South Wales, who underwent a year's imprisonment in one of the jails of the antipodes, and when premier was able to reward one of the warders of the jail for his kindness to him by making him governor thereof, while he presented to Joseph Chamberlain, when secretary of state for the colonies, a cane covered with carvings representing some of his work during his detention.

From this it will be seen that Servia, Bulgaria, and the republics of South America are not the only countries where the jail and the steps of the scaffold may lead to the highest offices of the state.

All the pictures now being published of Prince Louis Napoleon, who is to command the Russian cavalry in Manchuria, represent him with a close cropped beard. Yet he shaved off the latter some two years ago, and has merely retained his mustache, which is jet black and heavy, and a small growth of hair on the chin, which, together with the general shape of the head, the tone of the complexion, and the reposeful, almost phlegmatic, expression of the face, leave a fleeting but unmistakable suggestion of Napoleon III.

It is not true that Prince Prosper of Arenberg has been acquitted and set free as the result of the third trial to which he has just been subjected for a cowardly and brutal murder perpetrated under circumstances of frightful atrocity some years ago in Africa. At the first trial the prince was condemned to death. This was commuted, and then a second trial was ordered, and he was sentenced to fifteen years' penal servitude, which was mitigated to fifteen years' ordinary imprisonment. About a year ago a great scandal was created by the stories circulated as to the privileges and advantages which he was allowed in prison and which led to the dismissal of the principal officers of the penitentiary. But the investigation in connection therewith brought to light such extravagances and eccentricities of conduct on the part of the prince, even in jail, that this, taken in conjunction with his record prior to his departure for Africa and his conduct in the colony, raised doubts as to whether he had not all the time been insane.

Accordingly, another trial was ordered, and the testimony produced there was such that he was pronounced irresponsible, and, while acquitted of felony on that score, yet was relegated for the remainder of his days to an asylum for the criminal insane, and from which he will never emerge. He does not recover his liberty. He merely exchanges a fifteen years' term in a penitentiary for a lifelong incarceration in a state asylum for the criminal insane, while the grand old family of which he is a degenerate scion is merely spared the stigma of felony from its annals and from its escutcheons.

The prince is a younger brother of the duke of Arenberg, between whose honors and himself there is but the life of the little boy of the duke. The latter made his headquarters until recently at Brussels, where he owned a magnificent and historic palace, which has now, I believe, passed into the possession either of the Belgian government or of the city of Brussels. Henceforth he will make his headquarters in Germany, where he occupies seats in the houses of lords of Prussia, Würtemberg, Bavaria, and also, I believe, in Austria. His family is one of those mediatized or formerly sovereign ones which still retain the right of marriage with royalty on a footing of equality.

King Edward has been twice to call on Lady Curzon since her return to London from India, and the queen received her most graciously and even affectionately at Buckingham palace. In fact, she has been overwhelmed with attentions since her arrival in England. Although Lord Curzon, who will join her in May, is slated to return to India for a further term of office as viceroy in the fall, yet it is unlikely that the project will be carried into execution. For it is almost certain that between now and the autumn the cabinet will go to pieces, and in that event the liberal administration under Lord Rosebery, which would undoubtedly take its place, would certainly insist on having a man of its own political ideals as governor general of India rather than a tory such as Lord Curzon. The fact that Lord and Lady Curzon have compelled the United States ambassador to vacate their mansion in Carlton House terrace indicates that they do not propose to return to India. For if they had merely intended to spend a few weeks—that is to say, only the summer—in England, they would certainly have rented a furnished house for the season, or else go to a hotel, rather than force Ambassador Choate to terminate his occupation of their mansion, in which he was anxious to remain as long as he continued United States envoy to the court of St. James, and for which he was paying them a large rent.

The health of both Lord and Lady Curzon has been much impaired by their residence in India, and my own conviction, based on letters from London, is that neither of them will return to the east after the viceroy comes home in May.

Lord Curzon, by the way, is the only one not actually a member of King Edward's family who has the chain of the Royal Victorian order. In fact, all the other wearers of the chain are monarchs or princes of the blood, with the exception of the dukes of Argyll and of Fife, one of whom is the brother-in-law and the other the son-in-law of the king. The chain of the Victorian order is a grade still higher than that of the knight grand cross, and the cross of the order, instead of being worn suspended to a ribbon, is hung around the neck by means of a gold chain precisely in the same manner as the cross of the order of Hohenzollern, conferred by the German emperor. Lord Curzon received this altogether exceptional distinction from King Edward at the time of the coronation durbar, when it was handed to him in the name of Edward VII. at Delhi by the duke of Connaught.

Until her husband's accession to the throne, Queen Alexandra and her daughters when in London were frequent attendants at the Sunday evening service of several well known metropolitan churches, favoring more particularly those where the ritual was of the character known as high church. Since Queen Victoria's death, however, she has altogether abandoned this practice, and when in London confines her churchgoing to one of the two royal chapels, either at St. James or Marlborough house, or to the so-called "service room," which is really a private chapel, at Buckingham palace. King George IV. used it as a music room.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO.

A Foretaste of Spring.

Th' first warm day that comes, I like to potter 'round outdoors
P'tendin' that I got to do a mighty lot o' chores.
But reely it's to get a taste o' south wind on my lips—
The south wind, full o' blossom breath and honey tang that drips
Out o' th' flowers somewhere else. There ain't no better thing
Than potterin' around outdoors th' first warm day in spring.

I like to climb th' hill an' see th' medders fast asleep,
An' know, a'ready, all th' grass waits for th' word to creep
Up to th' air; an' daisies, too—they're ready, every one,
To wake and climb an' wave their hands a "howdy!" to th' sun.
An' way out there acrost th' fields where Miller's woods commence
I see a certain sign o' spring—a stretch o' whitewashed fence.

A whitewashed fence—a common thing to warm a fellow's heart;
It ain't nowise a purty thing, nor yet a work o' art—
But don't you see it's just as if th' farm had up an' gone
An' fixed itself for spring, with its best bib an' tucker on?
Then mebbe there's a robin come to chirp an' show its vest—
A woman robin! on th' move, house huntin' for a nest.

Th' crick is brimmin' full—it wants to climb its banks an' see
Th' signs that spring's a-comin', an' it's jolly as can be.
An' then, acrost th' medders comes a song that's kind o' blurred—
A song that's sung so far away you can't make out a word;
But still, you sense th' reason why somebody wants to sing
If you can potter 'round outdoors th' first warm day in spring.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS.

TENNYSON'S SUPPRESSED POEMS.

Some Little Known Verses of the Late Laureate.

A book of considerable value to the student is "TENNYSON'S SUPPRESSED POEMS," collected by Mr. J. Thompson. (Harper & Bros.) Unlike many of the poets of his own and the preceding generation, Tennyson was surrounded by friends as anxious as he for his fair fame. In consequence poems which threatened at the time to detract in any way from the poet's fame were allowed to rest undisturbed in the columns of newspapers and magazines. It is from such sources that Mr. Thompson has gathered the contents of the present volume.

Our first observation is the large number of sonnets. As we pass from one to another we become more and more convinced that the sonnet was a form of poetical expression ill suited to Tennyson's genius. He never acquired the art of singing gracefully through the cramped measures. There was scarcely room for the similes, hidden metaphors, and glowing descriptions so characteristic of his best work.

Though we regret that there are many poetical attempts so flippant and trivial as to seem unworthy of Tennyson's signature, we find four verses which opened "A Dream of Fair Women" in the edition of 1833. In the second, 1842, edition they were suppressed. Why, it is impossible to say. Surely not because of any lack of artistic merit. FitzGerald pronounced them "a perfect poem by themselves." We quote in full:

As when a man that sails in a balloon,
Downlooking, sees the solid, shining ground
Tilth, hamlet, mead and ground;

And takes his flags and waves them to the mob
That shouts below, all faces turned to where Glows ruby like the far up crimson globe,
Filled with a finer air:

So, lifted high, the poet, at his will,
Lets the great world flit from him, seeing all,
Higher thro' secret splendors mounting still,
Self-poised, nor fears to fall.

Hearing part the echoes of his fame,
While I spoke thus, the seedsman, Memory,
Sowed by deep furrowed thought with many a name
Whose glory will not die.

The poem opening the book is "Timbuctoo," which won for its author the chancellor's medal at the Cambridge commencement, 1829. Tennyson was but 20 years old at the time, and the production is one of which he might well be proud. With all its faults, it heralds the coming master artist.

With the exception of these two poems, there is, perhaps, little else in the book of any intrinsic merit. Yet its publication will scarcely detract from the poet's fame; they but demonstrate the true sensitiveness of his artist's nature.

Child Life in Many Lands.

"Child Life in Many Lands" is a book edited by Dr. H. C. Trumbull, containing descriptive accounts by twenty-four different writers in as many different lands, of the peculiarities of child life in those of several countries. The book is a useful contribution to child study, now at length so much in vogue. For one thing the essential oneness of the human family is made impressively clear. Love for little children is the peculiarity of no race, nor of any country. But, it is declared, nowhere else than in Christian countries are children taught to sing songs expressive of joyful emotions. Numerous illustrations help out the descriptive accounts. (Fleming H. ILLINOIS HISTORY IS WANTED.

Journal of Convention Which Framed First State Constitution in 1818 Is Being Sought.

Chicago, March 9.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In an address on the "History of Illinois and the State's Duty in Respect Thereto," delivered by the late Judge Elliott Anthony of Chicago before the Illinois State Bar association in 1892, he alluded to the fact that the proceedings of the constitutional convention which framed Illinois' first constitution in 1818 had been lost, and that no trace of them can be found. He stated that it is tolerably certain that the journal of this convention was printed, for in the session laws of 1819 appears an appropriation bill containing a charge of $156 "for printing the journal of the convention."

Judge Anthony was of the belief that somewhere in the southern counties of this state, among the rubbish at the county seats, or among the musty collection of old books and papers of the public men of that period, a copy of this valuable document might be found if a systematic search should be made to discover it. The people of Bond, Washington, Madison, St. Clair, Monroe, Randolph, Jackson, Johnson, Franklin, Union, Pope, White, Edwards, and Crawford counties were requested to make a search for this valuable document, and report to the secretary of state.

Many years have passed, and it is not known whether any further light has been thrown upon this. Since then considerable progress has been made in historical research, so necessary in the state of Illinois, and the State Historical society has been formed.

Judge Anthony was interested in historical information particularly appertaining to the northwest, and he will always be remembered as a man who spoke and wrote many earnest words in furtherance of the history of this state. Perhaps some of THE TRIBUNE'S readers in the southern counties will take interest in this inquiry and give you information upon this subject. Yours truly,

ADOLPH MOSES.

The Buck Private as a Seal Poacher.

"I WAS was stranded at Hakodate, on the island of Yezo, the second in size of the Japanese islands and the most northerly," says O'Reilly, the buck private, late of the Sixth, U. S. A. "I had been teaching an English high and academic school over at Moji, where the Japanese coal fields are, but business was poor with me and I had closed up the shop. The cause of the higher education in the English branches was in a bad way. And there I was with 15 cents, Mexican, in the pockets of my kimono, so to speak, and Frisco more miles away across the Pacific than was pleasant to think about. Also I possessed a thirst and got hungry three times a day with painful regularity.

"So one day while I was nosing around the water front in that free port of Hakodate comes to me one Clark, a tall man with one eye and a nosy New England brogue.

"'How's tricks?' says Clark, feeling his way.

"'I'd jump through a hoop, stand up on my hind legs, and bark and roll over and play dead for something besides rice to eat,' says I.

"'Can you shoot?' says Clark, pursuing the subject further.

"'I was eighteen months in Lawton's scouts,' says I, answering his question the best I could.

"'Then you can hit a silver quarter in the middle as far as you can see it,' says he. 'You're my man. An' you can keep your mouth shut, too,' he says. 'What do you say to a little cruise up Sakhalin way in the Nanki Po?'

"I knew the Nanki Po for a little brown painted, thirty ton schooner which had been lying there in Hakodate harbor for two weeks, having little or nothing to do with anybody until one of the big ships came in bound for Frisco. Then there were long boats going back and forth between the Nanki Po and the Frisco liner, and it didn't need a wise man to know that the Nanki was getting rid of something she hadn't ought to have had on board. Of course it was sealskins poached under the noses of the Russians at the seal rookeries about Sakhalin island, and, of course, this Yankee man, Clark, was anxious to get back for another load before the young seals got big enough to take care of themselves, and the mother seals were hard to get close to.

"'What's the pay?' I asks.

"'Twenty dollars, Mexican, for every skin you turn in in good condition,' he says, 'and you're found besides. The hash is good on the Nanki Po, too. Plenty of salt horse and other good things to eat,' he says.

"'And you furnish the gun?' I asks.

"'Yes,' says Clark, 'I'll get you whatever you want in the way of a fowling piece and we'll sail for Sakhalin tonight.'

"There were four of us hunters on the Nanki Po, with a white man as boat pusher for each one of us. Then we had a crew of five Japs and grub enough on board to last for sixty days, though we didn't figure on staying out more than two weeks.

"'I know a place on the north side of Sakhalin where we can kill 200 skins in three days,' says Clark. 'All we've got to do is to steer clear of the gunboats. They're out after us hot this season.'

"There was no moon that night and mighty little wind, but just after 1 o'clock Clark up with the sails and puts out of the harbor. There was a Jap gunboat whose duty it was to catch seal poachers lying at its anchor not a quarter of a mile away, but we slipped by it without stirring up any trouble. Next morning we were well on our way. Clark made all of us white men stay below decks, and he staid down there in the hold most of the time, too, so that if we passed anybody he would take us for nothing more than a Jap fishing boat on its way to the northern fisheries. That would explain, too, the presence of the four good sized boats which lay on the schooner's deck. They were really intended for the seal hunters, one for each of us and his boat pusher.

"Once or twice we made out the white hull of a Russian gunboat on the horizon, and, though we had no skins on board, yet we ran far out of our way to avoid them. Off the northern coast of the island of Sakhalin, which island was ceded by Japan to Russia, and on which there is a colony of desperate convicts, there lie a lot of little islands, too many to name or attempt to keep track of. On one of these tiny islands there was a big seal nursery, and from a long way off we could see the seals galloping up and down in the surf. Of course, it was in the closed season and strictly against international law to lay hand on one of them. But old man Clark paid small attention to laws, international or otherwise, when they interfered with his regular business, which was seal poaching, with an occasional smuggling trip as a side line.

"He ordered the four of us hunters into the small boats, and with pushers to keep the boats moving we started off after the seals. A seal hunter, of course, must shoot his seals through the head and not use more than one bullet, so as to save the skins. That day the four of us got more than forty good skins and that meant for me a trifle more than an even hundred in good money of the United States. I can tell you that makes me feel almost like I was back again at my home in Chicago. A few more days of that sort of work would give me money enough to go back to Frisco in the first cabin and travel across the country in a palace car.

"And our luck kept up. For five days we simply went out in the morning and butchered seals as fast as we could carry them out to the schooner, and most of the nights we worked stripping off the hides and packing them away out of sight down in the hold. Inside of a week we had our load, as much and more than the Nanki Po was fit to carry. But Clark was a greedy soul and couldn't bear to pull out while there was an inch of space left on board. When he finally got ready to run back to Hakodate my share of the cash was more than $500. I had made up my mind to go on no more seal poaching trips. I knew it was dangerous work and besides it was a bloody business I didn't like.

"We never carried a light at night on board the Nanki Po for fear of attracting attention, and the first night out from the seal nursery with our load of furs we got safely far down towards the southerly end of Sakhalin. Morning came and found us lying in a dead calm. Worse than that, we could see a small steamer making towards us and not more than ten miles away. Clark kept all the white men below decks while we studied that steamer long enough to make out that it was a Russian gunboat patrolling for just such craft as we were. Pretty soon a breeze sprung up and then we started to run for it. But the Russian had crept up close enough by that time to fire a shot across our bow with an accuracy of aim which promised that we would be sunk if we didn't pull up and submit to search. So Clark pulled down his sails and we waited. Clark tried to get rid of the skins by dropping them overboard, but he soon saw that he was being watched too closely to make that trick possible without detection.

"The Russian came on board, took possession of the Nanki Po, put us all under arrest, and with a Russian crew started to sail it over across the Japan sea to Vladivostok. There the Nanki Po was confiscated as a poacher and sold at auction, and all of us hunters and boat pushers were given long terms in the prison at Vladivostok. Clark and I were finally set to work on the forts around the town. One day we escaped by dropping down into a deep gully, where the guards couldn't get a fair shot at us. We ran down to the water side until we came to a Chinese sampan moored to the shore, with a couple of Chinks aboard of it. It took us about a minute to tie the Chinks and gag them and take their Chinese clothes off them. Then we hid the two Chinamen in a sort of cave near the shore, where they wouldn't be easily seen, and put off in the sampan. Clark stood up in his Chinese clothes and worked the big sweep oar at the stern and I lay down flat on the bottom out of sight. It was getting dark as we started, and Clark steered by the lights of a big English steamer which was lying at anchor out in the harbor. We got up alongside it without attracting any attention, and first Clark, then I, climbed up the anchor chain and finally got on board. The lads of the crew, when we told them we were escaping from a Russian prison, were all for helping us, and they hid us away in the coal bunkers until the ship had been searched next day and no trace of us discovered. For three days we had nothing to eat, and we were glad enough when the ship put out to sea and we dared to show ourselves.

"We got away from the ship at Kobe, Japan. Clark started right away to work his way back to Hakodate, ready to sign for another seal poaching trip. But no more of that in mine. It's no fun doing time in a Russian prison."

ED HOWE ON WEBER AND FIELDS.

Atchison Globe Editor Sizes Up Company and Performance Both Artistically and Financially.

Lillian Russell is as pretty as it is possible for a woman of 44 to be, and as clever, but she is not as great a singer as we expected to hear. And there is one blemish in her mouth; while singing she twists it. Without this blemish she would certainly get $2,000 a week; they say she gets $1,150 now. Without her years she would be an angel. We thought her waist a little large, but she is 44.

The cleverest man in the company, in many ways, is Charles J. Ross. Louis Mann is also immensely clever, the best actor in the company. Pete Dailey didn't cause anybody to fall dead.

If we ran the show, we would reduce John T. Kelly's wages; how he became famous will always remain a mystery to us. Mabel Fenton was fair; hundreds like her.

What about Weber and Fields? Fields is a pretty fair "Dutch comedian," but Weber is ordinary. We doubt if his closest friend will claim that he is a notable actor. No doubt he is a man of ability as manager; certainly his great success would indicate this. There is something amateurish about Weber. It seems to us that we have seen dozens of Dutch teams equal to Weber and Fields. What they did was neat and clean and well done, still, they did not impress you as great. Louis Mann impressed you as great; so did Lillian Russell, so did Charles J. Ross, so did the scenery, so did the chorus, but we are still unable to understand the greatness of Weber and Fields.

But we can find hundreds of men who can beat Weber as a Dutch comedian, and we would not be compelled to pay them over $20 a week.

The performance of Weber and Fields was satisfying, but it was not great, and Weber was the weaker of the two. Lillian Russell was worth $3, so were Ross and Mann, but we have seen actors equal to Weber and Fields, and Pete Dailey, and John T. Kelly, and Mabel Fenton for a dollar.

What She Thought.

[Washington Correspondence New York World.]

A gray haired woman, thin and vinegar faced, was listening to the testimony of President Smith at the Smoot hearings.

Smith had just sworn he had five wives and forty-two children.

"The brute!" said the gray haired woman. "To think of a polygamist like that being out of jail!"

"Perhaps, madam," said a bystander, "his wives do not object."

"Certainly not!" she snapped. "Any woman who is fool enough to marry a man is fool enough to agree to anything he does or says."

DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

Conducted by the School of Domestic Arts and Science of Chicago . . . .

LESSON No. 184—Domestic Science at the University of Illinois in 1879.

UPON request, the writer will give some statements in regard to domestic science as taught at the University of Illinois in 1879. A comparison may thus be made with the course as taught in various parts of the state and in Chicago at the present time.

The first president of the University of Illinois, the late Dr. John M. Gregory, who was responsible for the establishment of the course of domestic science at the university, was far ahead of the times in planning for the young women students. Miss Lou C. Allen, who was professor of domestic science, deserves great credit for her untiring efforts in the new field.

"This is the first school of domestic science of high grade, and with a complete course organized in the United States, if not in the world." The object of the school is stated as being "to give to earnest and capable young women an education, not lacking in refinement, but which shall fit them for their great duties and trusts," and "enabling them to bring the aids of science and culture to the all important labors and vocations of womanhood." It is assumed that "the housekeeper needs education as well as the housebuilder, the nurse, as well as the physician, the leaders of society as surely as leaders of senates, the mother as much as the father, the woman as much as the man." It is also stated that there is "no industry more important to human happiness and well being than that which makes the home" and "this industry involves principles of science, as many and as profound as those which control any other human employment."

The following is the course required in 1879 for the degree of B. S. in the school of domestic science.

FIRST YEAR.

1. Chemistry, trigonometry and drawing, British authors.
2. Chemistry, designing and drawing, American authors.
3. Chemistry, designing and drawing, rhetoric.

SECOND YEAR.

1. Botany, physiology, German or English classics.
2. Food and dietetics (simple aliments), botany and greenhouse, German or English classics.
3. Food and dietetics (composed aliments and principles of cooking, etc.), zoology, German or English classics.

THIRD YEAR.

1. Household esthetics, mental science, history or French.
2. Physics, medieval history, German or French.
3. Physics or landscape gardening, modern history, German or French.

FOURTH YEAR.

1. Household, esthetics, mental science, history of civilization.
2. Household science, constitutional history, logic.
3. Domestic economy, usages of society, etc.; political economy, home architecture, graduating thesis, or oration, or essay.

There was also a gymnasium where the students could have instruction in physical training.

While this course was broad and as practical as the times would permit, still of necessity a great deal of the domestic science studies was theoretical. The equipment did not permit of the practical application of many of the principles which were learned in the study classes.

Although this course was yet in its infancy, still the results were along the lines now claimed in the study of domestic science and arts. The students of the above course, when later they had homes of their own, found added dignity in the duties of the home. They looked well to home surroundings and to the health of the inmates. They did not leave the little children entirely to the care of hired help. In short, they found their pleasure not only in being housekeepers but in being homekeepers in a broad sense of the term.

Now, happily, the course of domestic or household science at the University of Illinois is more practical and the equipment greater, the department occupying the entire second floor of a building 116 by 45 feet.

BY ADA M. KRECKER

"CHOKES" WITH FUNNY "FACES" ARRIVE FROM THE SOUTH.

When nature made Jerusalem artichokes she probably was thinking about comic valentines. Either that or she wanted to see how funny she could be in molding queer expressions. A fair sized detachment of the artichokes arrived here yesterday from a Louisiana parish and everybody who was introduced to them had a hard time keeping a straight face. One man laughed so heartily that he complained of an ache in his side. The "chokes," as the vegetables are familiarly known in market circles, possessed every conceivable hump, and the combination of bumps on some of them formed expressions that were distinct travesties on human faces. And no two of the vegetables looked alike. Each had some characteristic that no other one possessed. Two of them resembled the Rogers brothers, minus the whiskers, and another reminded one of old Joe Jefferson's smile, although the "chokes" were the laughing stock of the market, they created quite a favorable impression with housewives who know how to prepare them for the table. The best way to cook them is to boil them a long time, as potatoes are boiled, and then slice or mash them up and serve with a butter sauce. They are also said to be good for the hiccoughs.

A mushroom farmer at Bowmanville came to town yesterday with a choice assortment of "button" fungi, the little mushrooms that associate so harmoniously with porterhouse steaks. He was in a talkative mood and proceeded to distribute a few paragraphs of information. "Judging the quality of a mushroom is quite as hard as distinguishing the difference between the real article and the undertaker's delight—the poisonous toadstool. A pretty sure way to tell is by the condition of the scallops. If they are unbroken it's reasonable to assume that the fungus is fresh and palatable. Broken or withered scallops indicate age or a broken down constitution."

"Saint Patrick's Day—

No more to keep." Nay, it is a delightful day to keep, with a luncheon.

Get a green wire Irish harp from a florist and cover it scantily with delicate vines, leaving its outlines and strings plainly to be seen. Stand it in the center of the table and let the vines trail about the table.

Use green candles, ribbons, little green flags, and bonbons, and put pistache nuts among your salted almonds.

Fill bonbon box facsimiles of raw potatoes or other suitable shapes with green candies, chocolate shillalahs, and set at each cover.

Mount photographs of the lakes of Killarney, Moore, the Irish poet, St. George, and the dragon, and other Irish subjects, and add a quotation from Moore for the place cards.

Cream of green peas.
Shadroe with sauce tastare.
Quail with peas and new potatoes.
Mint sherbet.
Potato salad. Lettuce sandwiches.
Pistache ice cream. Little cakes.
Coffee.

Serve the grape fruit with core removed and the space filled with rum and powdered sugar. Serve the soup in cups with whipped cream. Make the potato salad with one-third each diced cold boiled potatoes, blanched English walnuts, and stoned olives. Mix, sprinkle with French dressing, and chill. Add stiff mayonnaise and serve on lettuce leaves. Roll the sandwiches and tie with narrow green ribbon. For the sherbet add bruised mint and rum to lemonade; strain, color light green, and freeze, serving in glass cups. Serve the pistache ice cream in green melon molds and tie the cakes with green ribbons.

A Violet Luncheon—

Is peculiarly fit both for March and for Lent, the violet being March's own flower and of an aristocratic soberness in keeping with the Lenten season.

Use a violet embroidered center cloth, on which stand a rough green straw basket filled with bunches of violets. Tie each bunch with a narrow violet ribbon, and at the close of the meal pass the basket round the table for each guest to take a bunch. Use violet candles with a tiny wreath of natural violets at the base of each.

Use name cards in the shape and of the size of violets, each inscribed with a quotation about the violet.

Have a menu entirely without meat and lay the table without knives, with the forks on the right hand.

A suggestive menu begins with oysters, then bouillon, followed by halibut timbales with shrimp sauce, salmon croquettes with peas, then shad with roe, new potatoes, and cucumbers. After that nut and celery salad, olives, and almonds, and then violet ice cream in meringue shells, cakes iced in violet tints, and violet bonbons.

For the ice cream tint, a rich vanilla ice cream with violet fruit coloring, which a good grocer can supply; lay on the dessert plate a round lace paper, and upon this two open meringue shells purchased at a bakery. Put a heaping spoonful of cream in one, and put in the other shell, leaving a space of one inch between the edges. Put a narrow violet ribbon around and tie with a bow long ends. Stand the shells edgewise on the plates, with the bow on top, the cream being there filling them.

Place Plates—

Are fine but rarely elaborate, a centerpiece and a simple, delicately tinted or gilded border being quite appropriate.

The French oyster plate is merely a small soup plate; filled with chipped ice, it chills the oysters or clams to the right degree. It permits of more decoration, the oysters resting in shell shaped depressions and the rest of the plate decorated with marine views.

The English soup plate is larger and shallower than the French plate; both have a border decoration and are in best taste when of a white or creamy tint. The tureen is low and broad and is provided with a cover, notched to admit a ladle.

The fish set has a long and narrow platter, a sauceboat, and plates. It may have a simple border decoration on a pale background or it may be most elaborate, each piece different from the others and all blending harmoniously. The prices range from four to as many hundred dollars.

Entrée plates admit of fanciful decoration and much color, but are most elegant when of delicate, creamy porcelain, with gilded and reticulated edges. The place plates, being removed with the soup, are frequently used for this course.

The platter for the roast set, if of English make, has a depression at one end for the dish gravy, and the plates are broad and flat.

If salads are served in china they look delightful in the Italian faience. It is found in pleasing lettuce tints at moderate cost; the bowl is broad and flaring, the plates in leaf shape, slightly smaller than a breakfast plate.

The game set has a broad platter, a gravy boat, and one or two dishes for jelly, besides the plates. Forest scenes, birds and water fowl, marshes, sea, and sand dunes all lend themselves to the scheme of appropriate decoration.

A suitable dish for asparagus, with plates accompanying it, resembles the open halves of a shell; where they meet as on a hinge stands a sauceboat. This dish can be had in the Dresden and in the blue and white ware.

The Daughter of the House—

Whether wealth is or is not to be her portion is early taught to take her part in domestic councils.

She helps her mother in reducing the burden of notes, letters, applications for help and money that every day's mail brings pouring in to the breakfast table.

She writes and answers invitations, gives hints as to the disposition of the daily menu for meals, remembers the dishes papa likes and the boys have called for, and receives claimants on her mother's time and attention.

When she is acting in her mother's stead her youth and buoyancy throw off a hundred trifling annoyances of the household that through years of iteration have begun to wear heavily on the older housekeeper.

With the younger children she establishes the lovely ties of vice queen, carrying out the mandates of the maternal sovereign and making herself a delightful comrade of nursery and schoolroom.

To her father and grown brothers the rightly trained girl becomes a veritable blessing.

To her they carry confidences and worries which it does not seem expedient to convey to the generally overburdened mistress of the house.

She has her own allowance of pocket money and dress money and is taught the use of a bank account and a check book.

All this and much more does the athletic girl of culture today when she is the daughter of wise parents.

She does it because her parents, being wise, see in time that they render her happier in training her to be unselfish.

The Reading Woman—

Philosophy, poetry, fiction, humor, and science each play a grand and good rôle in literature.

The true humorist's gift of smiling while the world is weeping does not exclude him from sympathy with its deepest sorrow.

He is a moralist, pointing his truths and showing deeper meanings through a few flashes, which are as rare as they are beneficent.

A half hour with Cervantes, or Goldsmith, or Mark Twain acts as an effervescent draft on jaded senses, and, while it does not affect earnestness of purpose, it holds one from viewing alone life's dark side.

The critical faculty, the imagination, the poetic fervor, the sense of humor should all have their nourishment and exercise through the study and enjoyment of those who can give the best expression of them.

A course of the classics does not teach us to despise or to overlook the works of today's geniuses, but it helps to choose aright from them and to recognize excellence wherever met.

The woman who tastes of the real springs of wisdom, though seeking and finding it under great difficulty and under the pressure of care and all the limitations of a busy life, will come again and again and each time sip a larger draft.

WOMEN STAND ALL DAY IN LINE.

Several Are Overcome by Exhaustion While Waiting to Collect Rebate on Assessments.

Nearly 2,000 men and women, some of the later carrying children, yesterday stood in line for hours at the city collector's office. It was next to the last day on which to save the 1 per cent rebate the contractors allow on special assessments. Many brought their lunches, and they were lucky, as the line formed at 7 a. m. was not broken until the office closed at 6 p. m. Throughout the noon hour the office force was maintained, and the waiters remained, none daring to leave under penalty of being set back to the rear for another long siege of standing.

Several women were overcome. At 1 p. m. Miss Laura Talerow, 417 Nelson street, fainted from hunger and fatigue. Mrs. William Enger, whose tax bill listed property in the vicinity of Humboldt park, was attacked by heart failure at 3 p. m. She was attended by a health department physician.

More than 500 persons were waiting when the collector's office opened at 8 a. m. They were admitted to the office, seventy-five at a time. It took nearly half an hour to take care of each group. About 4 p. m. the line began to shorten, and all were taken care of before the office closed. A similar crush is expected today.

ROSSLAND, B. C., April, 1863: This man might be a soldier, a poet, a miner, a farmer, a clairvoyant, a speculator, a sailor; in fact, it would be safe to mention almost any occupation. He begins everything only to let others finish, and he is a pronounced globe trotter. The country of his birth is most unfortunate, and many trials in the home life are shown. Marriage would bring nothing much but sorrow. Though the earning powers are good, and at least one legacy will be his, he will not be likely to leave any wealth at his death. "Money burns a hole in his pocket." Speculation is most disastrous, and the immediate future will bring the hardest part of the entire life. So many planets in signs indicating a love of prominence show him to be best suited to a small community, and he will find western life most congenial. Lack of space prevents any further reading of this unusual horoscope.

HOPEFUL, August, 1884: You have great appreciation of literary thought and regard for persons in positions of honor and are fond of imitating them. Are inclined to be conventional and careless of the feelings of your immediate associates. Are fond of social life and lack sympathy and care for the domestic sphere. Are best adapted to public life, and should there be your education or literary ability. Some financial trials await you the coming year.

ADLETS, March, 1869: You are of a quiet disposition and are conventional and proud of personal abilities. Would love to make great attainments in education or journalism. Marriage is likely to occur more than once, but unless you cultivate unselfishness and sweetness of temper your home life is not likely to be the happiest. You are adapted to public life and would do well in a government position, in the musical profession, or in trade.

A. T. SO, August, 1888: You have a strong love nature and are so sensitive to surroundings and to the mental condition of those around you that you show a tendency to criticise and are likely to be considered eccentric. Your disposition to reason from externalities is likely to cause you to suffer a world of sorrow through misplaced affections. Cultivate the habit of looking at things in a practical way. The planets are now in a position to cause much worry and anxiety for several years.

ETHEL M., October, 1874: You have a mind active in all directions, with special love of music, art, and science. You are a vigilant student and are adapted to teaching; also the best of horoscopes for a nurse or physician. You are circumspect in external life and habits, but your dislike of physical labor would make it hard to submit to conditions of poverty, so that you are likely to suffer much sorrow from being led by wrong associates. Cultivate concentration and determine to finish one thing before beginning something else. You will be likely to make two most happy marriages, and, if not already married, are certain to marry this year. You will gain much by inheritance.

GERTRUDE, Oct., 1868: You are governed by intuition and have ability to be successful in almost any pursuit. Have more tendency to mental than physical exertion. Have musical talent and would do well in that line. Marriage is likely to be a succession of shadows and sunshine. The end of the life will be most prosperous and some legacies are likely to fall to you in later years. A period of prosperity awaits you the coming year.

WALTER O. SYDNEY, April, 1888: You have a predisposition to anxiety and worry, especially if you are not making money. Are also sensitive to inharmonious conditions. Are best fitted by nature for teaching and writing, also have musical talent, which can be cultivated to good advantage. Unless you exercise great care in the selection of a partner in marriage you are likely to be unhappy. Children will be a source of comfort. A most fortunate period for marriage or business prosperity will begin this year.

JOHN JONES, December, 1888: You are thoughtful of others, kind and sympathetic. Are adapted to the medical profession and to the law. In whatever calling you choose you will succeed best where you can mingle with many people. A position in the employ of the government or with a large corporation would be suited to you. There is also some talent for the stage. You will inherit several legacies and are likely to have some litigation with regard to your inheritance. You should cultivate courage and self-assertiveness.

JESSIE M., May, 1889: You have a strong will, are ambitious and worldly, are not inclined to be domestic, and are positive about having your own way. Are certain to marry twice or perhaps three times, and are likely to suffer much from the results of your own independence and lack of deference to conventional rules and customs. You are adapted to business life, would make an excellent stenographer or bookkeeper. You are also capable of high attainments in the educational world. The planetary signs at present are favorable.

G. B. A., General Delivery, Chicago: For the first week or two I asked for the bona fide names and addresses of persons requesting horoscopes, but it is no longer required and few send them of their own free will. Those that I have I retain as confidential.

TRIXIE A. B., December, 1863: You have fine intuitions, keen and quick perceptions, and ability quickly to weigh everything in the balance of reason and decide with accuracy. You are usually cool and quiet, yet prompt and active in mind and body. You are adapted to business, education, science, or literature. Physical labor is almost a necessity to one of your energetic nature. Marriage is certain to occur more than once, and the married life is shown to be fortunate rather than otherwise. The next few years will bring some financial worries, but the coming year will usher in a good transit of Jupiter, which will benefit your health and home life.

LUCY A.: "I have been engaged to a young man since last September. Monday night three weeks ago I went to a concert accompanied by another young man, as he said he would have to work late. After removing my wraps and being seated I found that he sat directly in front of me with another young lady, which of course hurt me very much. So whenever he tried to speak to me I would not look at him and kept out of his way for the rest of the evening. Then he sent word that he was not with the young lady. Whereupon I sent an apology. He has been to see me once since, but I was not at home, so he hasn't been since, nor have I heard from him. What am I to do? Please help me if you can, as I am nearly heart broken." If you have not already written your betrothed I would send him a note explaining that you did not know he was coming the night of his latest visit, else, of course, you would have been at home, and telling him that you hope he will quite understand this and come soon again. If you have already written him and have not heard from him I know of nothing to do except to wait for developments. Give him a good chance and be absolutely gracious when he comes. If you have a brother who associates with your fiancé he might be able to do a little for you. Mend your breaking heart and be happy again.

MAGDALENE, June, 1875: Horoscope or no horoscope, you may be depended upon to secure your rights and more than what rightfully belongs to you in most cases, as you have the fiery Mars exactly rising in a sign of his own nature. You will achieve everything but love, and that you might have if you would cultivate some degree of thoughtfulness for the rights of others. Marriage is likely to occur two or three times, and the fall of 1904 will be quite sure to see you a bride. Want of money will make much trouble for about four years. You will gain much by inheritance, as at least three legacies are clearly indicated.

JUNE C., January, 1887: Your horoscope shows you to be hardworking and ambitious to gain a position of prominence. Although of a free and generous disposition, you will not be likely to lack for money as you have the best of indications for wealth. Marriage will occur between 20 and 25, and will prove anything but a happy union. Your father is shown to be most fortunate for you, and you will make a serious mistake in thinking the husband will be anything like him, for this same husband will roam about from place to place to make a fortune, thus making your life one of constant change.

ADAH H. D.: Last week I had a little chat with you about the ponies running for you this year not to mention my happy acknowledments of your jolly invitation. Jupiter, the planet of good fortune, exactly on your meridian, allows me to say that the stars were lucky at your birth, promising a long life, much travel, an industrious, high minded husband, and much gain by inheritance after some litigation. Your love of extravagance is likely to make you feel blue and forlorn at times, and a bad transit of Saturn will keep you thinking so for some four years. But cheer up, you were born to come out ahead. This year will be fortunate for the male members of you family.

TELL CHILD NOT TO STEAL, OMIT BIBLE, WOMAN URGES.

Miss Sniveley Tells Club It Is Better to Provent Theft of Hotel Spoons than to Give Scripture Lessons in Schools.

In the opinion of Miss Anna V. Sniveley, it is better to teach children of the public schools that it is sinful to carry away spoons and cups and saucers from hotel and restaurant tables than to teach them the bible. She was a speaker yesterday on "Religious Education," the topic of the Chicago Woman's club.

Miss Sniveley made her plea after Dr. Irs Landrith of the Religious Education association had declared bible teaching in schools was necessary for the preservation of the nation's moral character. Dr. Frederick E. Dewhurst had defended the schools against Archbishop Quigley's charge that they are Godless, and Miss Georgia Chamberlain had pleaded for bible teaching, with Jonah and the whale and such stories eliminated.

"The bible scarcely can be taught without dogma and sectarianism," she declared. "and I believe it would be far better to teach the children not to carry away spoons, cups and saucers, and such things. If children were taught this principle they would not steal after they grow up. Small thefts often lead to larger crimes. Teach them not to lie and not to steal, and you have laid a good foundation. The bible cannot be taught by inexperienced teachers."

SECRETARY WILLIAMS ILL

Stricklett, Comiskey's New Pitcher, Displays an Unusual Curve.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 9.—[Special.]—Secretary Williams of the Chicago National league baseball team is suffering from a severe attack of erysipelas as a result of a too energetic work with the 2 year olds in yesterday's practice. Williams got out in a uniform and batted flies in the hot sun all morning. Last night he was taken sick and a physician was called. Lundgren, who rooms with Williams, was up a good part of the night with the patient.

All the regular ball players were in fine shape today except Tinker and O. Williams. The former had a blister on his foot and the latter a slight strain in his leg. These troubles did not prevent them from practicing this morning, however.

Selee divided the men into two squads, which alternated in fielding and taking batting practice. Much attention was paid to bunting and getting down to first. The hit and run game will be a feature with Chicago this season. While most of the men were working on the diamond the pitchers loosened up their arms on the side. They did only easy work in the main, however. But Lundgren worked out in fairly good shape with Kling, likewise Brown and O'Neil put up a fairly stiff battery practice.

Oscar Jones, the Brooklyn pitcher, and Bill Bernard, the Cleveland slab artist, were both out again and helped the Chicagoans along. Tomorrow Selee will choose two teams for a short, free practice game. The regular infield and outfield, with Kling to catch, Weimer and Wicker to pitch, will make up one team. The other will line up as follows: Corridon, first base; Graham, second base; Moriarity, third base; O. Williams, shortstop; Brown, center field; Briggs, left field; Howard, right field; O'Neil, center; Lundgren, pitcher.

PRACTICE IN A SAND BREEZE.

White Sox Are Handicapped—Stricklett's "Spit Ball" Puzzles the Batters.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Marlin, Tex., March 9.—[Special.]—In spite of their grueling work of the previous three days, the White Sox showed little diminution of speed in today's practice. Four solid hours were devoted to the routine established, but the general results were not as beneficial as yesterday because a stiff breeze, well laden with sand, interfered with the batting and kept the players from working off superfluous flesh through perspiration.

Although the temperature was high there was no change in the program, but there was a general letting out of links by the players all round. The pitchers began curving the ball in practice for fair to get control. Stricklett, the coast showman, cut loose his famous "spit ball" for the first time, and demonstrated that it is a puzzle for batters. It is a slow ball which curves in the same direction as a lefthanded pitcher's out curve, and the only other right handed pitcher who ever acquired it was Virgil Garvin. His was of a different effect at that.

Interest among Marlin folks is all centered in tomorrow's exhibition game here between the whites and the blues, owing to the warm rivalry which resulted from Sunday's games at Fort Worth and Dallas. Manager Callahan decided to break up the combination for fear the players might overexert themselves to beat their fellows. The makeup of the two teams and batting order for tomorrow's game follows:

Capt. Corcoran of the Wells street fire company of Chicago, who is here for a cure of his bronchial trouble, will umpire the game. The town will close tight to celebrate the event.

Secretary Fredericks received word today that President Comiskey would join the team in Dallas on Saturday. The game desired by Waco has been called off and instead the White Sox will split up and play two games each in Fort Worth and Dallas on Saturday and Sunday. They will then return here to stay until Thursday of next week, when they leave to play two games at Beaumont. Then on to New Orleans.

Concerning George Davis Manager Callahan said he would not try to use him in any of Saturday's or Sunday's games, but would let him work out here next week before getting into harness. He was much pleased with the prospect of having Davis and said he was confident it would influence Fielder Jones to join the club also.

Comiskey Goes to Texas.

President Charles Comiskey, accompanied by his wife, left last night for Marlin Springs. He has not yet heard from Fielder Jones, but expects a favorable reply. George Davis left New York yesterday and is due in Chicago this morning. He will leave for Texas tonight.

New Swimming Records.

Brookline, Mass., March 9.—Three swimming records were broken tonight at the public baths. Harry Lemoyne, the Harvard athlete, defeated C. M. Daniels of New York in the fifty yards scratch race, winning in :27 1-5, breaking the record by four-fifths of a second. In the 440 yards invitation race Daniels defeated Leslie G. Rich Jr. of Brookline in 6:05. The record was 6:10. A. M. McCormack of Brookline won the plunge for distance, 65 feet 7 inches, the best previous distance being 62 feet. A. Cook of Yale was second with 65 feet. Lemoyne defeated L. J. Goodwin in the 100 yards invitation in 1:02.

High School Board to Meet.

An important meeting of the high school board of control will be held this afternoon in the board of education rooms, when a joint meeting with the principals' association will finish up the work of adopting the new rules which are to govern high school athletics. Early in February a similar meeting was held, but less than half the work was finished. Several radical changes are expected from the present athletic system and it is said that the principals will be given much more power.

HOT RETORT BY HERMANN.

CINCINNATI MAGNATE SCORES FORMER FRIEND, B. JOHNSON.

Denies Outright That He Ever Consented for the American League to Play Exhibition Games at Ridgewood Park and Says He Is Tired of the Wrangling Over the Disputed New York-Brooklyn Date—Approves of President Pulliam's Statement.

Cincinnati, O., March 9.—Chairman August Hermann of the national baseball commission returned from New York today and emphatically denied the statement contained in the interview given out by President Johnson of the American league at Philadelphia, in which the latter was quoted as saying he had a conference with Hermann during which the latter had granted the New York American league club permission to play exhibition games at Ridgewood park. Hermann said:

"I never had a conference with Johnson relative to the playing of exhibition games at Ridgewood.

"Relative to the charge that the National league changed its schedule after it had been submitted to the American league, I want to say that Mr. Dreyfuss assured Johnson in my presence that that had not been done, and Johnson seemed perfectly satisfied with the explanation. The fact that there are two more conflicting dates in New York than the original dates called for is easily explained. It was discovered after the National league schedule had been adopted that the New York National league was short two games at home, and these had to be inserted in the schedule and caused the two additional conflicting dates. Johnson is howling because we have arranged a schedule which lets the New York National league club open in Brooklyn. I don't think the American league has any right to dictate as to where and when our clubs should play after we have conceded to them everything they asked for.

"In conclusion, I want to say that this continued wrangling in the public press over the most trivial matters must be decidedly distasteful and tiresome to the public by this time. If there is to be organized baseball let this ridiculous talk cease and let us put in more time for the benefit and the welfare of the sport. I read Mr. Pulliam's interview with a great deal of satisfaction."

GAMES IN BOWLING LEAGUES.

Hall rollers effected another surprise in the Chicago league last night, winning three straight games from the Columbian Knights and putting them out of the running for first place in the tournament. Both sides felt the strain of the contest, and the scores were low.

Fred Clinch averaged 218⅓ and won the individual championship of the Illinois league. The Tosettis twice defeated the Ansons and cannot be beaten in the team race. In the Lake View league the Janssens won from the Primas, and the Racines set a new team score of 1,080. Medwtzky made 279, another best total of the season. Scores:

George D. Kent, playing from the 230 mark, defeated R. I. McGinnis [300], by 230 to 174 in Mussey's handicap balk line tournament last night. Kent played a fast game, while McGinnis could not get to going, besides which he encountered miserable luck. Kent, high run 37, average 5 15-43; McGinnis, high 31, average 4 6-42. C. F. Conklin [300] and C. M. Huntley [200] play tonight.

Thomas Foley opened his new room at 302-304 Wabash avenue yesterday, and at night his balk line tourney was resumed, Miller [155] defeating Harris [190] by 155 to 153. Adair and Ballard, both on the 155 mark, play tonight.

Johnson [145] defeated Lawrence [200] in Levy's billiard tournament last night by a score of 145 to 157. Tonight Kronthal [145] will meet Levy [110].

PROPOSE NOVEL GOLF PLANS.

Eastern Players Suggest New Method for Conducting the Amateur Championship at Baltusrol.

New York, March 9.—[Special.]—An entirely new plan for conducting the amateur championship is under consideration by the executive committee of the United States Golf association and stands a good chance of being adopted at the meeting on April 9 to consider the method to be used at Baltusrol in September. The new system, in accord with instructions given at the annual meeting last month, will begin with a qualifying round, but the arrangement of medal and match play proposed is entirely novel. The plan is to begin with an eighteen hole medal play round in which sixty-four will qualify. This set will meet again at thirty-six holes, medal play, on the second day, sixteen to qualify. Match play will begin on the third day, all rounds to beat thirty-six holes. This arrangement has met with the approval of all golfers to whom it has been submitted.

RAINLAND GOOD; KING CROKER BAD

AUDITOR HAS A WORKOUT

Goldblatt's Colt Finishes a Good Third to Port Royal and Luralighter.

New Orleans, La., March 9.—[Special.]—Two more Derby candidates were given public trials today in the mile handicap. They were Rainland, who gathered considerable prestige, and King Croker, who practically settled his chances adversely by running last in a field that was in no way equal to the class of horses he will have to meet in the Derby.

The race run by Rainland was impressive. He was third to Port Royal and Luralighter, to both of which he was making liberal weight concessions. Early in the meeting Goldblatt said his colt would win the big race of the meeting. Just now it seems he has a fair chance. He has had a long rest.

Trainer Robert Tucker arrived this morning to give Auditor his final preparation for the Derby. Today's business consisted of a strong work at a mile and an eighth, which was done in 1:55, the fractions being :24⅕, :36⅘, 48⅘, 1:01⅕, 1:14, 1:27⅘, 1:41⅕, 1:55. Although the colt was tired at the end of his work, Trainer Tucker expressed himself pleased.

MODICUM IS A FORM FLOPPER.

Fountain's Horse Surprises the Spectators at Oakland—The Mist Beats Two Year Olds.

Oakland, Cal., March 9.—[Special.]—Modicum, the Burns handicap winner, after making a poor showing in several races, came out today and captured the $1,000 handicap from start to finish. G. W. Trahern finished second, with Joe Lesser third. Modicum was 15 to 1 in the betting, and this sudden improvement called for some comment among racegoers.

A number of good 2 year olds faced the barrier in the 4½ furlongs dash. The Mist ruled favorite, and justified the confidence reposed in her, winning in handy fashion from Arisbe, with Salable third.

WILLE TO FIGHT JOHNSON.

STAR COLORED PUGILIST TO BATTLE IN CHICAGO TOMORROW.

He Agrees to Stop the Local Man in Six Rounds in the Bout Before the Battery D Club Which Takes the Place of the Carter-Wille Contest—Ashley Club to Give Its First Show Tonight—Herrera Getting in Trim Again—Cooley Knocks Out Driscoll.

[BY GEORGE SILER.]

Jack Johnson, colored heavyweight champion, and John Wille were yesterday matched to contest the windup at the Battery D show tomorrow night. The management had Kid Carter and Wille slated, but Carter's illness compelled them to change.

In Johnson the club secured the cleverest colored man in the business, and to offset his advantages in both weight and science he agreed to stop Wille in six rounds or forfeit the winning end of the purse. There is no doubt as to his ability to outpoint and outfight the local man, but there is a doubt as to his putting John down for the full count before the final gong. Wille, while not a topnotcher, is not easy picking, as was demonstrated when he met Marvin Hart and Jack Root, both of whom he held to draws. Awkwardly clever, a fairly hard hitter, and a good defensive fighter, he will make it interesting for Johnson—not in ability to hold him anywhere near even, but to stay the limit. This will be Jack's first appearance in this city since he developed into a star performer. The semi-final will bring together Tony Camponi and Tommy Burns.

The Ashley Athletic club, a new fistic organization, with an arena at Chicago and Hoyne avenues, will give its initial boxing show tonight. The windup will enlist Otto Sieloff and George Memsic, who will clash at catch weights. In the semi-windup will be seen Martin Judge and Mike Walsh. In the preliminary contests the following boxers have been paired: "Buddy" Glover and Kid Beits, Freddie De Laurie and Tom Jones, Jack Madden and Jack Fleming. Malachy Hogan will referee.

Aurelia Herrera, who is to meet Benny Yanger at the American Athletic club Monday night, was given a severe tryout yesterday by Eddie Santry, "Battling" Nelson, and Eddie Stern, his trainers, and he came out of the ordeal in good shape, which removed all doubts as to his condition. His hands, injured in his battle with Charley Neary, gave him no trouble. Yanger is working hard and is paying particular attention to his breathing apparatus.

Mike Ward, the Canadian champion, who arrived in town last Tuesday, and Jimmy Gardner, brother to George, were yesterday matched to battle at the Ninth ward guards' show at Twelfth and Halsted streets on March 17. Matchmaker Nate Lewis experienced some difficulty in getting Gardner to agree to the weight demanded by Ward, 140 pounds, 3 o'clock, as he can easily fight at 135 pounds. Jimmy is considered one of the best in his division in the east and accepted the weight conditions simply to get a foothold in the west. Ward has met the best of them and has victories over such known good ones as Buddy Ryan, Willie Fitzgerald, and Otto Sieloff. His last fight was with Joe Gans, who defeated him in ten rounds, the limit of the contest.

Joe Galligan and Kid Abel will furnish the windup at a boxing show to be held at the Apollo hall on March 16. The weight conditions demand the boys weigh 126 pounds at 3 o'clock.

The articles for the Buddy Ryan-Jack O'Keefe contest, scheduled to take place at the Waverly Athletic club on March 21, were signed by John Hertz, O'Keefe's manager, yesterday, and all the forfeits, $500 by each of the contestants and $250 by the club, were posted.

"Kid" Goodman, who will be remembered as having fought Harry Forbes and others in Chicago, arrived in the city from England yesterday. Goodman has grown some since last here and is now a full fledged featherweight, open to meet any one in his class.

Fred Cooley scored two victories over Jim Driscoll at McGurn's court last night. The pair were billed to contest the windup. It was a terrific affair as far as it went, but it did not go far enough. They went at each other like wildcats as soon as they hit the center of the ring, and before they got warmed up to their work Cooley sent Jim down and out. The spectators demanded more fight for their money, and Driscoll was induced to go on again, only to be sent down again for the full limit. The semi-final, owing to the slim attendance, was not staged. The first bout between Young Sullivan and Harry Clark went the limit to a draw, and Jim Winnie stopped the "Alaska Kid" in the fifth round.

Billy Woods a Winner.

San Francisco, Cal., March 9.—[Special.]—Billy Woods, the original strong man of the ring, cut down "Cyclone" Kelly to a sponge finish in five rounds at Oakland last night and demonstrated that he may be considered in line for championship possibilities. Phe preliminary was a farce, Patsy Hogan of Chicago putting out Spike Martin of Philadelphia in less than a minute, sending him to the mat three times.

New Division of Purse.

San Francisco, Cal., March 9.—[Special.]—A new agreement was made today between Young Corbett and Jimmy Britt in regard to a division of the purse in the fight on the 25th. The winner will take 65 per cent and the loser 35 per cent. Both men are training.

Attel Easily Knocks Out Haley.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 9.—[Special.]—Abe Attel easily disposed of Patsy Haley in the fifth round of what was scheduled to be a twenty round bout before the Whittington Park Athletic association tonight. Haley was the easiest kind of picking.

Rice Defeats Moran.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9.—Austin Rice defeated Tony Moran of New York in a ten round bout before the Indianapolis Athletic club tonight. The fight was tame. In a preliminary Jack Koerner defeated Eddie Stern.

Arthur McKnight a Starter.

New Orleans, La., March 9.—[Special.]—Capt. Carmody, general manager of the Union Jockey club, St. Louis, was a visitor at the fair grounds this afternoon and announced that Arthur McKnight, Richard Dwyer's former assistant, had been engaged to do the starting at the new St. Louis course, and that P. A. Brady would probably be presiding judge.

TRACK CONTESTS IN C. A. A. "GYM."

FIRE LADDIES WINNERS.

Defeat the North Side Hibernians in Tug of War; Other Events.

The Chicago Athletic association's carnival last night presented a medley of boxing, wrestling, fencing, and track athletics. The "miscellaneous sports" were purely in the nature of exhibition contests, except the tug of war between the Chicago fire department team and the North Side Hibernian team. The "fire laddies" won the contest amid the applause of the crowd that filled the big gymnasium.

The track meet between the C. A. A. juniors and Riverside High school resulted in a victory for the club team, which ran up 29 points to Riverside's 24 in the seven events contested. Raymond Thorne of the University High school, captain of the C. A. A. juniors, captured individual honors, winning eleven points. J. W. Ware, captain of the Riverside team, set a new gymnasium record in the 40 yard dash, which he ran in :04⅖.

Wrestling matches were held between Jack Nellegar of the C. A. A. and F. C. Freer of North Division High school, and between John Rooney, the "giant gripman" of the Chicago police force and Mort Henderson of Rochester. In the boxing matches, Gus Bezenah of Cincinnati met Nic Santors of Chicago, Mike Bartley of Chicago met Paddy Nee of Pittsburg, Mike Ward met Dick Patrick. All of the bouts were three rounds.

An exhibition of foil fencing was given by Miss Inez Lee and Capt. Frank E. Yates, and a broad sword contest was given by Otto Haler and Charles Lampert.

Wisconsin-Chicago Meet Entries.

Hard work in preparattion for Saturday's meet with Wisconsin—the last on the University of Chicago's schedule—was the program for the maroon track athletes yesterday afternoon. Coach Stagg and Capt. Blair have set their hearts on finishing out the winter indoor schedule undefeated. It was learned yesterday that in spite of the promising reports of a few days ago, Cahill, the injured miler, will not be able to compete against Wisconsin. The meet looks like a pretty even thing. The entries follow:

If You Have These Symptoms

Send For My Book.

If you want to feel better,
If you want more strength,
If you lack ambition,
If you can't do things like you used to,
If you lack confidence in yourself,
If your nerve—your courage—is leaving you,
If you lack vim, vigor, vitality,
If something is eating away your constitution, write to me for the book you need.

The book tells of my discovery. Tells how after thirty years I found the cause of these symptoms, and many others, given above.

The book tells how by scientific experiment I traced out the causes that bring on chronic diseases. It tells how I perfected my prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

I found invariably that where there was a weakness, the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality that the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found, I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of, but the vital organs' nerves, the inside—the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation. Then my real success began.

Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves. That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. After that I did not fail to cure one case in each hundred. In the extremely difficult cases my failures for five years were one in each forty treated. I found cancer incurable. Cancer is for surgery, not medicine.

Then how to get this prescription to sick ones everywhere was my thought. I must announce it in the public press. But, thought I, will they realize the truth of my discovery—the real power of Dr. Shoop's Restorative? Then a way came to me—like an inspiration. "I will offer it to the sick on trial. Then they will know I am sincere."

I wrote a reliable druggist in each city and village in America. They agreed to co-operate with me. Now by any sick one

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

Can be taken on trial. For a full month I will let you use it entirely at my risk.

Send no money. Just write me for the book you need. When I send it I will tell you of a druggist near by who will permit the month's trial. Use the Restorative a month. Then decide. If you say to the druggist "It did not help me," that will relieve you of any expense whatever. He will bill the cost to me.

This is my way of clearing your mind of all doubts as to what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do. No matter how prejudiced, you cannot dispute this absolute security I offer. You cannot resist an offer like this if you are at all sick.

If you have a weakness, write me. If you can't do things like you used to do them, tell me about it. Write in confidence. As a physician I will tell you a way to help. Get my book now—today.

Simply state which book you want and address Dr. Shoop, Box 937, Racine, Wis.

TRADING INACTIVE WITH SLIGHT CHANGES IN PRICES.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, March 9.—[Special.]—Barring inactive issues today's trading in the stock market resulted in only slight changes from closing prices of Tuesday. Prices declined a little and then advanced a little, with net results on the side of losses in most cases, but in such small proportions that fluctuations are practically without significance. In the first and last hours trading was moderately active, but in the intervening hours was monotonously dull. Total transactions amounted to only 183,000 shares. Denials of the purpose of the Pennsylvania to make further loans were not generally accepted, and the stock again was sold by bears. Pennsylvania fluctuated only half a point, closing unchanged.

Many commission houses are insisting more urgently than ever that the outlook is by no means encouraging and are cautioning their customers against taking the long side of the market. Arguments advanced to support the opinion that the market will go lower are numerous, while most of those who predict higher prices seem to base their view on the belief that the market must needs go up because it has gone down so long.

Closing loan rates: Erie first preferred, New York Central, Pennsylvania, and St. Paul, 1¼ per cent; Atchison common and preferred, Baltimore and Ohio common, Canadian Pacific, Consolidated Gas, Delaware and Hudson, and Union Pacific common and preferred, 1½ per cent; United States Steel preferred, 1½@1¾ per cent; Western Union 1¾; all others 1¾ per cent. Atchison common, Consolidated Gas, Pennsylvania, St. Paul, Sugar, United States Steel preferred in demand.

Money on call easy, 1¾@2 per cent; closing bid, 1¾; offered at 2. Time loans easy and dull, 60 days, 3 per cent; 90 days, 3@3½; six months, 3½@4.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, March 9.—Rates for money and discounts were little changed today. In addition to the Cape gold secured by the Bank of England £5,000,000 in gold will be received in a few days from India. Prices on the stock exchange were firmer owing to the growing belief that the settlement will pass without incident. Consols improved, lifting up home rails. Americans opened weak, reflected the idleness in New York, improved later, and closed steady. Grand Trunk was buoyant on account of the scheme for the extension of the road to the Pacific having been sanctioned at yesterday's meeting of the shareholders here. Closing stocks:

NEWS OF THE INSURANCE WORLD.

EDITED BY C. M. CARTWRIGHT.

Eastern News Telegraphed from New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin.

RETIREMENT IS NO SURPRISE.

Southern Loan and Trust in Omitting Fire Business in North Carolina Affects Rebates.

New York, March 9.—[Special.]—The retirement of the Southern Loan and Trust company of Greensboro, N. C., from the business of fire insurance is no great surprise to those who have been watchful of the southern underwriting situation. The company is one of a trio of stock mutuals which have operated in North Carolina some time, causing concern because of their failure to affiliate with the S. E. T. A., and its management made an occasional "grand stand" play by circulars and other literature on the subject of the North Carolina insurance situation. The refusal to collect 25 per cent advance and other curious breaks made from time to time, to say nothing of the premium dividend features, have been commented on frequently, and there are some who thought these companies ought to be allowed to dictate North Carolina tariffs. The belief now is they will give no more trouble in the future, and the premium rebate feature in North Carolina is dead.

The Queen Insurance company, through its southern department at Atlanta, Ga., has appointed Janvier & Moss second agents at New Orleans, La., succeeding Fredericks, Palfey & Redersheimer.

A special committee will visit Louisville, Ky., this week in behalf of the union to confer on matters of mutual interest. It is expected as a result improvements will follow of direct interest to agents and companies.

At today's meeting of the New York fire insurance exchange the proposed amendment providing that the secretary-treasurer need not be a member of the exchange was adopted. The following recommendation of the rate committee was adopted:

	Building.	Contents.
To nine stories, inclusive...........	10	14
Ten to fifteen stories, inclusive......	27	40
Sixteen stories and over............	27	45

If no transient guests are received deduct 3 cents from buildings and contents. The effect of continuing the use of this "sliding scale" schedule is that many fireproof apartment hotels are rated higher than if they were regular transient fireproof hotels, the latter being rated under the schedule adopted in January, 1903. To remedy this it is proposed to rate the fireproof apartment hotels by the fireproof hotel schedule with 20 per cent deduction from the resulting rate, such deduction to be only 10 per cent in case the apartment hotel keeps a public register. This would result in fireproof apartment hotels being rated higher than fireproof apartment houses and not so high as regular transient fireproof hotels. For example:

	Building.	Contents.
Fireproof apartment houses, eleven stories or over..................	10	14
Fireproof apartment hotels (average of 40 risks).....................	162	244
Fireproof (transient) hotel (average of thirty risks)..................	332	504

Therefore, the rate committee recommends that the manager be instructed to rerate fireproof apartment hotels by the fireproof hotel schedule with 20 per cent deduction from the resulting rate except where there is a public register kept (for transient business), when the deduction shall be but 10 per cent. The new rate will be promulgated as soon as computed and the same be regarded as changes in rate without a change in hazard, no pro rata cancellations of existing policies being allowed to take advantage of the new rates.

The Texas Supreme court has affirmed the judgment of the Court of Civil Appeals in the case of Monger and Henry against the Delaware Insurance company from Bell county involving the question of the "iron safe" clause in a fire insurance policy. The facts show Monger and Henry had a policy of $5,000 containing said clause on which payment was refused after a fire because of alleged failure to comply with the iron safe agreement. Suit was entered and judgment obtained in the District court, which was reversed by the Third Appellate court, from which a writ of error was granted, but is now affirmed. The Appellate court reversed in favor of the insurance company on the ground that an inventory of stock had not been taken in twelve months as stipulated, and that a set of books had not been kept as required. The Supreme court finds it unnecessary to pass on the sufficiency of the inventory, but as to the other point its opinion is interesting, being in part as follows:

"Detailed cash strips made by plaintiff's cash register are in no sense in compliance with the requirement of the policy to keep a set of books, etc. Evidence showed conclusively that these strips constituted the only record kept by plaintiffs of cash sales made for about six months. We think a set of books means something more than loose memoranda like the strips which plaintiffs kept, and with such requirement to keep books we have no hesitation in holding that the cash strips kept by plaintiffs meet no such compliance in any sense whatever. There is undisputed evidence in this case showing there was no compliance or warranty to keep a set of books, and the trial court erred in refusing at the request of defendants to instruct the jury to return a verdict for defendants."

Messrs. Lohmeyer & Goshorn, general agents at Charleston, W. Va., have issued the following letter on letter paper bearing at its head the names of the Aachen and Munich, American of Boston, Dutchess, German Fire of Pittsburg, National of Ireland, and Rochester German: "Charleston on Kanawha, Feb. 19, 1904.—To Our Agents: We give herewith the list of winners in the contest for January: First, S. M. Smith, Bluefield National, $429.25; second, C. B. Outright, Clarksburg, American, $291.35, $15; third, Frubes & Clayton, Mannington, German (Ill.), $238.20, $10. This contest closes February business and there remains but ten days to get in line. To the agent that has produced the largest amount of business the last six months we will send $50; this in addition to the monthly distribution. For second largest amount $30, and for third, $20. We trust you will take advantage of the few days left in February to be in the winning class.

The loss on the plant of the E. W. Bliss company at Pearl, Plymouth, John, and Adams streets, Brooklyn, by fire on Jan. 22, has been adjusted for between $240,000 and $250,000 under general form insurance which aggregated $1,102,500. This does not include a loss of $37,500 on use and occupancy which was insured under separate policies. The adjustment is much heavier than early estimates led underwriters to expect, being some 22 per cent general form insurance. The loss to assured was considerably larger, as there was damage to patterns of about 80 per cent on sound value of nearly $200,000. This was covered with only $67,000, carrying the 80 per cent coinsurance clause, so here the loss in excess of insurance on this item is $100,000.

William Anderson of the New York board of fire underwriters is in Chicago this week attending the meetings of the executive committee to consider devices and materials of the National Fire Prevention association. A number of other underwriters are also attending, and the work in hand includes the preparation of reports of the annual meeting.

The annual meeting of the Insurance Clerks' Mutual Benefit association will be held Saturday in the rooms of the New York board of fire underwriters. On the following Saturday the election of four directors will be held and the following regular nominations have been made to fill vacancies: Harold Herrick, William H. Seward, J. G. Hilliard, and Edward Rowell. During the last year the association made a gain of eighty-four members.

Fire on March 5 on the sixth floor of the fireproof building, 65 to 69 Bleecker street, caused a moderate loss on that floor. The fire department on arrival coupled with the connection supplying the perforated pipe system in the basement instead of a standpipe. The law requires that such pipes shall have a plate above them so specifying. The fire department did not discover its error until a large amount of water had been pumped into the basement. This caused damage to the stock of plushes, robes, etc., of S. Strook & Co., estimated at $10,000, or 33 1-3 per cent to the insurance covering the basement. Underwriters are now anxious to learn how such an error occurred if all the requirements were complied with.

WILL SEE WORLD'S FAIR RISKS.

Insurance Men Are Invited to Inspect the Conditions Existing at the St. Louis Exposition.

Invitations have been sent to the officers and managers of the fire insurance companies doing business in St. Louis to be the guests of the world's fair management on March 22. The object is to afford the underwriters an opportunity to inspect the world's fair buildings and its facilities for fire protection. Apprehension has been felt as to the ability of the exposition management to cope with fire, and several companies have been conservative as to taking risks. Tests will be made as to speed and efficiency under Chief Henley of the fire prevention bureau. Experiments will be made with burlap and bunting chemically treated and with material not fire proofed. The fair now is carrying $3,000,000 insurance. When all the exhibits are in $15,000,000 will be required. The fine arts building is being equipped with sprinklers, as well as the towers of other buildings. The insurance committee to assist in the entertainment consists of George T. Cram, George D. Markham, and F. D. Hirschberg.

George W. Riggs, president and general manager of the Mutual Life of Illinois, will present his resignation to the new trustees at their meeting tomorrow. He was the organizer of the company and has been at its head since it began operations in 1902. The trustees have not decided whom they will engage as the underwriter. A few days ago, W. Percy Crenshaw, vice president and superintendent of agencies, resigned. It is understood La Verne W. Noyes will be president and D. R. Forgan chairman of the finance committee.

Wile, Loeb & Gutman have been appointed sole correspondents of the India Mutual Fire for surplus lines in Chicago. It writes a stock policy.

Fire caused some damage in the Lakeside building yesterday. An inspector from the Chicago Underwriters' association was investigating a photograph establishment, and when he lighted a match fire flashed through the concern, burning the contents and spreading to adjoining rooms.

James F. Oates, who resigns as secretary of the central department of the Young Men's Christian association to take charge of the new office of the Northwestern Mutual Life, will be under the jurisdiction of Kimball & Norton, Illinois managers.

C. A. Munns, cashier of the western department of the Pennsylvania Fire, is appointed special agent of the company for northern Illinois.

The loss on the stock of the Western Salvage Wrecking company will be total and on machinery and fixtures about 80 per cent. Leopold Gans, the assistant manager, arrived here yesterday from New York to take charge of operations. The company had several damaged stocks on hand and several carloads of similar goods have arrived to be handled. Mr. Gans announces that within forty-eight hours the company will open temporary quarters and be ready for business.

Surveying Rock Island Extension.

Springfield, Ill., March 9.—The surveying corps of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad company are at work on a line running west of Norton, Ill., through Woodson and angling southeast of Jackson, Ill., thence through Markham to Beardstown. The survey, as originally made, was from Burlington, Ia., through Macomb and Rushville to Beardstown. It is now believed that the road will not touch Jacksonville.

GOOD RALLY IN WHEAT PRICES.

Big Longs Sell Heavily—Oats and Provisions Suffer with Corn.

There was a quick change in pit sentiment in wheat yesterday from practical unanimity on the bear side to a well defined preponderance of belief in higher prices for the present. The change seemed largely sentimental, news being but slightly more bullish than yesterday, and the more bullish animus only evolved after May had come dangerously near the 90c mark at 90⅜c, and July was off correspondingly. At the low price the May was 18¼c under the high point on the war scare, and the July 11⅝c under, and after the selling fervor had abated somewhat near the extreme figures it became apparent that the market was bailed out more closely than was conducive to peace of mind among shorts. There was a quick turn to get wheat back, and with heavy buying by several influential houses to accelerate the recovery prices moved up steadily, the buying movement keeping up to the close, when prices were about at the top for the day—May ⅜c up, July, ⅝@¾c up, and September ⅝@½c over the Tuesday close.

At the opening wheat was strong and ⅝@¾c higher on the firm cables and the absence of rain in the southwest. Pit traders played the long side of the market for a turn. Corn, however, had a bad setback, and as a result at 92½c for May and 89⅞c for July the market met heavy selling by Pringle, Bartlett-Frazier, and the southwest, which speedily caused a general dumping of early purchases by scalpers. May dropped almost without a pause to 90⅝c, old July to 88⅝c, and new July to 87c. At these figures heavy buying by Wrenn began to be noted, and the pit crowd, quick to run in such a market, turned almost to a man.

Milling Demand Improves.

Wires from New York that Buffalo millers were after wheat there, claims from the northwest that milling demand was better, a message from Duluth that ten loads had been worked for export, and a goodly quota of damage reports from the dry wheat fields of Kansas added to the growing desire to buy, not only to cover short sales but to play for a rally after the long bear innings. May sold back to 92½c, closing there, and July reached 90c, dropping back ¼c at the close. The new July at the end was ⅜c under the old, against 1¼@1⅜c Tuesday. The fact that a good part of the trade expects a bullish government report on farm reserves tomorrow afternoon influenced some buying during the day.

The routine news differed little from that which has been coming all week. While soft winter wheat on the sample tables was weak and 2@3c lower, hard winter and spring were about steady, with more inquiry from millers. Broomhall cabled that the continent was inquiring for cargoes. The dry weather in Kansas was unbroken, and high winds and sand storms were reported as prevailing in parts of that state. However, the weather bureau predicted probable rains, and there was a low on the map moving down on the southwest. Liverpool was firm and unchanged to ¼d up. Paris was ¼c higher, Antwerp unchanged. Other continental markets were not so strong, Buda-Pesth 1¼c lower and Berlin ⅝c lower. English consols closed 3-16d higher. Receipts continue large, the primary points receiving 602,000 bu, against 350,000 bu a year ago, but some of the grain coming in is said to be on sales made at higher prices, and reports of light country sales, both southwest and northwest, were numerous. The northwest points got 400 cars, against 211 last year. The southwest received 144,000 bu, against 62,000 bu, but shipments from there were 233,000 bu. The seaboard reported export sales of only 96,000 bu, and the clearances for the day were only 62,000 bu. Local receipts were 23 cars, none of them contract, and 30 are estimated for today. Private elevators loaded out 2 cars of No. 1 northern.

Bad Break in Corn.

The recent tips that May corn was a "good thing," of which every one should have at least a little, went wrong shortly after the opening in the most surprising and precipitate fashion. There was at the start more or less local anxiety to buy any and all futures, and there was an initial advance of ¼c to ½c, although the events of the next half hour made the early buyers feel foolish. There was a break from the top price of 54¼c for May of 3⅛c, down to 50⅝c, and while there was some recovery on profit taking by shorts and buying by brokers who occasionally act for Armour, the close at 51½c showed a net loss of 2⅛c for the day.

The other deliveries were strong only by comparison, the July losing 1⅜c and the September 1½c. The selling seemed to be started by the big holders, houses which held long lines for eastern and Hot Springs speculators. There seemed to be some covering by local shorts just at the start, but Bartlett-Frazier, Harris, Pringle, Fitch-Rankin, Kneeland, Ware-Leland, started a selling movement which carried the price down rapidly and caught stop loss orders all the way. At 52c there was a little Armour buying and a rally of ½c, but this support was not continued, and the market quickly broke 2c more. On the decline there was buying by Kidston and other brokers who had sold early. Cash corn was not as weak as the futures, the good grades about ½c to 1c lower, but the no grade corn 1c higher. There were 112 cars in, with 180 estimated for today. The primary movement was light, receipts 345,000 bu, compared with 698,000 bu last year. There was not much shipping business done on the break, eastern buyers withdrawing their bids as a rule. There were sales of 25,000 bu, and the seaboard reported 160,000 bu taken for export. Clearances were 146,000 bu. Liverpool was ¼d higher for futures and unchanged for spot.

Oats Sold by Patten.

Oats sympathized with corn weakness rather than with the wheat strength, making net declines of ⅝c to 1⅜c. The greatest weakness was in the May, which, after selling at 42c early, dropped to 40¼c, and closed at 40⅝c. There was heavy selling by nearly all the Patten houses and brokers, and the pit adopted the theory that the recent May holder was putting out a short line. The manufacture of standard oats on a liberal scale, which led to the liquidation of that line, still keeps up. There were 41 cars and 51,000 bu out of private houses yesterday, about 130,000 bu in all, and 8 cars in the receipts of 185 cars. There was scattered commission buying on the way down, on resting orders. Cash prices held firm early, in face of the weak tone of futures, but yielded at the close, off ½c to 1½c. There were sales of 10,000 bu standard oats at ⅝c under May in store, and of 30,000 bu white clipped oats. Clearances were 14,000 bu.

Some Loss in Provisions.

Provisions began the day with higher prices the rule, scattered shorts covering on the higher hogs, but with the weak turn in grains there was further bailing out of small holders and a drop of 7½@22½c, and but moderate recovery thereafter. The close was 10c off for pork and 2½c off for lard and ribs. There was a little selling by packers, but the bulk of the offerings came from the big private wire houses. Scalpers who had sales to cover or who were figuring on a reaction absorbed the scattered lines which came on the market. Logan-Bryan and Bartlett-Frazier sold product freely, especially pork. Wells sold pork and bought ribs. Receipts at the yards were 23,000 head, and 27,000 are expected today. Prices were 10c higher. The quality of the receipts was reported to be better. Shipments of meats were 3,647,000 lbs, about double last year's, but lard outgo, at 1,033,000 lbs, fell 100,000 lbs under a year ago. The western points received 57,100 hogs, against 58,100 last year.

Rye Loses Three Cents.

Rye sold off 3c early with other grains and failed to recover later. May sold only at 68½c, closing sellers, and July was offered at 67½c. A choice car of No. 2 sold at 70c f. o. b., and a fair car at 68½c, to go to store. Receipts were 6 cars and shipments 11,703 bu.

Barley sales were made at a decline of 1@2c from Tuesday. Feed sales were mostly at 38c, only an occasional lot bringing more, and screenings ranged from 32@41c. Malting sold from 38@54c, and fancy would bring about 59c. Receipts were 46 cars and 26,965 bu were shipped.

Flaxseed was steady, with trade dull. No. 1 northwestern sold at $1.14 and No. 1 was $1.08 bid. May bids were at $1.10. Receipts were 3 cars here, 24 at Minneapolis, and 51 at Duluth.

Timothy seed was firm and 2½@5c higher for the better grades. Sales of country lots ranged from $2.40@3.15, according to quality. March was quoted at $3.10 and May at $3.17½.

Clover seed ruled steady and dull. March was nominally $11.65, and country lots were salable from $9.50@11.50.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

There were hints yesterday that Kauffman of St. Louis, to whom some have traced selling here for several days, was a free early seller, both here and at St. Louis. On the early break there was considerable selling by southwestern houses, and some thought this was an effort to raid the market. There is a big scattered short interest in wheat which might be started to cover by some change in the market's course, but as yet there has been no cause for uneasiness among that element until yesterday. Although the upturn was sharp and came without much warning, it remains to be seen whether the change of front was more than ephemeral, and whether more material help than results from a possible crop scare and light stocks will be needed.

As some of the water has been dired out of the low grade corn, which is coming in better condition, it was probably in order to have some of the water squeezed out of the futures. The break came in the nature of a surprise to the local trade generally, who have been regaled with mysterious pointers to the effect something was doing in the May and that a sensational upturn might be booked. The change was sensational enough, but it was on the down grade. It is evident some rich operators are scalping the market through a group of commission houses, and, as the general outside trade is light, responses to their initiative are sometimes quick and startling.

No definite conclusion was reached yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the clearing house committee to consider the Hosford system of clearing as modified by Manager Powell of the clearing house. It is understood, however, that the committee and the membership generally favor a change. Two points in the new system which are received with favor are the elimination of those who are neither long nor short, but involved in trades which will not settle and the barrier against reckless trading and "corners" imposed by the proposed change in margin calls.

Arrangements have been made by which J. F. Harris and S. C. Scotten will take over the Richardson business on March 21. The business will probably be operated under two heads, and all the Richardsons, it is said, except Erskine Richardson, will go out. A line of elevators here, at Kansas City, at Gainsville, and at Galveston will be taken over, these being Santa Fé elevators. There also are country houses in Illinois, Missouri, and Kansas which will go over to the Harris control.

The corn quality is showing steady improvement. Of 112 cars inspected in there were 9 grading No. 2, 35 grading No. 3, 41 grading No. 4, and only 27, or less than 25 per cent, passing "no grade." The arrivals of the poorer corn are so light the price advanced 1c in spite of the speculative weakness. Good corn sold lower, ½c to 1c lower generally, with No. 3 yellow off 2c.

"We are preparing to feed the world, or a large part of it, in Canada," said Edward Ryan of Winnipeg, who was on the floor yesterday. "New lands are being opened up, a large increase in the wheat acreage is looked for this year as a result of the high prices as well as the natural development of the country by the flood of immigration. American grain men are building line houses all over the country, and terminal elevators at Winnipeg, preparing to handle a big crop."

A St. Louis message to Bennett quotes an official of the Mississippi River Transportation company to the effect that for the first time in years the large line has no charters for wheat for spring shipment, although low rates are offered. It may not be true that millers are boycotting the big stock of No. 2 red winter wheat at St. Louis, but they do not seem to be drawing on it rapidly.

Walter Fitch said yesterday: "Most of the arrivals of oats at present are on sales made by country elevator people on the high prices. One western elevator alone had 45 cars in today's receipts. The outlook is for smaller receipts as soon as the shipments on old sales are cleaned up."

Winnipeg receipts of wheat continue to show larger than last year, 114 cars yesterday to 83 a year ago. The movement during the winter was kept down by the unusual severity of the weather, and is likely to be more liberal during the spring on that account.

The market nearest to the southwestern wheat fields still shows the least disturbance over the claims of damage by the long drought and the predictions of a short yield. Kansas City closed a shade lower than on Tuesday.

May wheat in this market has a more or less neglected appearance, at times acting decidedly weak, and at one time during the session only 2c over the old July, although it closed 2⅜c over. It has dropped from a premium of about 10c.

Duluth reported sales of 80,000 bu wheat for spring shipment for export, and half the stocks there are reported sold to go out when navigation opens.

PRODUCE PRICES RULE STEADY.

There were few price changes on South Water street yesterday, a drop of 5@7½c in beans being the only important difference in quotations in all the markets. Demand for beans has fallen off with the mild weather, causing the weakness. While early offerings of green vegetables were small there was a good run in later, and some had to be carried over, as demand was only moderate. Strawberries continue to meet favor among buyers at 20@40c a quart.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Cattle Open Strong, but Lose Advance—Hogs Are Higher and Sheep Values Steady.

Moderate receipts of live stock arrived at the yards for Wednesday, market cattle running nearly 17,000, hogs 20,000, and sheep around 23,000. Cattle opened strong to 10c higher, but closed with the advance lost. The bulk of the hogs sold 10c higher, and sheep averaged steady. The principal support of the cattle and hog markets during the early hours of the day was supplied by the liberal eastern shipping demand, the packers and dressed beef men failing to support the advance, and closing the market steady with Monday.

Following is a statement of the movement of live stock at the Chicago stockyards for the period indicated, with comparative figures:

Cattle.

The shippers and exporters having good orders the market for cattle opened early and strong to 10c higher on all choice steers which would fit these demands. A fair business was done at the early strength, but the local trade would not follow the pace set by eastern buyers and forced prices later in the day fully back to the Monday level on all cattle selling below $4.75. Strictly prime finished steers were scarce, and sold at firm prices all day. One lot of good Angus and Shorthorn weighing slightly less than 1,400 pounds topped the market for the day and week at $6.00. Many good, thick, fat beeves sold at $5.40 to $5.65, but the bulk of all cattle went between $4.25 and $5.00. The market for butcher stock opened steady to 10c higher, but later ruled dull and not better than steady. Strong weight feeding steers were in active demand at fully firm prices, but there was not much call for light stock steers. Quotations:

Good to prime steers	$5.70@6.00
Poor to medium	3.75@5.00
Stockers and feeders	2.50@4.25
Cows	1.85@4.25

Calves	3.00@6.50

Hogs.

There was a lively demand from the shipping trade for good light and medium weight hogs. These sold fully 10c higher than on Tuesday and show an advance of 35c to 40c since a week ago. In the better grades of heavier weights the market also was 10c higher during the early part of the day, but the packers would not take hold of heavyweights of the common and fair quality at the advance. Prime heavy butchers sold up to $5.82½, which is a new record mark for the year. Good mediums, suitable for the butcher trade, sold up to $5.80 and the bulk of the mixed and packing grades at $5.45 to $5.70, with big strings of light 150 to 180 lbs averages at $5.50 to $5.60. The closing market was steady on the light and medium weights, but 10c lower than the best time of the day on all hogs of big weight. Quotations:

Mixed and butchers'	$5.40@5.82½
Good to choice heavy	5.65@5.82½
Rough heavy	5.35@5.60
Light	4.85@5.60
Bulk of sales	5.35@5.65

Sheep.

There was good demand for fat sheep and prices held full steady to firm, but offerings were lacking in quality and fat ruled slow and weak. All choice grades of lambs were quotably steady, but with nearly 80 per cent of the total receipts lambs of not better than medium quality. The market outside of choice grades showed weakness throughout the day. One sale at the end of the day was that of a band of 600 Minnesota fed western yearlings which went for export at $5.25. FALL IN CORN PRODUCTS.

PREFERRED LOSES FOUR POINTS DURING THE DAY.

Heavy Expenditures Out of Earnings, Rumors of Discord, and Competition Disturb Outside Shareholders—International Salt Makes No Financial Statement—Chicago and Milwaukee Electric February Earnings—International Silver—Financial Notes.

Corn Products preferred dropped yesterday to 65 and started a number of new rumors. The shares sold Tuesday at 69, so that yesterday's quotations made a decline of 4 points.

The chief reason for the late decline in the stock is the fact of earnings. The Chicago plant has not been able to operate at full capacity, owing to the explosion which wrecked a portion of it. At the same time its reconstruction has caused a large expenditure out of earnings. Other improvements made to plants have caused large outlays, and these come out of earnings in the face of a business year not so good as the previous one.

The retirement of S. T. Butler has started another crop of rumors bearing on dissensions in the company. Relations have not been harmonious with the New York Glucose company, but the latter has nothing whatever to say in the management of the Corn Products company.

Yesterday there were rumors of a reorganization of the Corn Products and suggestions of ill health and an overworked state of nerves on the part of President Matthiessen. It may be doubted whether Mr. Matthiessen needs a rest in Europe on account of unstrung nerves. A casual glance at his physical proportions and some knowledge of his methods of business and life will not bear out the suggestion of frailty in any particular. Temperate in all things and devoted to home life, and with a constitution of great strength, there is no room for a feeling of anxiety over the health of the president of the Corn Products company. Living twenty-five miles up the Hudson, he goes to and from business during the summer months in a steam yacht, which affords both recreation and comfort.

As to competition, there is a considerable amount, principally that of the Warner plant at Waukegan. That plant, however, is now out of operation, though presumably it will be opened as soon as it can be repaired. There is another rather large concern which also has to be looked after. But President Matthiessen has told some of his friends that the starch and karo syrup business would pay the dividend on the preferred stock of the Corn Products company.

International Salt.

At the annual meeting of the International Salt company no figures of operation were given. The International Salt assets consist largely of investments in the stock and bonds of the National Salt company, the Retsof Mining company, and the International Salt Company of Illinois. The National Salt company is in the hands of receivers and involved in litigation. It owes the International company $277,784. But not until the property is sold will the International company be able to realize on this account.

With the exception of a dividend on the stock of the International Salt Company of Illinois, nothing was received in 1903 upon the stocks owned by the International company.

It was decided to carry $25,000 to surplus account, bringing that item up to $300,000. Undivided profits are now $27,000, making the book value of the stock 165, after payment of the dividend.

General Financial News.

The Seaboard Air Line has filed in Jacksonville, Fla., an indenture securing the $5,000,000 collateral trust 5 per cent bonds due March 1, 1907, and running to the Continental Trust company of New York.

The New York subtreasury lost $114,000 to the banks on Tuesday. Since last Friday it has gained $1,888,000. It was a debtor at the clearing house yesterday morning to the extent of $1,000,082.

Official announcement is made that under the agreement of Oct. 1, 1895, the Morton Trust company of New York holds for distribution to the holders of the stamped stock of the Forth Worth and Denver City railway an amount equivalent to $4 on each share of this stock. The distribution will be made on April 1 to stock of record March 18.

It is announced in Philadelphia that the effort made to connect the visit made there yesterday of Mr. Speyer with the affairs of the Consolidated Lake Superior company was not well founded. Mr. Speyer's visit there had nothing to do with the company's reorganization plans.

American Locomotive officials announce that in connection with the purchase of the Locomotive and Machine Company (Ltd.) of Montreal, the company will issue $1,500,000 4 per cent bonds. The American Locomotive company will purchase $1,000,000 of these bonds at par, acquiring with them the entire stock of the Canadian company. The stockholders of the latter company will retain $500,000 of bonds issued by that company.

Chicago Stocks.

In the local stock market the Biscuit common was the most active, the price advancing to 43-½c. The buying is based on nothing more than the general position of the company.

Union Traction preferred was bid up in New York, and a few shares were sold in Chicago. It may be noted that West Chicago sells at 45, being a prior lien on the free assets of the company, while Union Traction preferred, which not only has no visible assets and is $4,500,000 in debt, sells but 15 points lower.

The Boxboard issues were moderately active. There is no reason to expect any movement in the stock engineered by insiders for a number of months to come.

A Vital Difference.

The last annual report of the Greene Consolidated Copper Company states that the cost to the company of producing copper is ten and one-eighth cents a pound. The Greene Consolidated is one of the six largest copper producers in the world, and its facilities are such that it probably produces its copper as cheap as it can be produced anywhere outside of the Verde Copper Belt.

In the trial of a lawsuit in one of the courts of New York City a few years ago it was proved by the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of witnesses that the cost of producing copper on the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, was only three and a half cents a pound.

THE GEORGE A. TREADWELL MINING COMPANY has far the most extensive property of any company operating on the Verde Copper Belt—Several times as extensive as that of the United Verde, and the latest developments prove it to be just as rich.

It can produce at a handsome profit with copper selling at a price that will lose money for any company operating off the Verde Copper Belt.

It has already built and started its Hydrocarbon furnace—the latest development of the smelting art—and is at the producing and self-supporting stage of its evolution. A little more stock is being sold to increase its equipment and smelting capacity, and the company will then be ready to take its place high on the list of the world's great copper producers and dividend payers.

Prices will be quoted on application.

PROF. C. J. ROMAINE'S
extraordinary clairvoyant powers, combined with his superior knowledge of occult forces, enable him to read human life with unerring accuracy from infancy to old age. His powers are indisputable, his advice is reliable, his information clear, concise, and to the point in love, courtship, marriage, divorce suits, wills, patents, journeys, pensions, investments, speculation, property, insurance, mortgages, etc.
WITHOUT ASKING A QUESTION.
without any previous knowledge, and having no natural means of knowing who you are, whence or for what you came, he tells your name, age, occupation, where you live, the number of your house, and the street you live on. He tells you names of your friends and enemies, who is true and who is false. Tells whom and when you will marry, giving names, dates, facts, and localities, taking no fee in advance, accepting none unless satisfaction is given.
SPECULATION AND INVESTMENT.
His advice is much sought for by those contemplating investing and speculating. The dollar properly invested today has seldom failed to make the poor man rich.
WHEN AND WHERE OTHERS FAIL.
I never fail to teach how to fascinate any one you desire, how to make your enemies your friends, cause a speedy marriage with the one of your choice, give you good luck, remove evil influences, reunite the separated, give lucky numbers, locate the earth's buried treasures, settle the old estates that time has placed beyond the lawyer's shrewdness, make you successful in your business, and positively complete your business in 29 days.

CHARGE A STRIKE TO SOCIALISTS.

Officials of Painters' Union Say Walkout Is Ill-Advised and Untimely.

COMES IN DULL SEASON.

Declare That More than One-Half Men Would Prefer Remaining at Work.

The influence of socialists in the ranks of the union painters is the principal cause of the present strike, according to officials of the organization. After the master painters agreed at their meeting Tuesday night to refuse the demands of the employés, a general strike was ordered yesterday, calling out every union painter and decorator in the city, and 2,500 quit work. The reason for the complaint by the officials is that the strike was called at a time when there practically is no work for the painters to do.

"More than one-half of the men would be willing to continue at their present wages," said an official of the union. "All of them would be in favor of waiting for a walkout until work is rushing and the contractors could not get men to fill the vacant places. On account of the predominance of socialists in the management of our affairs, this strike has been brought upon us, against the better judgment of many of our members."

Many Men Out of Work.

Nearly half of the union painters in the city have been idle during the last few weeks, because of the wet weather and the scarcity of work. Part of the remaining half quit work last Monday, expecting a lockout. This did not come, and the union then framed demands, copies of which were submitted to individual contractors by the men in their employ.

The strike order declared no union man must accept work unless he is paid 45 cents an hour.

Serve Notice on Brewers.

The Associated Building Trades informed the Schoenhofen Brewing company that union steamfitters must be employed in the new cold storage plant in Seward street, near Eighteenth street.

The company has engaged men belonging to the United Association of Plumbers and Steamfitters, but the work of erecting the building has not yet begun. The demand intimates that unless regular union steamfitters are employed no union men in the other building trades will be allowed to work on the structure. The union wage scale calls for pay of 56¼ cents an hour. The men engaged, belonging to the rival organization, have agreed to work for less.

Brewery Strike Is Averted.

The troubles of the brewery workers, who have threatened a strike during the last few weeks, practically were settled last night. The Chicago and Milwaukee Brewers' association made concessions, which were ratified at a meeting of the unions, held at 120 West Lake street, and a committee was appointed to adjust the matter of hours, the only remaining difference. This will be adjusted tomorrow.

The demands of the brewery workers for a minimum wage scale of $18 a week was granted by the association. The laborers asked for an advance in the scale which would give them a minimum of $14 a week and a reduction in the length of the working day from ten hours to nine. The concession allows a minimum of $13 a week, and the reduction in time was refused.

Charge Against Union Leader.

Charges were made by an official of the Chicago Team Owners' association against John C. Driscoll of the Truck Drivers' union to the effect that he is trying to bring about a strike in order that he may settle it. The scale agreement will expire the first of the month, and it is alleged that Driscoll, knowing that it cannot be granted, will demand an increase in the drivers' pay.

A member of the association said the delivery of all the large merchants is done by the contractors, who are paid a scale with a minimum of $20 a week for single teams. Out of this amount $4 is allowed for the keeping of the horse, and the driver is paid $11.

It is alleged that when the strike danger threatens Driscoll will step in, arrange a settlement, and claim the credit.

Fail to End Aurora Lockout.

Although the leaders of the girls' strike in the plant of the Chicago Corset company at Aurora spent yesterday in trying to reach an agreement with the officials of the company to end the lockout, which has existed since last November, no settlement was reached.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

Notes of Music and Drama.

In Music hall last evening Ferruccio Busoni gave the first of two piano recitals that he is to give here, the second being set down for Sunday afternoon. We live in a day when remarkable piano playing is common piano playing, but Mr. Busoni achieved the truly exceptional. Detailed comment is deferred.

It was announced last evening that Blanche Bates will a week from next Wednesday afternoon at the Grand opera house present for the first time here "Mme. Butterfly," the Belasco and Long play, which had a six months' run in New York when brought out there a few seasons ago. Miss Bates will have the assistance of Albert Bruning, Rankin Duval, and E. J. Wilkes of the original cast, and Harrison Armstrong and Miss Ada Lewis. "Mme. Butterfly" will be preceded by "My Aunt's Advice," a "one acter" dramatized by Miss Bates from a sketch. This double bill will be presented at every matinée after March 23, and during the last week of the engagement of "The Darling of the Gods"—the week of April 4—Miss Bates will give special matinée performances of "Hedda Gabler" and "The Lady from the Sea" of Ibsen.

The all-star cast of "Erminie" now at the Garrick is threatened with partial if not complete disintegration. It is understood all the members of the company, from Mr. Wilson down, are dissatisfied with the manner in which the tour has been booked, the understanding having been that after four months in New York only long engagements in the larger cities were to be played. Instead of this, the stay in Gotham was brief, and one night stands have been had with considerable frequency. Madge Lessing is the first to go. She will leave the company a week from Saturday night in Davenport, Ia., and will be replaced by either Christie MacDonald or Irene Bentley. Miss Lessing will go to London and appear there next autumn in "The Earl's Ward" at the new Coliseum theater.

Miss Shaw will present "Ghosts" at the Garrick this afternoon for the first time during her present engagement. Miss Virginia Kline, who played the rôle of Regina so successfully here last June, has joined the company and will be seen in the same part.

W. L. HUBBARD.

BANDITS' TRIAL ENDS TODAY.

Jury Will Have Chance to Decide the Fate of Neidermeier, Van Dine, and Marx.

After consuming nearly nine weeks and costing the state $60,000, the case of Peter Neidermeier, Harvey Van Dine, and Gustave Marx, the car barn bandits, will go to the jury this afternoon.

Assistant State's Attorney Harry Olson will begin the closing arguments at 10 o'clock this morning. He said last night he would not talk more than two or three hours, expecting to depend mainly on the evidence.

Attorney George M. Popham, representing Marx, talked yesterday with scarcely an intermission, from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m.

NEW POST FOR MR. COOLEY

MAY BECOME HEAD OF UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS.

Name of Superintendent of Schools Is Presented to Trustees as Successor to President Andrew S. Draper—Salary Is Less than His Present Position—No Other Persons Are Mentioned in Connection with the Office—Acceptance Is Probable.

Superintendent of Schools Edwin G. Cooley probably will be the next president of the University of Illinois. He has been prominently mentioned as the logical successor of Dr. Andrew S. Draper since it became known that the New York legislature had provided a place for the latter, and yesterday his name was officially presented to the board by two trustees.

The names of Mr. Cooley's nominators have not been made public, although they are believed to have been County Superintendent A. F. Nightingale and the state superintendent of public instruction, Alfred Bayliss. The board will, it is said, within a week, elect Dr. Draper's successor, and, so far as is known in educational circles, Mr. Cooley's name is the only one which has been yet proposed.

Regard Acceptance as Probable.

When informed yesterday that the board of trustees was considering his name for the presidency of the state university, Supt. Cooley declared that he could make no definite statement until he had received official information. He admitted, however, that the possibility of his election as successor to Dr. Draper had been mentioned to him several weeks ago. Whether he will accept, should the post be tendered him, he declined to say, although it generally is believed that he wants the post.

The salary paid to the president of the state university is less than that now received by Supt. Cooley, but it generally is felt that the difference in compensation would not influence him should he decide that the Urbana field of labor would be congenial to his tastes and ambitions.

First Mentioned at Atlanta.

"Supt. Cooley would make an admirable university president," said an educator yesterday. "He combines learning with executive and sound business ability. Whether he will care to leave the field of public school education is a matter for him to decide.

"At Atlanta, during the convention of the department of superintendence of the National Educational association, it became known that Dr. Draper proposed to resign from the presidency of the state university and to become commissioner of education of New York State. Almost instantly Supt. Cooley's name was mentioned as his probable successor."

Holds Office in Organization.

Last December Supt. Cooley was elected president of the Illinois Teachers' association without opposition, and last month he was made president of the department of superintendence of the National Educational association. His election to the presidency of the latter organization by the St. Louis convention is predicted.

Draper's Resignation Is Given.

Urbana, Ill., March 9.—President Draper of the University of Illinois today delivered his formal resignation, to take effect on April 1. His duties as commissioner of education of New York begin on that date. The board of trustees accepted the resignation and passed resolutions of appreciation of his work.

Dr. Draper Formally Elected.

Albany, N. Y., March 9.—Dr. Andrew S. Draper, president of the University of Illinois, today was formally elected commissioner of education by the legislature, ratifying the action of the republican caucus last night. The term is for six years.

MUST SHOW SECRET GAIN.

ROCK ISLAND'S REORGANIZERS ORDERED TO GIVE PROFITS.

Judge Dunne Decrees That Minority Stockholders Be Allowed to Examine Books to Determine How Moore-Leeds Interests Manipulated Refinancing of System—Fraud Charge Is Made and Venner Seeks to Set Aside Transaction—Appeal to Be Made.

The Moore-Leeds interests in the Rock Island system will be compelled to show Clarence H. Venner and all other minority stockholders what profits they made out of the old company in its reorganization several months ago.

Judge Dunne yesterday decided that the plaintiffs should be permitted to examine books and records of the roads in the Rock Island system and the minutes of the meeting in which the Moore interests secured control of the railroads. His order is directed to the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad company of Iowa, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway company of New Jersey, the Central Trust company of New York, and the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad company.

Fraud Charges Are Made.

During two months the fight of Venner and other minority stockholders has occupied the attention of the Circuit court. It is averred by Mr. Venner that the books and records were manipulated by the Moore interests so as to deprive minority stockholders of their dues. Startling developments, it is believed, will result from an examination.

Determined efforts will be made by the Moore interests to secure revocation of the decision by Judge Dunne. Their attorneys, John J. Herrick and John S. Miller, at once gave notice they would carry the case to the Appellate court.

James Hamilton Lewis, counsel for the Venner interests, said:

"The suit originally was brought by Venner to force the company to put the books and papers of the new Rock Island deal at the service of the minority stockholders, who were not brought into the scheme by which the system was put in control of the Moore syndicate. The decision is upon only part of the case. Venner's suit aims to set aside the whole reorganization of the road and to declare the stock and bonds void because of alleged general fraud in the deal."

Fix Rates to Exposition.

St. Louis exposition rates were considered during the day by the Transcontinental Passenger association, meeting in Chicago. A round trip rate of $67.50 was made from Pacific coast points via lines direct to St. Louis, with a rate of $72.50 to Chicago via the same lines. A rate of $75 was made from Pacific coast points to St. Louis via Chicago, to satisfy the Northwestern and other roads which have no lines to St. Louis.

Notes of Traffic Affairs.

Sugar rates from New York to the Missouri river, by way of the Mallory line and Galveston, yesterday were dropped another 5 cents a 100 pounds. The new rate is 28 cents, a reduction of 13 cents since the fight began. The present standard all rail rate from New York via Chicago or St. Louis to the Missouri river is 40 cents. A meeting of traffic officials will be held here today to make an effort to end the sugar rate war.

S. O. Brooks, general freight agent of the Chicago Great Western railroad, has been appointed freight traffic manager of the Père Marquette railroad system, with headquarters in Chicago.

Directors of the Pennsylvania railroad company yesterday appropriated from $18,000,000 to $20,000,000 for improvements this year.

WILL SPEND $20,000,000 IN 1904

Philadelphia, Pa., March 9.—The board of directors of the Pennsylvania railroad company today appropriated between $18,000,000 and $20,000,000 for carrying on the work of improvements this year. Of this sum $5,000,000 will be spent on new work, including the improving and enlarging of the track facilities in and about Broad street station, this city, and $13,500,000 will be spent upon work as laid out in the annual report.

Members of the Norwegian Lutheran Tabitha Hospital society yesterday demanded that President Mary A. Olson and Mrs. Valburg Sogn, a director, be ousted from their offices under proceedings by the state's attorney. It is charged that they secured their places by means not in accordance with the constitution.

The protesting delegation was composed of Capt. John Anderson, C. E. Fay, G. Isaacson, and H. Rommen. They represented 100 members of the hospital society, and their attorney, S. J. Howe, demanded that quo warranto proceedings be begun. Attorney Waage appeared before Assistant State's Attorney Barnes and denied all the charges of the opposition. The session continued for several hours.

After the conference Mr. Barnes said he would take the matter under advisement.

The troubl began immediately after the election in January, and the society has been split into factions. It owns the institution at Francisco and Thomas streets.
